

A song entitled Taken Away dedicated to mothers

So very young to be on your own life changed in a moment your life now unknown
it's so complicated
no family, no home
except for the one you love

It was not what you expected the timing to be but you've loved and you've wanted the little one to be you feel each movement and you know time will come to hold your special baby your daughter ,your son

chorus:

Taken away
how could it be
when a part of you
is taken away

It's been a long journey you've hoped and you've dreamed of the little inside you you never have seen
but others have chosen to steal your child away and broke your heart open and open.....it stays

No nursery, no crib
no baby to hold
how can these people
be so cruel and so cold you've not done any thing to be guilty for yet they left you empty heartbroken ,distracted

how can it be that someone you loved
is stolen away

The longing is endless
your heart never heals
and all through your life how alone you must feel society shunned you
so a secret is kept
and endless the tears
each mother has wept

But now is the time
to take victory
heal and demand justice their sins now to see no longer a victim
no hiding away
it's time for the truth
no more lies, no more guilt

it's time for justice
when will they see what my mother
means to me.
