

To whom it may concern

It beggers belief that yet again in this country we put laws in place that ultimately punish the whistleblowers and aid the perpetrators.

Basic common sense will tell you nobody can build a case against such horrid practices if any evidence gathered must be turned over in 24 hours.

We need more programs like that aired by Four Corners to stop the disgusting practices that some human beings carry out, not more laws to help them get away with it.

Kind regards
