

The bill would, among other things, make it illegal merely to offend someone else at work on the ground of their religious (or political) beliefs. Several people have spoken out in the media against this proposal and my wife and I also find it completely objectionable. Hence we hope that it will be thrown out.

Gwen and Bryan Hardman.