

I fully support wind farms and believe there should be many more of them to help move Australia to a carbon neutral society. There is no credible scientific evidence to support the contention that wind farms have deleterious health effects due to low frequency noise levels.

-----

Glenn Osboldstone