

I support the "Health Insurance (Certain Types of Abortion) Amendment Bill 2013" for the following reasons:

1. Abortion is killing. Killing is wrong – All political parties would have to agree that killing is wrong.
2. Targeting females to kill is discrimination. Discrimination is wrong. All political parties would have to agree that discrimination is wrong.
3. Using Medicare money to kill and discriminate is actually promoting wrong. Promoting wrong is a sign of a sick society. All politicians in Canberra have a duty to ensure the laws promote good behavior, not killing behaviour or discriminatory behaviour.
4. Allowing people to kill a boy or girl child because they already have one or the other, is equally sick and repulsive. This is evil. How can Medicare be funding this evil? Shame on the government for actually allowing such practices.

Thank you for rectifying this ugly situation.
