 - (ii) Appendix I species are those whose trade must be subject to particularly strict regulation, and only authorised in exceptional circumstances,
 - (iii) Australia has been a party to CITES since 1976,
 - (iv) implementation of the Commonwealth Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999 serves as Australia's way of meeting its international obligations as a CITES party, returned to the wild and elephants do not breed successfully in captivity; and

460 Senator Harris: To ask the Minister representing the Minister for Revenue and Assistant Treasurer—

- (1) Did the Commissioner of Taxation on 6 October 1994 issue tax determination 94/80 on infrastructure bonds which had the status of a public ruling.
- (2) Given that the minority report of the Economics References Committee refers to retail investors in infrastructure bonds borrowing to lend, in total, multiples of the funds sought by the constructor, what were the actual multiples in: (a) the Commonwealth Bank of Australia's (CBA) 'Develop Australia Bonds', with an offering memorandum of 23 April 1996; and (b) Legal and General's 'Infrastructure Funds 1996-2 and 1996-3'.
- (3) Can the Minister confirm that for a cash payment of $17 000, Legal and General's memorandum indicated that a tax refund of $20 370 should be available, and that the CBA indicated that a cash payment of $70 048 should result in a tax refund of $80 048.
- (4) Can the Minister confirm that Price Waterhouse indicated on 27 May 1996 that the Legal and General financing facility would be 'non-recourse' to the investor.
- (5) Can the Minister confirm that the Commissioner of Taxation, Mr Carmody, made the following statement to the Taxation Institute on 19 March 1997:

In the absence of any unusual arrangements surrounding the cited situations [including infrastructure bonds] there is no reason to suggest that Part IVA would apply, having regard to the factors in section 177D. Clearly, it would be incongruous for Part IVA to apply across the board to deny access to specific features of the tax system; nor does the Spotless decision suggest this is the case. In broad terms the Spotless decision turned not so much on the availability of the section 23(q) exemption as the analysis of the surrounding facts which lead to a conclusion that the arrangements were contrived to achieve the benefit of that exemption. So regard must be had to the wider context. For example, in the case of indirect infrastructure bonds at the retail level we will have regard to the whole financing structure including the direct infrastructure bond financing, the rate of interest relative to current market rates, any risk to the investor including whether they are locked in by options, the return on an after tax basis and how the funding took place including all other relevant matters.

- (6) Can the Minister confirm that tax determination 94/80 provides:
The extent to which interest paid by an investor on a loan used for the full purchase price of infrastructure borrowings will be tax deductible depends on an investors' particular circumstances. In order for the interest to be deductible the investor must have entered into the loan solely for the purpose of funding the investment in or acquisition of the infrastructure borrowings. On indicator that the investor had a purpose other than, or in addition to, funding the infrastructure borrowings, would be where the deductions in relation to the infrastructure borrowings are greater than the exempt return on the infrastructure borrowings grossed up by the investor's marginal tax rate as it would be but for the infrastructure borrowing investment and any related income and deductions.
- (7) With reference to the 'smell test' advanced by the Commissioner on 19 March 1997, as well as the criteria of non-recourse loan, large upfront deductibles prior to 30 June, tax refund exceeding cash contribution, fraction of the borrowings going into the underlying business, and option to participate only for year one, can the Minister confirm: (a) whether the Commissioner viewed the CBA and Legal and General offerings as contrived; and (b) whether the dominant purpose of the promoter was other than to offer a tax benefit to the investor.
- (8) Were these retail infrastructure bond investments referred to the Part IVA Panel, and if so how did it view them in the light of the warning in tax determination 94/80, and what was the result of its deliberations.

461 Senator Harris: To ask the Minister representing the Minister for Revenue and Assistant Treasurer—

Technological progress and globalisation are changing the structure of the Australian media market and patterns of media consumption—undeniably Australian media organisations are responding to these changes by investing in new technology enterprises and forming broader strategic partnerships, but the regulation of ownership and control of Australian media has been largely static. This creates ongoing tension between the trend towards convergence in the communications market and a regulatory framework which is based on sector-specific regulation and an assumption that influential sources of news and opinion are limited to the traditional domestic media outlets...The government is committed to the need for ongoing diversity of opinion and information in the Australian media.
 - (3) Will the Minister provide a list of media outlets attending the 2005 Budget lock-up.
 - (4) Will the Minister provide a list of press gallery members, that is those members with press gallery accreditation, who have been excluded from the 2005 Budget lock-up.

12 Security funding

The Senate:

- (a) notes the transfer of $1 million from the Department of the Senate to the Department of Parliamentary Services as a special contribution to security costs in the parliamentary precincts over and above the transferred funds previously provided for security, and
- (b) agrees that, if any further funds are necessary to provide additional security costs, they be made by additional appropriation to, or savings within, the Department of Parliamentary Services.

(Agreed to 8 December 2004 upon adoption of a recommendation of the Appropriations and Staffing Committee in its 41st report.)

13 Appropriation bills: Payments to international organisations

The Senate is of the view that:

- (a) an initial payment to an international organisation in effect represents a new policy decision and therefore should be in Appropriation Bill (No. 2); and

A GUIDE TO THE NOTICE PAPER

The Notice Paper is issued each sitting day and contains details of current business before the Senate. Its structure is based on four main types of business, as follows:

Matters of privilege take precedence over all other business and are listed at the beginning of the Notice Paper when they arise. They consist of notices of motion which the President has determined warrant such precedence and any orders relating to uncompleted debates on such motions.

Business of the Senate has precedence over government and general business for the day on which it is listed. It includes disallowance motions, orders of the day for the presentation of committee reports, motions to refer matters to standing committees, motions for leave of absence for a senator and motions concerning the qualification of a senator.

Government business is business initiated by a minister. It takes precedence over general business except for a period of 2½ hours each week set aside on Thursdays for general business.

General business is all other business initiated by senators who are not ministers. It takes precedence over government business only as described above.

Within each of these categories, business consists of notices of motion and orders of the day:

Notices of motion are statements of intention that senators intend to move particular motions on the days indicated. They are entered on the Notice Paper in the order given and may be given jointly by two or more senators. Notices of motion are usually considered before orders of the day.

Orders of the day are items of business which the Senate has ordered to be considered on particular days, usually arising from adjourned debates on matters (including legislation) or requirements to present committee reports.

On days other than Thursdays, the Notice Paper records in full current items of business of the Senate and government business, but includes only new items of general business from the previous sitting day. On Thursdays, business relating to the consideration of government documents, committee reports and government responses to committee reports is also published.

Other sections in the Notice Paper are as follows:

Orders of the day relating to committee reports and government responses follows government business and lists orders of the day for adjourned debates on motions to consider or adopt committee reports and government responses which have been presented during the week. These orders may be considered for one hour on Thursdays at the conclusion of general business. New items appear in the following day's Notice Paper. The section is printed in full on Thursdays.

Orders of the day relating to government documents appears in general business and lists orders of the day for adjourned debates on motions to take note of government documents. Such orders arise from consideration of the government documents presented on a particular day and include consideration of any documents not reached on the day. They are also listed for consideration for one hour on Thursdays during the consideration of general business. New items appear in the following day's Notice Paper. The section is printed in full on Thursdays.

Business for future consideration lists any notice of motion or order of the day to be considered on a specific day in the future; for example, a committee report ordered to be presented on a specific date, or a notice of motion given for a day other than the next day of sitting.

Bills referred to committees lists all bills or provisions of bills currently being considered by committees.

Questions on notice includes the text of new questions on notice and lists the numbers of unanswered questions.

Orders of the Senate includes orders of short-term duration such as orders for production of documents and those relating to days of sitting for a period of sittings.

Contingent notices of motion are statements of intention by senators that, contingent on a specified occurrence, they may move a motion, usually to suspend standing orders. They are grouped by subject.

Temporary chairs of committees is a daily list of all senators appointed to take the chair in the absence of the President or Deputy President.

Categories of committees is a daily list, categorised by type, of Senate and joint committees. Details of each committee appear in the committee section.

Committees lists all of Senate and joint committees, including membership, current inquiries and reports presented on or since the previous sitting day.

Senate appointments to statutory authorities lists the statutory authorities on which the Senate is represented and details of representation.

Ministerial representation lists Senate ministers and the portfolios they represent.

The ‘full’ Notice Paper

On the first day of each period of sittings a full Notice Paper is printed listing all outstanding business before the Senate, including the full text of all unresolved notices of motion and unanswered questions on notice. This edition is a complete reference to unresolved business from earlier in the session and is useful to keep. All business before the Senate is published daily in the full online version of the Notice Paper, available on ParlInfo and on the Senate’s Internet site at aph.gov.au/senate.

Inquiries concerning the Notice Paper or business listed in it may be directed to the Senate Table Office on (02) 6277 3018.
