

Subject: Submission to Extreme Weather Inquiry

---

The need to keep pollutants such as coal in the ground is well known in scientific circles.

The oceans becoming more acidic and the effect this has on the whole of the earth is also well known in scientific circles.

Parliament must not be influenced by vested interests such as the coal industry.

Bernard Terry