

From:
Ms Margaret Corcoran

Schools need to be supported! To allow the limited quantitative Naplan results to be used to make qualitative statements is unsupportive of our state schools. To allow Naplan results to be used to construct league tables of the "best" schools is misleading. Other countries have reported that the use of league tables has been hugely damaging to their students and schools. Naplan tests are a limited resource and should be used as such.