To the Joint Standing Committee on Treaties

Particularly in relation to new media (and yet to be invented media), the Federal Government is compromising Australian culture as well as prospects for employment of Australian people in its plan to sign a so-called Free Trade Agreement with the United States of America. Australians ought to retain our right to regulate aspects of new media, not be beholden to the powerful US interests that already dominate much of our media content. Therefore I ask that the proposed agreement be abandoned.
