i am quite concerned about the availability of accomadation in regional areas especially in nth queensland &western australia ;especially in the mining areas .mackay which is a mining area you have to be a millionaire to live there leaving no way for normal working people&pensioners i dont know what can be done about this situation but something has to be done even grey nomads can not get accomadation &they have there own caravan .the mining companies have to provide there own accomadation;they have the money to do it &not penalise everyone else'where there is mines the cost of living goes up' not everyone works in the mining industry' same old story rich get richer poor get poorer shirleyhogan
