
I am apposed to all abortions because each and every abortion ends the life of a human baby. It makes no difference if you call the developing child a fetus, the final outcome is the termination of a human life. I find it incredible that this topic even needs to be debated. It should be obvious to one and all that the fetus is a living individual human baby. It is not a part of a woman's body, even having its own blood type and unique DNA.
Abortion is destroying the next generation of Australians.
