In addition, on page 4, Mr Jones MP asked me, "How many provisional certifications have been given subsequent to the Lush House ruling?" While I did not take this question on notice and estimated 40-50, I can confirm for the Committee's information that since the Federal Court handed down its ruling on 7 March 2012, Screen Australia have issued 58 provisional certificates in relation to documentaries.

Please let me know if I can assist any further.

I thank the Committee for its consideration of this matter.

Kind regards

Alex
