President's Report for the Year 2010 - 2011

It is with some pleasure that we can report upon steady consolidation and growth in both deposits and loans observed by our current members and an even greater increase in profitability and in capital. This is all the more pleasing given the difficult times endured by all in the finance sector in recent times, and in particular the lack of the guarantee by the federal government which our companies have never historically needed but which put them at an unfair advantage due to it's benefit to other institutions.

This growth I believe points to the strength of our product and the close and loyal relationships that our members have built up with their customers and their regional marketplaces. Nevertheless we cannot rest upon our laurels and not seek to develop our marketplaces and products, within the overall requirement of prudence and due diligence, and within our competence. In this regard I commend the work of our future directions committee which will I believe look at various initiatives in this regard.

We have just emerged from a protracted process of revision of our self-imposed code of conduct. I believe that we will be better for it; the sub committee charged with this work are to be commended along with those members who also contributed. In particular I would like to thank Glenn Sanford who compiled the guidance document for the recent meeting at which the matter was resolved, and who so capably led us through the same to the ultimate result. May I however offer a word of caution about keeping it up to date in the light of changes in the marketplace and above all the big picture and the vision bequeathed to us by our founders?

We are no longer purely Victorian based and are very pleased to see our newest member in NSW accepting deposits and making loans. This has also brought us into contact with members of Parliament from that state who offered great assistance in our dealings with Government and the regulators. Indeed we have continued to build good relations with A.S.I.C. and in this regard I would like to thank in particular Mr James Knott and Mr Warren Day for their assistance and their appreciation of our position in the marketplace. Those members who have given their time to travel to Canberra and other capital cities for consultations are to be thanked and in particular Jeff Herdegen for his part in facilitating the meetings. We have become more widely known within government circles having met with Treasury and a number of parliamentarians to discuss our issues.

This Annual Report has become a valuable document due to the efforts of Phil Cunningham and the marketing sub committee and I wish to commend them on this work. This capable group will no doubt be in the forefront as we continue to maintain and develop our position in the market place. With this Annual Report comes the Statistical report up to the 30th June 2010 as submitted by the current member companies which illustrates the matters raised above.

Finally I would like to express appreciation of our group of the work done during the year by our Secretary, Tony Ruvolo, our Treasurer, Hugh Macdonald, and the Chairman of our Manager's group, Bill Bahr. Indeed the efforts of each member of the Manager's group, which is the backbone of our organisation. Also to each of those members who have served on our various sub committees in an entirely voluntary capacity.

Finally I would like to thank the members for electing me as their Chairman after a break of some sixteen years since previously holding the office. Much has happened in that time but I have the same degree of confidence in the future as I correctly had at that time.

Neville Smith
Chairman

Profile

WHO ARE WE?

The Provincial Finance Group (Provic) is the industry body representing ten debenture issuing companies based in regional centres across Victoria and southern New South Wales. The activities of the Provic member companies extend into all areas of Australia. Provic members hold Australian Financial Services Licences and report to their appointed Trustee. The Provic member companies presently hold almost $725 million of investors' funds - and in excess of $550 million lent on the security of mortgage over freehold property and the balance predominantly in liquid funds.

WHY DO WE EXIST?

Provic originated in country towns and provincial cities in Victoria over 40 years ago in response to a demand from local communities for lending that was not being met by the city-centric mainstream banks. An investment in a Provic company was also seen as an opportunity to use local funds to grow and develop the communities themselves, through investment in local projects and businesses which in turn would add to the wealth of the region.

These reasons for existence still hold true today, for despite the proliferation of both bank and non-bank financial institutions over the years, few can claim their ownership and control is so locally based and their investment and lending so locally focused.

WHAT MAKES US DIFFERENT?

Provic members have a strong affinity with their investors and borrowers because of their local presence and local knowledge. The closeness of the relationship allows a level of trust and understanding to develop that used to be inherent in bank/customers relations, before ATM's, bank queues and fees became the norm.

Provic members do not for example charge their investment customers account fees and they welcome clients spending time in the branch rather than out on the street. The same staff member opening a new client's investment account will often be the one they'll see when they come to make a deposit or withdrawal, or wish to talk about their loan or even the weather!

WHAT CAN WE DO FOR YOU?

If you're an investor, Provic members provide a range of investment options from traditional "at call" accounts through to fixed term investments for terms up to 2 years. Interest rates are always very competitive with the market. On the lending side, the emphasis is on flexibility with loans secured by registered mortgage over freehold property. Options such as interest only and re-draw are available.

INTEGRITY

A Provic company is an unlisted public company which issues debentures to investors and lends those funds on the basis of a registered mortgage and a valuation. Investors' interests are governed via a number of external bodies. Each member operates under the terms of its Trust Deed. The Trustee holds a first ranking charge over each company on behalf of debenture holders and requires regular reporting as to the compliance to the deed of its lending and investing activities.

All members are licensed under the Corporations Law and hold an Australian Financial Services Licence. As a requirement to this members are required to join an external complaints scheme allowing for an impartial determination of any issues that may arise between the member company and its investors. Each member is required to display their licence and the scheme to which they belong.

PROVIC is a self regulatory body and to be a member certain conditions are to be adhered to and are often more onerous than those of the Trustee or licence. For example, the Provic regulations require defaults and arrears to be reported to Provic quarterly. Each member company deals with their arrears, if any, in an ongoing manner.

WHY WOULD YOU TURN TO US?

Provic companies are investment institutions who take a personal interest in their investors and borrowers.

They provide a unique opportunity for people to invest in their region and in regional people with flexibility and at attractive returns. Many people who work in the business also live in the community with their investors and borrowers

BORROW WITH CONFIDENCE

Provic companies have a loan product refined over time - you submit a loan application for approval, we'll assess the loan and, if successful, provide a loan with all the flexibility you need. A Provic mortgage loan may be for any worthwhile purpose including;

- Residential
- Commercial
- Industrial
- Farm
- Development/Construction
- Investment

STRENGTH, RELIABILITY & ACCOUNTABILITY

All Provic members operate in accordance with a Trust Deed and issue a Prospectus annually. The Trust Deeds provides us with the framework which determines our capacity to lend on mortgages over interests in land and also prescribe capital and liquidity ratios. Provic self regulates its members under a code of conduct which in some cases is more stringent than the Trust Deeds. Members are required to report quarterly to ASIC, the Trustees and the Provic Regulatory Committee.

The designated Trustees covering Provic members are;

- Trust Company of Australia Limited.
- Sandhurst Trustees Ltd.

The Association was formed on the 12th December 1977 to originally represent Solicitors' Mortgage Investment Companies (SMICs) in Victoria. Qualifications for membership was limited to companies holding a Dealers' Licence as a Solicitors' Mortgage Investment Company under the provisions of the then Securities Industry (Victoria) Code. The Association now represents debenture issuing companies who have Trust Deeds with Trustee companies.

PAST HISTORY AS TO LICENCES AND EXEMPTIONS

Prior to 1985 Provic members did not hold any licences under the Securities Industry (Victoria) Code as they argued they were not "making offers to the public". After the Dawson Inquiry in the mid 1970's negotiations occurred between the Association and the Law Institute of Victoria to bring the Companies within the provisions of the Legal Professional Practice Act 1958 and control by the Institute. Legislation to this effect was drafted, but never presented to Parliament.

In 1983 the then Attorney General, Mr Kennan Q.C., MLA, determined that Provic members would be brought under the control of the then Commissioner of Corporate Affairs and in February 1985 Dealers' Licences with conditions and exemptions were issued to the then original seven companies. These licences were issued after extensive discussion with and advice from Corporate Affairs and with the support and co-operation of the Law Institute, the Attorney General and our Association. The terms and conditions of the licenses were based on the historical operation of the Companies and conditions contained in licenses of other dealers, eg. Stockbrokers.

The Dealers' Licences were issued under section 48 of the Securities Industry (Victoria) code and exemptions were granted under section 215C of the Companies (Victoria) code and required the personal guarantees of all the directors in favour of the investors.

Codes of Practice

1. Capital Adequacy

Unless otherwise restricted by its Trust Deed, each member must maintain the following minimum level of capital adequacy, calculated by reference to a risk weighting of the total assets held in the member's balance sheet.

The various assets within a member's balance sheet are categorised into types according to Provic's perception of their quality and ability to be returned in full and on time. Each category has an assigned weighting – the lower the weighting, the higher the perceived quality of that asset type.

Asset Type	Risk Weighting
Assets in Category A of the Permitted Investments in Code 6	0%
Assets in Category B of the Permitted Investments in Code 6	25%
Assets in Category C of the Permitted Investments in Code 6	50%
Assets in Category D of the Permitted Investments in Code 6	75%
Assets in Category E of the Permitted Investments in Code 6	100%
All other Assets	100%

Each member must categorise their assets by type into the appropriate Category based on compliance with the requirements of each Category and then multiply each Asset Type by its Risk Weighting percentage in order to obtain a level of risk weighted assets.

The member must then fund its level of risk weighted assets by having sufficient capital in its balance sheet. The timeline for transition, and minimum capitals requirements, are as follows;

- (a) 3.0% by 30th June 2010
- (b) 3.5% by 30th June 2011
- (c) 4.0% by 30th June 2012
- (d) 5.0% by 30th June 2013
- (e) 6.0% by 30th June 2014
- (f) 7.0% by 30th June 2015
- (g) 8.0% by 30th June 2016

Notes:

1. Provic members shall report on their capital adequacy on a quarterly basis as part of their Quarterly Directors Report (Form 6).
2. In the event a member's capital is in breach of the minimum capital adequacy requirements, it must immediately report such breach in writing to the Provic Executive Committee. The member shall then have 90 days to rectify the breach.
3. Capital shall be defined as the member's net tangible assets (being total assets less any intangible assets such as goodwill, patents, trademarks and future income tax benefits), less total liabilities
4. The Asset Type described as "All other Assets" shall include any asset held in the member's balance sheet not within any of Categories A to E such as the member's office plant and equipment.

5. If the member Company has any wholly owned subsidiaries, the calculation shall be done on a consolidated basis, ie. inclusive of the assets and capital held by that wholly owned subsidiary, without double but only counting assets and liabilities that are available to be dealt with as assets and liabilities of the member Company in the event of its liquidation or being placed in receivership
6. The categorization of Asset Types and the Risk Weighting percentages utilized in this calculation is to be reviewed by Provic in July 2017 with the view of modifying the calculation and moving towards the risk weighting calculation determined by APRA for APRA regulated institutions.

2. Advertising

- 2.1 Any advertising by a member shall be responsible and shall not be misleading or deceptive or be of a nature which could in any way damage the reputation and public image of the Association.

3. Valuations

- 3.1 The Association accepts that in Victoria a capital improved value determined by a valuer on behalf of a municipality is a professional valuation.

4. Branches and Agencies

- 4.1 For the purposes of this Code an agent shall be deemed to be any person who provides deposit and withdrawal facilities for a member.
- 4.2 Each member shall maintain a register of agency arrangements which shall remain confidential to the member. The register shall be made available to the members' auditor upon request by the auditor and any failure to comply shall be reported by the auditor to the regulatory committee.

- 4.3 Each agent shall be a properly appointed authorised representative holding the appropriate authority issued by the member.
- 4.4 Each member should endeavour to have its fidelity insurance cover extended to all of its agents.
- 4.5 No agent of any member shall be entitled or empowered to approve loan applications.
- 4.6 Agents shall deposit funds to and withdraw funds from the member's bank account and no agent shall operate a separate bank account dealing in funds belonging to its principal member.
- 4.7 No member shall, without the consent of the executive, for a period of 12 months after the date of lodgement of the application establish a new office or appoint an agent in a town or city [other than Melbourne] where an entity has lodged an application for provisional membership of the Association.
- 4.8 Members shall ensure that all their agents fully and properly disclose in all dealings with the public that they are an agent or a branch of the member company and without limiting the generality of the foregoing, require all written communications by the agent to the public and all advertising promotional material relating to the agency, to state the name and address of the member company which is the principal and shall also state that the agent or branch is an agent of that principal.

4.9 This Code of Practice has no application to situations where an introduction fee/commission is paid by a member company in respect of deposits, as such a commercial arrangement is not considered to be an agency arrangement.

5. Lending Risk Reserve

5.1 Specific Provision.

A member must make a provision for a specific debt where it believes it will not recover all of its principal, interest and associated expenses. To do this, a member will need to have a basis for the calculation including the expected net realisable value of the loan security(ies), the timing of disposal of those security(ies) and the estimated shortfall at settlement.

5.2 Lending Risk Reserve (General Provision)

A member is not required to make a general provision for impairment (potential bad debts) in its balance sheet, however it is recommended that members maintain sufficient capital in excess of the minimum requirement under Clause 1. Capital Adequacy, to avoid any breach of the association's capital adequacy requirements should any loss be suffered.

7. Liquidity

Up to and including the 30th June 2011, each member must maintain liquid reserves (cash or cash equivalents) of:

- (a) not less than 12.5% of deposits or issued debentures if the total of the member's deposits or issued debentures is not more than $32 million dollars.
- (b) where the total of the deposits or issued debentures of the member is more than $32 million and less than $70 million; liquid reserves of 10% of deposits, subject to a minimum of $4 million.
- (c) where the total of the deposits or issued debentures of the member exceeds $70 million; then 7.5% of deposits subject to a minimum of $7 million.
- (d) or such greater percentage as is required by the member's Trust Deed.

From the 1st July 2011, each member must maintain liquid reserves (cash or cash equivalents) of not less than 10% of deposits or issued debentures, or such greater percentage as is required by the member's Trust Deed.

Notes:

- (a) In the event that a member breaches the minimum liquidity requirements, the member must report such breach in writing to the Provic Executive Committee. The member shall then have 90 days to rectify the breach.
- (b) An investment by a member with another Provic member shall be excluded from the investing member's liquidity calculation but be included in the receiving member's liquidity calculations.
- (c) Cash or cash equivalents are as defined in Australian Accounting Standard 107. Cash or cash equivalents are held for the purpose of meeting short-term cash commitments rather than for investment purposes. For an investment to qualify as Cash or cash equivalents it must be readily convertible to a known amount of cash and be subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. Therefore, an investment normally qualifies as a Cash or cash equivalents only when it has a short term maturity of no more than ninety (90) days from the date of acquisition.
- (d) Provic members shall report on their liquidity on a quarterly basis as part of their Quarterly Directors Report (Form 6).

8. Loans 90 days in Arrears

- 8.1 As part of the half yearly reporting by Provic members, each member company's auditor is to investigate any loan where an expected payment, whether of principal or interest, has not been received by the member within 90 days of the date on which the payment was due and to provide a report to the Directors of the member company and to the Executive Committee on any such loans that the auditor assesses as bearing a reasonable likelihood of a loss.

Notes:

This Code of Practice does not remove the obligation of the Member Company to disclose in its Prospectus, qualified as the member Company considers appropriate, any event known to the Member Company which a Debenture Holder or potential Debenture Holder might consider a material adverse event.

Policies

INVESTMENT OF RESERVES

Association's Recommended Position Percentage level of liquidity

The current minimum level of liquid reserves, which is set by the Provic Association, is as detailed in Code of Practice Rule 7. Some Trust Deeds do not have a restrictive covenant and the individual companies where this applies will need to follow Provic Code of Practice number 7.

Should the liquidity ratio rise in excess of 30 percent then lending should be increased which would enhance the company's profitability. However, lending for the sake of lending is not recommended. Quality of lending should not be sacrificed to reduce this ratio!

Should liquid reserves fall below that set by the Provic Association, as detailed in Code of Practice Rule 7, then lending must be stopped until the ratio is restored. The percentage level should also take into account the members known loan repayments and loans approved but not yet advanced. Those Provic members with restrictive covenants must advise their Trustee. Any member whose liquidity ratio falls below that set by the Provic Association for the amount of Debentures then issued by the Member must contact the Secretary of the Provic Regulatory Committee

Placement

It is recommended that a solid portfolio of Provic member reserves be placed with banks. The placement can be in any form of at call, 11am call, and 7-day call deposit account. In terms of the Trustee Companies Act 1984 section 41(2)(f) any deposit (or term deposit) up to 200 days is considered to be in liquid funds. Provic recommends that the majority of members' investments be invested for no longer than 90 days. Members are to ensure the maturity dates of their investments are spread to cover their day-to-day requirements. Investment in Government and semi-Government securities, if short term and easily sold, is also recommended. However, most semi-Government and Government securities are long term investments and therefore are not an attractive investment for members as they generally do not provide a good rate of return and can attract a capital loss if sold. Other investments will show a greater return and these should be considered providing the investment is in an approved investment as laid down in the company's Trust Deed

MEMBERSHIP

Any company wishing to become a member of the Association must lodge an application with the secretary which is referred to the Committee.

The Committee shall either approve or reject on application. On approval and payment of appropriate subscription the applicant is admitted as a provisional member until the next Annual Meeting of the Association.

Provisional members may attend the quarterly and Annual Meeting of the Association but are not entitled to vote.
