To whom it may concern,

On behalf of all fathers and families I strongly disagree with Medicare funding for gender selective abortion. As is the case multitudes of potentially beautiful, valuable and productive girls are being bypassed and thrown away so to speak and this has to stop. Not to mention the countless number of boys that also never saw the light of day and are equally beautiful, valuable and vital to our society. Children are our future and what sort of future are we handing down to the generations that follow? Death is a means to have a prosperous and thriving future? I believe life is so precious and when we teach and pass on that knowledge and inherent goodness we will see a strong society arise.

Yours Sincerely

Miguel Ribeiro
