

---

To think a baby is aborted just because of its gender, when there are couples who would dearly love a baby (whatever the gender), its sickening, it just shows how selfish society has become, as they wouldn't think about adoption because they don't want them & don't want anyone else to either.

This practise also will put the ratio of boys & girls out of wack. Parents are suppose to be protect their children. What next?