

Dear members of the Senate Inquiry Committee into extreme weather events,

As an Australian citizen I am deeply concerned on the increasing frequency and calibre of extreme weather events.

These events catalyse the scientifically undeniable impacts of climate change across our Earth.

Consequently, I want this Inquiry to comprehensively scrutinise Australia's preparedness to such events. Such events damage lives, human and animal, and infrastructure, and it is a dereliction of duty if methods of improvement are not sought.

Moreover, stronger action to promote renewable energy source use and greenhouse gas emission reduction must be underscored in any recommendation.

A concerned citizen,

David Chang
