

Ending the life of a defenceless human being is heartless and immoral. I will never support such an act, this matter should not even be considered. This is something that a communist country would consider where gender is above life.

Peter Kotsiris