12 PRIVILEGE—STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The Speaker made the following statement:

Yesterday, the Manager of Opposition Business raised with me, as a potential matter of privilege, whether the Hansard record of an answer provided by the Minister for Agriculture, last week on 20 October, had been changed in a way that amounted to ‘misconduct’. The Manager of Opposition Business asked whether such changes might relate to “deliberately misleading the House, conspiracy to deceive, falsified documents or disobedience to the rule or orders of the House”.

For this to be considered it is necessary for there to be evidence of a prima facie case that the alleged misconduct is conduct which, and I quote section 4 of the Parliamentary Privileges Act 1987, “amounts, or is intended or likely to amount, to an improper interference with the free exercise by a House or committee of its authority or functions, or with the free performance by a member of the member’s duties as a member”.

I note that the Minister for Agriculture attended in the House shortly after the matter was raised with me, and explained to the House the circumstances around the changes made to the Hansard record of his answer in the House including that he had counselled his staff about their actions and requested the Hansard record to be corrected. Given the Minister’s explanation I have not reviewed the tapes. In light of the Minister’s explanation, it does not appear that a prima facie case as intimated above has been made out and I consider that the matter is now closed.

- (3) the three bills being debated together provide claimed deregulatory savings of $1,855,000, or just 0.1 per cent of the figure claimed by the Government, with a vast majority of the changes in this bill having no impact in terms of costs or regulatory burden on businesses, individuals and the community sector in Australia; and

Ms Ryan, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

  - (b) Government has failed to fund the vital fifth and sixth years of the Gonski reforms and has opened the door to state and territory cuts by promising not to enforce their obligations under the Gonski agreements;
  - (c) Government has restricted school funding changes to the Consumer Price Index from 2018; and
  - (d) importance of equity and quality—for every child in every school—in improving student results and building a prosperous future; and

  - (a) provide an important service to Australia's agricultural sector; and
  - (b) act as a biological solution that assists in fly control and enhances livestock health;
- (2) the work of dung beetles acts to enhance and improve the nutrients in soil, leading to natural fertilisation and reducing nutrient runoff;
- (3) greater recognition by industry of the beetles' importance may lead to further widespread adoption;

- (4) investigation and research into the introduction of two new species of beetles from France and Spain may provide opportunities to expand the beneficial impacts of dung beetles by increased activity during the spring months, and this could bridge the existing activity gap prior to the activity of native beetles in the summer months; and
- (5) agricultural research and development organisations could provide important support in researching the benefits and quarantine implications associated with importing these two new species.

Debate ensued.

The time allotted for the debate having expired, the debate was interrupted, and the resumption of the debate made an order of the day for the next sitting.

  - (b) growing evidence of the enormous social and economic returns that are generated by investment in quality early childhood education;
- (2) recognises the progress that has been made in increasing access to kindergarten and preschool since the National Partnership Agreement on Early Childhood Education was introduced in 2008, including:
  - (a) an increase in the proportion of Australian children who attend 15 hours of quality early childhood education in the year before school from just 12 per cent in 2008, to over 56 per cent in 2012; and
  - (b) evidence that Australian children who access quality early education for 15 hours a week go on to score significantly better in Year Three NAPLAN tests and achieve higher results in Year Four reading, maths and science;
- (3) notes the uncertainty surrounding future funding for kindergarten and preschool and understands the impact this has on the sector, teachers, educators and parents balancing work and family; and
- (4) calls on the Government to provide certainty of funding for kindergartens and preschools, with the continued goal of ensuring every child receives 15 hours of quality early education a week in the year before school.

  - (a) the continued existence of the unique marine animals, plants and habitats that are found only in the Great Barrier Reef and provide additional protection for threatened species such as dugong and marine turtles;
  - (b) those industries that rely on the health of the Marine Park are able to continue, providing social and economic benefits to local communities and the wider economy;
  - (c) a diverse range of other benefits and values of the Marine Park, including recreational, cultural, educational and scientific values, are protected;
  - (d) that future generations are able to continue to use and enjoy the Marine Park;

  - (d) boosting species numbers, which helps the food web as a whole;
  - (e) increasing the abundance of fish; and
  - (f) building the resilience of the reef against threats such as climate change and water pollution;
- (3) affirms the Native Title Act 1993 which recognises the right of certain traditional owners to hunt and gather in their sea country and that native title holders may undertake traditional use of marine resources;
- (4) recognises that the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Authority is working with traditional owners for the protection of the Great Barrier Reef, by expanding the Traditional Use of the Marine Resources Agreement program and strengthening communications between local communities, managers and reef stakeholders;
- (5) acknowledges the value of the Ranger Program in providing job opportunities for Indigenous people to care for their country, take on important skills, develop career pathways, protect dugongs and turtles and manage environmental threats stemming from feral animals, among other benefits;
- (6) calls on the:
  - (a) Australian Labor Party and the Greens to pass the Environment Legislation Amendment Bill 2013 which will enable a tripling of penalties for those poaching turtles and/or dugongs; and
  - (b) relevant parties to work, as a priority, with traditional owners to progressively increase the protections afforded to threatened species, such as turtle and dugong, through traditional use marine resource agreements and other appropriate means, seeking to:
    - (i) where traditional rights under the Native Title Act 1993 apply, seek agreement with traditional owners to prohibit the capture and killing of any species from designated Green Zones within the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park area;
    - (ii) continue to allow certain activities to take place with a permit, such as research and management programs for fauna and flora where they pose a threat to humans or the environment, as per existing regulations; and
    - (iii) introduce legislation to prohibit the taking of marine species, including seabirds, in designated Green Zones within the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Area, where other efforts have proven to be inadequate;
- (7) in the interest of supporting the policing of turtle and dugong product that is transported for commercial purposes, prohibit the movement of native species taken under the Native Title Act 1993, outside the area in which it is caught; and
- (8) recognises that these initiatives would complement a range of measures already being implemented under the Government's Turtle and Dugong Protection Plan and Community Management Plans, which will enhance the protection of marine turtles and dugongs in Far North Queensland and the Torres Strait.

Mrs Griggs, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) acknowledges that 24 December marks 40 years since Cyclone Tracy devastated Darwin, killing 71 people and destroying 70 per cent of buildings, including 80 per cent of residential homes, leaving homeless 41,000 of the 47,000 people living in Darwin;
- (2) recognises the enormous Commonwealth contribution in providing extensive resources to perform the rescue and evacuation of survivors and for the rebuild of Darwin, including:
  - (a) the Royal Australian Navy undertaking its largest peacetime relief operations with HMA Ships Balikpapan, Betano, Brunei, Hobart, Melbourne, Stalwart, Stuart, Supply, Tarakan, Vendetta and Wewak berthing in early January 1975 to join HMA Ships Brisbane and Flinders;

- (3) notes that:
  - (a) the estimated damage to Darwin was $837 million dollars in 1974 dollars;
  - (b) the resilience of Territorians is remarkable;
  - (c) Cyclone Tracy was a defining moment in the history of Darwin—a city that had already been rebuilt after the 1942 Japanese bombings and natural disasters in the years preceding World War II; and

    - (i) broader and improved healthcare options as a result of the clinical and research trials conducted by the UWS's National Institute of Complementary Medicine and the BUCM to validate and translate Chinese medicines into an integrated healthcare setting;
    - (ii) the international framework for Australia to become the leading western accreditor of the $170 billion dollar global traditional Chinese medicine market; and
    - (iii) formalised connections with the internationally regarded researchers at the BUCM which will further enhance the reputation of the UWS as a leading centre of research excellence that delivers practical social and economic outcomes for the residents of Western Sydney;
  - (b) the MOU between these two universities was among 14 commercial agreements signed between Australia and China, and will secure unprecedented levels of market access to the world's second largest economy, with a population of 1.36 billion and a rapidly growing middle class; and
  - (c) households and businesses will also reap the benefits of cheaper goods and components imported from China, placing downward pressure on the cost of living and the cost of doing business; and

5 SYRIAN REFUGEES

Ms Parke, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) notes that:
  - (a) the Syrian conflict which began in March 2011 has:
    - (i) developed into one of the worst humanitarian disasters of our time; and
    - (ii) caused widespread damage to infrastructure across Syria, with basic necessities such as food, water and medical care difficult or impossible to access;
  - (b) serious human rights violations remain a common occurrence in Syria;
  - (c) it is estimated that more than 190,000 people have lost their lives in the Syrian conflict so far;
  - (d) in the three and a half years since the beginning of the Syrian conflict, more than 3.5 million refugees have fled their homes and crossed into neighbouring countries, while the United Nations estimates a further 6.5 million are displaced within Syria itself, representing an increase of 2 million in just six months;

- (e) hosting the Syrian refugees has put enormous pressure on the infrastructure, services, utilities and local populations of the host countries of Jordan, Lebanon and Turkey, with Syrian refugees in Lebanon now constituting approximately one-third of the population, and unemployment among poor Lebanese rising significantly;
  - (f) the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) has encouraged the international community to share the burden of supporting Syrian refugees, having a target for resettlement of 130,000 by the end of 2016, but has received a minimal response to date with less than 2 per cent of the registered refugee population having secured a resettlement place;
  - (g) while the regional response to the crisis should be commended, the global response has been relatively weak;
  - (h) the United Nations issued its largest appeal in relation to a single crisis in December 2013, stating that $6.5 billion was vital to adequately support Syrians inside and outside of the conflict-ravaged nation, but to date the appeal has only raised 62 per cent of that target; and
  - (i) in December 2014 the United Nations World Food Programme announced that it was suspending its food aid program for Syrian refugees for lack of funding, leaving 1.7 million refugees to go hungry during winter, and has called for US$64 million in immediate assistance to allow the recommencement of this essential aid; and
- (2) calls on the Australian Government to:
- (a) reconsider the level of Australia's existing humanitarian support and funding to assist those affected by the Syrian crisis with a view to making a significantly larger contribution;
  - (b) offer direct support to neighbouring countries, including through funding and arrangements to receive additional refugees in Australia by expanding the existing quota of asylum seekers and focusing resettlement on those Syrian refugees recommended by the UNHCR on the basis of vulnerability; and
  - (c) take an active role in all relevant multilateral fora in calling for a more substantial and better coordinated global response, including a 'fair share' approach to the resettlement of refugees.

Debate ensued.

Mr Thistlethwaite addressing the House—

In accordance with the resolution agreed to this sitting, the debate was adjourned, Mr Thistlethwaite was granted leave to continue his speech when the debate is resumed, and the resumption of the debate made an order of the day for a later hour this day.

3 OVARIAN CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

Ms Hall, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) notes that:
  - (a) February is Ovarian Cancer Awareness Month, which aims to raise awareness among Australian women of the symptoms of ovarian cancer; and
  - (b) each year 1,400 Australian women are diagnosed with ovarian cancer, and more than 1,000 will die from the disease—that is one woman every 8 hours;
- (2) notes with concern that the prognosis for women diagnosed with ovarian cancer is generally poor due to the advanced stage of most ovarian cancers at the time of diagnosis;
- (3) acknowledges that there is no screening program or detection test for ovarian cancer, and that the Pap smear will not detect the disease;
- (4) recognises that:
  - (a) ovarian cancer is not a silent disease and that all women experience symptoms, even in the early stages of the cancer; and
  - (b) the four most common symptoms are:
    - (i) abdominal or pelvic pain;
    - (ii) increased abdominal size or persistent abdominal bloating;
    - (iii) needing to urinate often or urgently; and
    - (iv) difficulty eating or feeling full quickly;
- (5) understands that every Australian woman needs to know the symptoms of ovarian cancer; and
- (6) notes the need for greater focus on education and additional research funding to help Australian scientists to find early detection markers and more effective treatments for this disease.

4 GREAT BARRIER REEF MARINE PARK

The order of the day having been read for the resumption of the debate on the motion of Mr Entsch—
That this House:

- (1) acknowledges that Marine National Park (Green) Zones as defined in the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Zoning Plan 2003 serve to better protect the biodiversity within the Marine Park and help to ensure:
  - (a) the continued existence of the unique marine animals, plants and habitats that are found only in the Great Barrier Reef and provide additional protection for threatened species such as dugong and marine turtles;
  - (b) those industries that rely on the health of the Marine Park are able to continue, providing social and economic benefits to local communities and the wider economy;
  - (c) a diverse range of other benefits and values of the Marine Park, including recreational, cultural, educational and scientific values, are protected;
  - (d) that future generations are able to continue to use and enjoy the Marine Park;
  - (e) the Great Barrier Reef World Heritage values are protected; and
  - (f) the ecologically sustainable use of marine resources by traditional owners consistent with their traditional practices, are provided for;
- (2) accepts that Marine National Park (Green) Zones can be beneficial in:
  - (a) protecting spawning areas and nursery grounds;
  - (b) minimising damage to important habitats;
  - (c) providing refuge for protected species, such as turtles and dugongs;
  - (d) boosting species numbers, which helps the food web as a whole;
  - (e) increasing the abundance of fish; and
  - (f) building the resilience of the reef against threats such as climate change and water pollution;
- (3) affirms the Native Title Act 1993 which recognises the right of certain traditional owners to hunt and gather in their sea country and that native title holders may undertake traditional use of marine resources;
- (4) recognises that the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Authority is working with traditional owners for the protection of the Great Barrier Reef, by expanding the Traditional Use of the Marine Resources Agreement program and strengthening communications between local communities, managers and reef stakeholders;
- (5) acknowledges the value of the Ranger Program in providing job opportunities for Indigenous people to care for their country, take on important skills, develop career pathways, protect dugongs and turtles and manage environmental threats stemming from feral animals, among other benefits;
- (6) calls on the:
  - (a) Australian Labor Party and the Greens to pass the Environment Legislation Amendment Bill 2013 which will enable a tripling of penalties for those poaching turtles and/or dugongs; and
  - (b) relevant parties to work, as a priority, with traditional owners to progressively increase the protections afforded to threatened species, such as turtle and dugong, through traditional use marine resource agreements and other appropriate means, seeking to:
    - (i) where traditional rights under the Native Title Act 1993 apply, seek agreement with traditional owners to prohibit the capture and killing of any species from designated Green Zones within the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park area;
    - (ii) continue to allow certain activities to take place with a permit, such as research and management programs for fauna and flora where they pose a threat to humans or the environment, as per existing regulations; and

- (iii) introduce legislation to prohibit the taking of marine species, including seabirds, in designated Green Zones within the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Area, where other efforts have proven to be inadequate;
- (7) in the interest of supporting the policing of turtle and dugong product that is transported for commercial purposes, prohibit the movement of native species, taken under the Native Title Act 1993 outside the area in which it is caught; and
- (8) recognises that these initiatives would complement a range of measures already being implemented under the Government's Turtle and Dugong Protection Plan and Community Management Plans, which will enhance the protection of marine turtles and dugongs in Far North Queensland and the Torres Strait.

The time allotted for the debate having expired, the debate was interrupted, and the resumption of the debate made an order of the day for the next sitting.

5 RECLINK NATIONAL PROGRAM FUNDING

Mr Danby, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) notes:
  - (a) that the Reclink National Program (RNP) has delivered over 100,000 participation opportunities to thousands of people experiencing disadvantage across Australia, in partnership with over 450 community organisations;
  - (b) that there is no other organisation in Australia with the expertise, capacity and capability of effectively and efficiently providing over 100,000 participation opportunities every year to the most disenfranchised, disadvantaged and forgotten Australians; and
  - (c) widespread community concern at the diminishing resources to support people experiencing disadvantage, many of whom have relied upon the RNP for social participation and social inclusion through engagement with sport and recreation programs; and
- (2) calls on the Government to reinstate funding to the RNP.

Debate ensued.

Debate adjourned, and the resumption of the debate made an order of the day for the next sitting.

6 CANNED HUNTING

Mr Wood, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) condemns:
  - (a) 'canned hunting' where animals are raised in captivity for the purpose of being killed in the name of trophy kills; and
  - (b) the importation of any species (body or part) in the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES) appendixes I, II or III as a result of a canned hunt;
- (2) congratulates the Australian Government for introducing new measures to tighten controls on the trade of rhinoceros to tackle illegal trade of this threatened species;
- (3) welcomes Australian Government consideration of actions to improve the protection of African lions by preventing imports of lion trophies obtained through illegal hunting; and
- (4) notes that:
  - (a) the CITES lays down guidelines on the importation of all trophy kills, and the Department of Environment uses this information as its guide in Australia;
  - (b) although CITES is legally binding on the parties, it does not take the place of national laws; and
  - (c) as a signatory to CITES, the Australian Government is committed to the protection of wildlife that may be adversely affected by trade.

5 TUBERCULOSIS

Mrs Prentice, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

  - (b) WTD is a designated WHO global public health campaign and is an annual event that marks the anniversary of the 1882 discovery by German Nobel Laureate, Dr Robert Koch, of the bacterium that causes tuberculosis;
  - (c) tuberculosis is contagious and airborne—it ranks as the world's second leading cause of death from a single infectious agent and left untreated, each person with active tuberculosis disease will infect on average 10 to 15 people every year;
  - (d) the theme for WTD in 2015 is 'Reach, Treat, Cure Everyone';
  - (e) in 2013, 1.5 million people died from tuberculosis worldwide with 40 per cent of deaths occurring in countries in the Indo Pacific region;
  - (f) Papua New Guinea has the highest rate of tuberculosis infection in the Pacific, with an estimated 39,000 total cases and 25,000 infections each year;
  - (g) the prevalence of multidrug-resistant tuberculosis continues to increase worldwide—rising from 450,000 cases in 2012 to 480,000 cases in 2013, with more than half of multidrug-resistant tuberculosis cases found in our region; and
  - (h) tuberculosis is:
    - (i) the leading cause of death among HIV positive people—HIV weakens the immune system and is lethal in combination with tuberculosis, each contributing to the other's progress; and
    - (ii) considered to be a preventable and treatable disease, however current treatment tools, drugs, diagnostics and vaccines are outdated and ineffective; and

- (2) recognises:
- (a) Australia's resolve to continue to work towards combatting the challenge of tuberculosis in the region and the need for discovery, development and rapid uptake of new tools, interventions and strategies as recognised in the WHO End TB Strategy;

  - (b) huge opportunities are available to create new advanced manufacturing jobs and industries with the right government support for our science, research and manufacturing sectors; and
- (3) condemns the Government's shortsighted approach to science, research and industry policy, where it has:
  - (a) cut $878 million from science and research, including $115 million from the CSIRO;
  - (b) recklessly undermined the Australian auto manufacturing sector, risking the loss of millions of dollars annually of investment in research and development;
  - (c) failed to support the shipbuilding industry by refusing to guarantee that the 12 future submarines will be built in Australia which would lead to millions of dollars of investment in research and innovation; and
  - (d) introduced enormous uncertainty for innovative businesses conducting Australian research and development, with retrograde changes to the Research & Development Tax Incentive that sees the removal of the benefit for expenditure over $100 million and a reduction in the rate of the offset by 1.5 percentage points for all firms across the board.

Debate ensued.

* Tellers

And so it was resolved in the affirmative.

Mr Porter presented reasons, which were circulated, and are as follows:

Reasons of the House of Representatives for disagreeing to the amendments of the Senate

Senate Amendment Numbers (1), (2), (3) and (4)

These amendments would propose retaining the Product Stewardship Advisory Group (PSAG), the Oil Stewardship Advisory Council (OSAC) and the Fuel Standards Consultative Committee (FSCC) and disallowed an alternative public consultation process that applied with respect to the grant and variation of approvals.

The repeal of these bodies would not prevent the Department of the Environment from consulting and engaging with industry experts on an as-needs basis without the need for costly permanent structures. The proposed abolitions would not preclude the Department of the Environment from seeking views from a broader range of organisations, experts and the community in a more flexible and targeted way. A statutory process is not required to facilitate this engagement.

Accordingly, the House of Representatives does not accept these Amendments.

Senate Amendment Numbers (5) and (6)

These amendments would disallow the removal of the requirement to publish certain notices under the Fuel Quality Standards Act 2000 and the Hazardous Waste (Regulation of Exports and Imports) Act 1989 in the Commonwealth Government Gazette and instead allow the publication of the same information on the Department of the Environment's website.

These measures do not remove the publication requirements from those Acts; rather they require the information to be published in a more accessible location (on the Department of Environment website, rather than the Commonwealth Government Gazette). As a result, the measures enhance transparency and community participation in the policy development and decision-making process.

These amendments would also disallow a number of measures to the Hazardous Waste (Regulation of Exports and Imports) Act 1989 (HW Act) including:

- the removal of requirement to specify particulars of an application in the Regulations before a permit decision can be made;
- the clarification of requirement to hold an Australian Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) transit permit. Currently, a person proposing to transit hazardous waste through Australia is required to hold an Australian-OECD transit permit. When deciding to grant a transit permit, the Minister must be satisfied that carrying out the transit proposal will not pose a significant risk of injury or damage to human beings or the environment (amongst other things). The requirement to hold an Australian-OECD permit is additional to the requirement that Australia provide consent to the exporting country for the movement to transit through Australia. There is also a requirement for the person proposing to carry out the transit to hold an import and export permit issued by the importing and exporting countries;
- the clarification of matters to be included in Basel import and export permits;
- the clarification of the period of appointment for members of the Hazardous Waste Technical Working Group; and
- to enable the Minister for the Environment to delegate his or her functions and powers under the Hazardous Waste (Regulation of Exports and Imports) Act 1989 to an APS employee who holds, or is acting in, an Executive Level 2 (or equivalent) position.

Publication requirements for regulations have not been removed; rather they require the information to be published in a more accessible location (on the Department of Environment website, rather than the Commonwealth Government Gazette). As a result, the measures enhance transparency and community participation in the policy development and decision-making process.

The requirement that a person hold an Australian-OECD transit permit, where the transit is from one OECD country to another and the Minister is satisfied that the transit proposal does not pose a significant risk of injury or damage to human beings or the environment is unnecessarily duplicative. The current requirement to hold an Australian transit permit is effectively duplicative of the requirement that Australia provide consent (as required by the relevant OECD Decision) to the exporting country for the movement to transit through Australia. The measures would not lessen the environmental protections as the Minister for the Environment would need to be satisfied that the transit does not pose a significant risk of injury or damage to human beings or the environment in order to exempt a person from a requirement to hold an Australian-OECD transit permit.

The requirement to specify the level of detail in Basil import and export permits currently required by the HW Act has resulted in situations where permit holders are required to apply for a variation to their permit as a result of changes that occur after the permit is issued that do not substantially change the nature of the proposal. For example, because the HW Act currently requires the place of import/export to be specified, a change in the port to which the hazardous waste is to be shipped due to changes in shipping routes would require a variation to the permit. Clarifying these matters will reduce the cost to business arising from the need to apply for a permit variation when details of a movement change. The environmental protections are not lessened by these measures as:

- the matters that the decision-maker must have regard to when deciding whether to grant the permit are not changed; and

- the HW Act will still enable the Minister for the Environment to include such other information in the permit as the Minister considers appropriate. For example, if the method of transport is a material factor in the decision to grant a permit, the Minister is not prevented from including particulars of this in the permit.

The Hazardous Waste Technical Working Group is being retained as it advises the Minister on technical matters that have commercial implications (for example, whether a particular type of waste is hazardous and therefore subject to the hazardous waste regime). The measure clarifies the maximum period of a member's appointment to the Working Group is three years. As members are appointed based on their expertise on matters relating to the management of hazardous waste, clarifying the period of appointment ensures that the members' expertise and experience remains current. The Minister would not be prevented from reappointing a member for a further period of three years if the Minister is satisfied that the member's expertise remains current.

The measure to enable the Minister for the Environment to delegate his or her functions and powers under the HW Act to an APS employee who holds, or is acting in, an Executive Level 2 (or equivalent) position will enable Executive Level 2 officers to exercise the Minister's functions and powers where administrative necessity dictates that decisions be made at this level. This may include:

- providing notifications and acknowledgements under the HW Act where response times are short (i.e. 3 days following receipt of an application) and do not require decisions to be made; and
- the making of non-controversial permit decisions where the application is of a routine nature and the applicant has an established history under the HW Act.

Delegating functions and powers to Executive Level 2 officers is consistent with other legislation which contain permit regimes, including the Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999 which enables the Minister to delegate any or all of his or her powers and functions to an officer or employee in the Department. The Australian Administrative Law Guide also provides that it may be appropriate for junior officers to make decisions involving a limited exercise of discretion, or under provisions which will give rise to a high volume of decisions. The delegation of these powers to an Executive Level 2 employee would not prevent significant decisions being made by more senior officers or the Minister for the Environment personally.

Accordingly, the House of Representatives does not accept these Amendments.

Senate Amendment Number (7)

The amendment proposes amendments to the Public Governance, Performance and Accountability Act (PGPA Act). These amendments would prescribe the process for entering into a contract for the design and building of a submarine, or a substantial part of a submarine, as part of the future submarine project (SEA 1000 in the Defence Capability Plan as in force on 1 December 2014).

In-line with advice from the Department of Defence, the Government is pursuing a competitive evaluation process as part of the acquisition strategy for the Future Submarine programme. This process is consistent with the PGPA Act (specifically the Commonwealth Procurement Rules issued under Section 101) and the Defence Procurement Policy Manual.

Accordingly, the House of Representatives does not accept these Amendments.

On the motion of Mr Porter, the reasons were adopted.

13 FEDERATION CHAMBER INCIDENT—STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The Speaker made the following statement:

The Member for Corangamite has reported to me an incident that occurred in the Federation Chamber last evening when she was presiding as a Deputy Speaker, involving the Member for Bowman.

As I understand it, towards the end of his speech on his motion on the cruise liner industry the Member for Bowman picked up one of two bottles he had brought into the Chamber, purporting to contain bunker fuel. He then proceeded to pour some of the contents, a thick black fuel, onto his hand, spilling onto the desk and floor of the Federation Chamber. In his remarks, the Member himself acknowledged the dangerous nature of the material. Setting aside the Members' offence in making use of props, it is highly disorderly to bring dangerous and flammable substances into either of the Chambers.

I consider the Member's actions to be totally disorderly, disrespectful of the House and the Federation Chamber and potentially dangerous to the health and safety of Members and staff in the Federation Chamber. I understand there has been damage to the Federation Chamber which we are endeavouring to repair.

Standing Order 187 provides that action pursuant to Standing Order 94 can only be taken against a member in the House. This includes under provisions 94(a) and 94(b).

Accordingly, I ask the Member to apologise to the House for his reckless and highly disorderly actions.

Mr Laming apologised to the House.

Yesterday the Manager of Opposition Business raised as a matter of privilege, statements reported to have been made by the Member for Bowman after he had apologised to the House for his actions in the Federation Chamber on 24 March and had been named and suspended from the House.

I have seen the statement issued by the Member for Bowman to the effect that 'If Australian families have to breathe it, I don't back down bringing it to the Parliament to make a point'.

Any act which obstructs or impedes the House in the performance of its functions may be treated as a contempt as long as it meets the test of being an improper interference with the work of the House.

In this case the actions of the Member for Bowman were, quite properly, dealt with by the House as a matter of order. I accept the Member for Bowman's apology to the House for his actions, and expect him to honour that apology. Any attempt by the Member to pursue the matter in a similar way in the future would also be dealt with as a matter of order.

20 LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORFOLK ISLAND—SELF GOVERNMENT

The Speaker informed the House that she had received the following Remonstrance passed by the Legislative Assembly of Norfolk Island on 20 May 2015 relating to self government—

The Legislative Assembly for Norfolk Island respectfully addresses itself to—

The Honourable the President of the Senate and the Members of the Senate,

The Honourable the Speaker of the House of Representatives and Members of the House of Representatives in Parliament assembled.

PREAMBLE

The passage in the Commonwealth Parliament of the Norfolk Island Act 1979 conferred on Norfolk Island a limited grant of self governing powers with its own legislature (the Legislative Assembly of Norfolk Island) with a plenary grant of legislative powers to legislate for the peace, order and good government of the Territory established, with its own body politic under the Crown with a wide grant of executive powers and with its own judicial system.

The Legislative Assembly for Norfolk Island is constituted of 9 representatives of the people of Norfolk Island; duly and democratically elected pursuant to the Legislative Assembly Act 1979.

The Norfolk Island Legislation Amendment Bill 2015 passed by the Commonwealth Parliament in May 2015 removes the self government powers of Norfolk Island. It has been passed without genuine consultation and negotiation with the Norfolk Island Government, the Legislative Assembly of Norfolk Island or the people of Norfolk Island.

The Statement of Compatibility with Human Rights contained within the Explanatory Memorandum for the Norfolk Island Legislation Amendment Bill 2015 asserted that the proposal to remove self-government powers from Norfolk Island was the result of an extensive consultation process that found significant support for change within the Norfolk Island community.

Norfolk Island voters in a referendum conducted on 8 May 2015 under the Referendum Act 1964 voted by a 68% majority that the people of Norfolk Island should have the right to freely determine their political status, their economic, social and cultural development and be consulted at referendum or plebiscite on the future model of governance for Norfolk Island before such changes are acted on by the Australian Parliament.

GRIEVANCES

The Legislative Assembly of Norfolk Island presents its grievances to the Commonwealth Parliament.

These are that:

- (1) The people of Norfolk Island having been granted self governing powers, the duly elected representatives of the people of Norfolk Island are aggrieved that self government should be removed without genuine consultation and negotiation.
- (2) The removal of self government in Norfolk Island breaches one of the conventions of self-government in the Westminster tradition that once self government is granted to a political entity, it should not thereafter be taken away except in the most extreme circumstances, for example, war or civil disturbance. See submission of the Commonwealth Attorney-General's Department to the Joint Parliamentary Committee on the Northern Territory, page 8 of Parliamentary Paper No. 281 of 1974 where it also states that it would be politically unthinkable to take away such powers after they had been granted.

PETITION

The Legislative Assembly of Norfolk Island and its democratically elected Members respectfully request that the Commonwealth Parliament affirm the rights of the people of Norfolk Island to self-government by re-examining those aspects of the Norfolk Island Legislation Amendment Bill 2015 that result in the removal of the Norfolk Island Legislative Assembly and call on the Prime Minister to confer on the people of Norfolk Island the right to freely determine their political status, their economic, social and cultural development and be consulted at referendum or plebiscite on the future model of governance for Norfolk Island before such changes are acted on by the Australian Parliament.

On 20 May 2015 the above Remonstrance was introduced by the Hon Robin E Adams MLA into the Fourteenth Legislative Assembly of Norfolk Island and was passed on the same day. The Legislative Assembly requested the Remonstrance be delivered by the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to the President of the Senate.

---

1 The Federation Chamber met at 10.30 am.

2 MEMBERS' CONSTITUENCY STATEMENTS

Members' constituency statements were made.

3 TERRORISM

Mr Nikolic, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) recognises the:
  - (a) need to destroy, degrade or contain terrorism in all its forms in source or origin countries;
  - (b) clear and present threat posed by transnational terrorism in our region;
  - (c) sustained efforts of both the Australian Defence Force (ADF) and our civilian national security agencies to identify, attack and degrade foreign or 'source nation' terrorist threats at the very earliest opportunity, most notably since the 2002 Bali bombings (which claimed the lives of 202 people, including 88 innocent Australians, and injured a further 209);
  - (d) unique geo-political circumstances of Australia which will continue to emphasise the need for cooperative and heightened security vigilance and activity with, by and from our key regional partners and allies, over the long term;
  - (e) potential for Australian security forces, both civil and military, to continue to act as effective, practical agents to reinforce, bolster and continually invigorate critical regional partnerships and engagements, toward a stable and prosperous long term regional future, and one which is mutually beneficial to all national participants;
  - (f) potential offered by the Government's holistic approach to home-grown terrorism, to constitute a working model for consideration, adaptation as appropriate, and possible implementation, by equally determined Governments and nations, throughout our region;
  - (g) need for sustained vigilance and regional engagement by all like-minded nations in our region;
  - (h) need to maintain and support both ADF and civilian security agency capabilities, at the very forefront of counter-terrorist operational capacity and capability;
  - (i) need for sustained border protection regimes and procedures; and
  - (j) importance of maintaining and sustaining Australia's traditional defence alliance and treaty arrangements;
- (2) acknowledges:
  - (a) the Government's active and constructive efforts to do all within its powers to halt terrorism at its source, or points of origin;

- (b) that the Attorney-General's Department has led and implemented a diverse array of constructive initiatives and measures in support of community safety and resilience, which will further complement 'offshore' counter-terrorist initiatives and endeavours;
  - (c) that Australian Government actions are in lockstep with sensible international responses to this global trend and challenges; and
  - (d) the importance of secure information-sharing with traditional allies and regional partners, to achieve the negation of potentially diverse terrorist threats; and
- (3) endorses and lends ongoing support to the Government's longstanding efforts to diminish the current and future terrorist threat to all Australians, including the removal of Australian citizenship status from dual citizens who are involved in terrorism in Australia or abroad.

Debate ensued.

The time allotted for the debate having expired, the debate was interrupted, and the resumption of the debate made an order of the day for the next sitting.

4 INBORN ERROR OF METABOLISM (IEM) PROGRAMME FUNDING

Ms Hall, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) condemns the Government's decision to cut, without any warning and consultation, all funding from the Inborn Error of Metabolism (IEM) Programme that provides for families and carers with children who suffer from Phenylketonuria (PKU);
- (2) acknowledges that sufferers of PKU require a vital expensive medically prescribed diet, supplemented by the funding, to avoid brain damage, seizures, liver failure, coma and in some cases death; and
- (3) calls on the Government to reinstate the funding to the IEM program.

Debate ensued.

Debate adjourned, and the resumption of the debate made an order of the day for the next sitting.

5 TASMANIAN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE INDUSTRIES

Mr Hutchinson, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) recognises that:
  - (a) the Coalition's Economic Growth Plan for Tasmania dated 15 August 2013, committed the Government to creating a Tasmanian Fruit and Vegetable Industry Taskforce focusing on the growth of the fruit and vegetable sectors in Tasmania;
  - (b) the Taskforce will develop an industry-led plan to promote competitiveness, investment and jobs growth in these sectors; and
  - (c) the terms of reference prescribing the scope of the Taskforce included reviewing existing work, drawing conclusions and developing a unified and agreed plan for the Tasmanian fruit and vegetable industries to:
    - (i) increase grower returns and reduce their costs;
    - (ii) increase competitiveness, investment and jobs growth across the supply chain; and
    - (iii) develop domestic and export markets;
- (2) acknowledges:
  - (a) the vital importance of the agriculture sector to Tasmania, and for all Tasmanians;
  - (b) that Tasmania is an important producer of fruit and vegetables, mainly potatoes, onions, carrots, cherries and other stone fruit, pomefruit and berries;
  - (c) that in 2011-12, the gross value production of fruit and nuts in Tasmania was $100.8 million, vegetables $213.4 million, and nursery production (nurseries, cut flowers and cultivated turf) $28.4 million, with Tasmania also being an important producer of the special poppy and pyrethrum crops;

- (d) that in contrast to other states, exporting and direct sales to processors are the predominant sales channels for fresh produce, for example in 2011-12, an estimated 70 per cent of Tasmanian vegetable growers sold their produce directly to a processor (this includes the manufacturing of canned, bottled, preserved, quick frozen or dried vegetable products, dehydrated vegetable products, soups, sauces, pickles and mixed meat and vegetable cereal products, processing and packaging of fresh salads and pan-ready vegetables, as well as bulk packaged and cleaned vegetables) and approximately 10 per cent sold their produce for export, which compares with the national averages of 26 per cent and 4 per cent, respectively;
  - (e) that in 2011-12 only 5 per cent of Tasmanian vegetable farms reported selling direct to state capital wholesale, compared to the national average of 62 per cent;
  - (f) that Tasmania exports significant volumes of onions and cherries, for example:
    - (i) in the 12 months to June 2013, it exported $44 million of fresh fruit and vegetables, 6.7 per cent of the total value of national exports of fresh fruit and vegetables, and of this, 98 per cent of the fruit were cherries and 94 per cent of the vegetables were onions;
    - (ii) Tasmania accounted for 52 per cent of all cherries and 86 per cent of all onions exported from Australia in 2012-13; and
    - (iii) in 2012 the Australian exports of fresh onions and fresh cherries accounted for 0.9 per cent and 0.4 per cent, respectively, of global exports of these products;
  - (g) that an independent assessment of the economic development potential of sectors of the Tasmanian economy found that the wine, dairy and aquaculture sectors had the greatest economic development potential;
  - (h) that horticulture also presents opportunities for growth in employment, though not as great as those in the wine, dairy and aquaculture sectors;
  - (i) that the challenges and opportunities faced by Tasmania's fruit and vegetable industry have been well documented and the industry has been subject to many reviews and planning processes; and
  - (j) that, to assist the deliberations of the Taskforce, the Commonwealth Department of Agriculture, as the secretariat to the Taskforce, has identified and summarised a collection of previous work and in so doing, is mindful that individual Taskforce members would be familiar with a number of these documents, in some cases contributing directly to their production; and
- (3) notes the continuing importance of investment in the Tasmanian agriculture sector, as a traditional and ongoing source of economic development, including employment, in that state, and one which continues to enjoy a relatively high national and international profile for the reliability and quality of its primary food production.

Debate ensued.

Debate adjourned, and the resumption of the debate made an order of the day for the next sitting.

6 COASTAL SHIPPING INDUSTRY

Ms Claydon, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) notes that:
  - (a) Australia, as an island nation, has a national interest in fostering an Australian coastal shipping industry for economic, environmental and national security reasons;
  - (b) comparable major trading nations have strong regulatory systems in place to support their coastal shipping industries;
  - (c) in 2012 the former government put in place a broad package of taxation, regulatory and workplace reform to revitalize Australian shipping; and
  - (d) people who perform work in Australia should be paid according to Australian-standard wages and conditions; and

- (2) calls on the Government to act to support and promote the Australian coastal shipping industry, and to actively support Labor's recent changes to give the industry the certainty it needs to invest in new Australian flagged shipping.

- (5) fact the Government is using taxpayers' money to fund a Royal Commission ostensibly to inquire into registered associations recognised under the Fair Work (Registered Organisations) Act, but actually targeting their political opponents; and

7 MEDICAL RESEARCH FUTURE FUND BILL 2015—SENATE'S AMENDMENTS

The order of the day having been read for the consideration of the amendments made by the Senate—
Constitutional significance of Senate amendments—Statement by Speaker

The Speaker made the following statement: It is my duty to draw to the attention of the House, the fact that the Senate amendments conveyed by this message include a proposed amendment which raises an important point of constitutional principle.

Amendment (1) proposes to amend the definition of medical innovation to expand the purposes for which amounts may be paid, from the Medical Research Future Fund Special Account. This account is established by clause 14 of the bill, with payments being made out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund (under a standing appropriation, in section 80 of the Public Governance, Performance and Accountability Act 2013).

There is doubt that the Senate may proceed in such circumstances by way of amendment, because of the requirements of sections 53 and 56 of the Constitution. The matter for consideration is not so much one of the privileges and rights between the two Houses, but observance of the requirements of the Constitution concerning the appropriation of revenue. I am advised that the view has been taken, where there is an expansion of the purposes for which money may be drawn from a standing appropriation, section 56 of the Constitution requires that the proposed appropriation be recommended by a message from the Governor-General. I understand that such a message has been obtained in this case.

If the House wishes to entertain the proposal reflected in the Senate's proposed amendment, the House may choose to proceed by alternative means.

Ms Ley (Minister for Health), moved—That the House endorse the statement of the Speaker in relation to the constitutional questions raised by Message No. 343 transmitted by the Senate in relation to the Medical Research Future Fund Bill 2015.

Debate ensued.

No. 140

TUESDAY, 8 SEPTEMBER 2015

1 The House met, at 12 noon, pursuant to adjournment. The Speaker (the Honourable A. D. H. Smith) took the Chair, made an acknowledgement of country and read Prayers.

2 SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 133 (DEFERRED DIVISIONS ON MONDAYS AND TUESDAYS)

Mr Pyne (Leader of the House) moved—That standing order 133 (deferred divisions on Mondays and Tuesdays) be suspended until 2 pm.

Question—put and passed.

3 SUSPENSION OF STANDING AND SESSIONAL ORDERS MOVED

Mr Albanese moved—That so much of the standing and sessional orders be suspended as would prevent the Member for Grayndler from moving the following motion—That the House:

- (1) censures the Deputy Prime Minister for misleading the House in Question Time on Monday, 7 September when he:
  - (a) stated that reports that senior officials from his Department advised Bill Milby of North Star Cruises to reflag his vessel to a foreign nation, sack his 50 Australian workers and hire foreign crew to compete, were “inaccurate”; and
  - (b) told the House that such advice “is not possible under the proposed legislation before Parliament”;
- (2) notes the evidence before the Senate Rural and Regional Affairs and Transport Legislation Committee where Mr Milby confirmed his written evidence contained in his submission that he was advised by officials to “consider taking our ship True North off the Australian Shipping Register, re register the ship in a foreign country, lay off our Australian crew and hire a cheaper foreign crew” under his proposed laws;
- (3) notes that last night Judith Zielke, Executive Director, Surface Transport Policy Division and Michael Sutton, General Manager, Maritime and Shipping Branch both gave evidence that they did give advice to Mr Milby about the reflagging option;
- (4) further notes last night’s comment from Mr Milby that “I don’t have an issue with the people who gave that advice because if you read the legislation and the explanatory memo, they were telling me the truth”;
- (5) notes the evidence from the government’s official economic modelling for the bill assumed that the displaced Australian seafarers would “get other jobs”;
- (6) also notes the evidence from Tasmanian freight operator Searoad, North Star Cruises and Maritime Industry Australia Limited, that investment in shipbuilding and local job creation is threatened by this flawed legislation; and
- (7) accordingly, calls for:
  - (a) the Deputy Prime Minister to immediately correct the record following his misleading answer in Question Time yesterday;

- (b) the Prime Minister to apologise to Mr Bill Milby of North Star Cruises in Western Australia for questioning his honesty and integrity; and
- (c) the Government to withdraw its Shipping Legislation before the Parliament and to enter into a proper consultation process with the maritime sector about any future proposed changes to maritime legislation.

  - (a) the NBN's 2016-2018 Corporate Plan reveals that a full fibre to the premises (FTTP) NBN could not be completed until 2026 at the earliest and could be as late as 2028—six to eight years later than the current Government's plan; and
  - (b) the NBN 2016-2018 Corporate Plan reveals that a full FTTP NBN would cost between $20 and $30 billion dollars more than the current Government's plan; and

7 PAYDAY LENDING AND CONSUMER LEASES

Ms Parke, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) notes that:
  - (a) there is considerable evidence that payday lending and consumer leases are not properly regulated and that both financial practices are causing serious harm to low income Australians;
  - (b) irresponsible and immoral lending is endemic in the payday lending industry, which is growing rapidly and developing new online opportunities to encourage people to borrow with insufficient consideration of their capacity to bear the exorbitant and poorly regulated interest costs that payday lending involves;
  - (c) the Australian Securities and Investment Commission review of payday lending found that 24 per cent of loans were taken out by Centrelink customers and 54 per cent were taken out by customers who had two or more payday loans in the previous 90 days, a clear indication that they are caught in a cycle of repeat borrowing;
  - (d) consumer leases can involve an effective annualised interest rate of 240 per cent, and generally mean that vulnerable consumers pay three or four times the value of basic household items like refrigerators or washing machines;
  - (e) consumer leases operate with lower consumer protection standards under the National Credit Code, though such agreements are not materially different in effect from credit contracts;
  - (f) in 2013-14 nearly half of Radio Rentals' $197 million revenue was received through the Centrepay system which allows payments to be directly debited from a consumer's Centrelink account; and
  - (g) Senator Cameron has brought a private Senators' bill that seeks to remove consumer leases from access to the Centrepay system; and

* Tellers

And so it was resolved in the affirmative.

Mr Morrison presented reasons, which were circulated, and are as follows:

Reasons of the House of Representatives for disagreeing to the amendments of the Senate

The House of Representatives does not support the Senate amendments to the Tax Laws Amendment (Combating Multinational Tax Avoidance) Bill 2015.

The Bill that was passed by the House of Representatives is an important piece of legislation. It builds on the work the Government led in the G20 and OECD to ensure that multinationals pay their fair share.

The Bill will:

- ensure that multinational companies with significant activities in Australia that use artificial arrangements to book their revenue offshore pay the right amount of tax in Australia on their Australian activities;
- increase penalties for tax avoidance and profit shifting by large multinational companies; and
- ensure that the ATO has access to detailed information on large multinationals to undertake targeted assessments of transfer pricing risk.

The Senate has made three amendments to the Bill. These amendments have been made without thorough consultation, and without any detailed analysis of how many companies will be affected.

These amendments are made without input from Treasury and the Australian Taxation Office, without proper analysis of the regulatory burden they will impose, and without consideration of whether they can be sensibly administered by the Australian Taxation Office.

Amendments (1) and (3)

These amendments repeal the Tax and Superannuation Laws Amendment (Better Targeting the Income Tax Transparency Laws) Act 2015, which was passed by both Houses of Parliament last month. The amendments instead provide the Australian Taxation Office with a discretion to prevent the disclosure of the tax information of large Australian-owned private companies if it considers that the release of such information would be prejudicial to that entity's commercial negotiations.

The intention of this Bill is similar to the intent of the House of Representatives in passing the Tax and Superannuation Laws Amendment (Better Targeting the Income Tax Transparency Laws) Act 2015. That is, to balance the need for greater public transparency in the tax affairs of large companies while not jeopardising the privacy and competitiveness of Australian owned private companies.

However, requiring the Commissioner of Taxation to assess whether the release of tax information may be prejudicial to an entity's commercial negotiations is inappropriate. The Tax Office is not equipped with the expertise to assess the commercial sensitivities of company negotiations. The Senate amendment would require the ATO to divert resources away from its core activities, which is not in the public interest.

Amendment (2)

This amendment requires large companies to prepare and lodge with the Australian Taxation Office general purpose financial reports. The Australian Taxation Office would be required to provide these reports to the Australian Securities and Investment Commission.

These changes result in a blunt one size fits all burden on affected companies and is likely to impose costs and excessive compliance without any tangible benefit to what was originally proposed in the Bill.

The Bill that the House of Representatives proposed will ensure that the Commissioner of Taxation has access to detailed information to undertake targeted assessments of transfer pricing risk. These requirements have been tailor-made by the OECD to provide the best possible foundation for tax authorities to identify companies that are shifting profits and take action. This information would supplement the extensive information already collected by the ATO in tax returns and related disclosures. Beyond this, the Commissioner has broad powers to collect any further information that would assist in tax administration.

In contrast, much of the information required to be provided to the ATO under the Senate amendments would be irrelevant for tax compliance purposes, imposing an unnecessary cost burden on business. Such costs would be imposed on businesses that the ATO considers do not pose a significant tax risk.

For these reasons, the House of Representatives does not support the Senate's amendments to the Tax Laws Amendment (Combating Multinational Tax Avoidance) Bill 2015.

On the motion of Mr Morrison, the reasons were adopted.

17 AUSTRALIAN CITIZENSHIP AMENDMENT (ALLEGIANCE TO AUSTRALIA) BILL 2015

The order of the day having been read for the resumption of the debate on the question—That the bill be now read a second time—

Debate resumed.

Ms Rowland addressing the House—

It being 1.30 pm, the debate was interrupted in accordance with standing order 43, Ms Rowland was granted leave to continue her speech when the debate is resumed, and the resumption of the debate made an order of the day for a later hour this day.

Ms Vamvakinou, pursuant to notice, moved—That this House:

- (1) acknowledges that:
  - (a) 29 November is International Day of Solidarity with the Palestinian People as observed by the United Nations (resolution 23/40 B);
  - (b) following the 1948 Arab-Israeli conflict, the United Nations Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA) was established to carry out direct relief and works programs for Palestinian refugees who had fled to West Bank, Gaza, Jordan, Lebanon and Syria;
  - (c) UNRWA services are available to all those living in its areas of operations—West Bank, Gaza, Jordan, Lebanon and Syria—who are registered and who need assistance;
  - (d) Palestinians registered with the UNRWA are unable to register with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and additionally cannot be referred for resettlement by the UNHCR;
  - (e) Palestinian refugees from Syria are a vulnerable minority, who are currently fleeing for the same reasons as other genuine refugees and persecuted minorities; and
  - (f) whilst not a legislative requirement, the UNHCR registration is a determining factor in the Australian Department of Immigration and Border Protection's consideration of refugee and humanitarian visa applications; and
- (2) calls on the Government to:
  - (a) recognise that the Palestinian refugees from Syria who are registered with the UNRWA are unable to register with the UNHCR irrespective of meeting the criteria for refugee status in the United Nations 1951 Refugee Convention; and
  - (b) work with the UNHCR to consider Palestinians fleeing Syria and registered with the UNRWA as eligible to apply for the Government's recently announced intake of 12,000 refugees from the Syrian conflict.

4 ADOPTION

- (1) notes that National Adoption Awareness Week was recently celebrated, a week dedicated to raising awareness around the challenges faced by families and children navigating complex inter country and domestic adoption processes in Australia;
- (2) is made aware of the fact that the rate of adoption in Australia is the lowest in the developed world, with only 317 children adopted in 2013-14;
- (3) recognises that 15,000 children in Australia have been in out of home care for over two years and over 12 million children are officially registered overseas awaiting adoption;
- (4) acknowledges the need for continued adoption reform, especially in the area of local adoption;
- (5) notes that:
  - (a) children who experience abuse and neglect in the home, followed by instability in out of home care, are much more likely to experience poor life outcomes;
  - (b) in adolescence, out of home carers are unable to maintain the necessary level of care for children with complex needs and they are often placed in residential care; and
  - (c) on an average day in 2013-14 there were 1,157 children in residential care and on 30 June 2014 there were 2,258 children in residential care; and
- (6) calls on the Government to present this issue to the COAG in order to create a national strategy that will dramatically increase the rate of local adoption in Australia.

  - (b) since 2000, increased action by national governments and international donors on prevention and detection of and treatment for these diseases has led to significant reductions in cases of and deaths from each disease;
  - (c) the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria (Global Fund) has played a significant role in this progress, and has supported programs with the following outcomes:
    - (i) increasing the number of people with HIV with access to antiretroviral therapy to 8.1 million;
    - (ii) making available testing and treatment for tuberculosis to 13.2 million people; and
    - (iii) supporting the distribution of 548 million insecticide treated bed nets to prevent malaria; and
  - (d) the Global Fund contributes more than $US4 billion to combat the three diseases each year, and accounts for more than 20 per cent of international funding for HIV, half of international funding for malaria and three quarters of funding for tuberculosis;
- (2) recognises:
  - (a) the proposed Sustainable Development Goals include a target to end the epidemics of AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria by 2030;
  - (b) achieving this target will require increased investment by national governments, national aid agencies and multilateral agencies such as the Global Fund; and
  - (c) increased investment in addressing these diseases now will reduce the risk of much greater costs, especially from drug resistance, in the future; and
- (3) calls on the Government to continue and consider increasing its support for the Global Fund for the next replenishment period, 2017 to 2019.

Clerk of the House of Representatives

2013-2014-2015

THE PARLIAMENT OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF AUSTRALIA

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS

No. 165

WEDNESDAY, 2 DECEMBER 2015

1 The House met, at 9 am, pursuant to adjournment. The Speaker (the Honourable A. D. H. Smith) took the Chair, made an acknowledgement of country and read Prayers.

2 SUSPENSION OF STANDING AND SESSIONAL ORDERS MOVED

Mr Dreyfus moved—That so much of the standing and sessional orders be suspended as would prevent the Member for Isaacs from moving the following motion forthwith—That the House:

- (1) notes that:
  - (a) yesterday in Question Time when the Special Minister of State was asked about statements he had made in relation to the Ashby affair, the Minister said “In relation to the 60 Minutes interview, what was put to air was not the full question”;
  - (b) on Channel Nine Television News last night, in a story by journalist Laurie Oakes, the original version of the 60 Minutes interview was played and makes it clear that there were no words omitted which could in any way be considered part of the question the Minister was asked;
  - (c) as a consequence, the Minister clearly misled the House of Representatives during Question Time yesterday; and
  - (d) at no stage did the Minister take the opportunity to correct the record in the Parliament despite the House of Representatives sitting until 9.30 pm last night;
- (2) therefore resolves that the:
  - (a) Minister has misled the Parliament and has failed in his obligation under Clause 5.1 of the Prime Minister’s Statement of Ministerial Standards to correct the record as soon as practicable; and
  - (b) Member for Fisher’s commission as Special Minister of State and Minister for Defence Materiel and Science must be terminated forthwith; and
- (3) censures the Prime Minister for his:
  - (a) atrocious judgement in appointing the Member for Fisher as a Minister with responsibility for Government integrity; and
  - (b) complete and utter failure to show leadership and sack or even stand aside the Special Minister of State from his ministerial responsibilities.

VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS

No. 166

THURSDAY, 3 DECEMBER 2015

1 The House met, at 9 am, pursuant to adjournment. The Speaker (the Honourable A. D. H. Smith) took the Chair, made an acknowledgement of country and read Prayers.

2 SUSPENSION OF STANDING AND SESSIONAL ORDERS MOVED

Mr Dreyfus moved—That so much of the standing and sessional orders be suspended as would prevent the Member for Issacs from moving the following motion forthwith—That the House:

- (1) notes that yesterday, the Prime Minister said in Question Time in relation to the Special Minister of State's involvement in the Ashby affair "The evidence or the information about them has been in the public domain for some time. There have been no new developments, no changes or additions to that material";
- (2) resolves that in making this statement, the Prime Minister ignored numerous new developments, namely the:
  - (a) Australian Federal Police conducting a raid on the Special Minister of State's home in relation to the Minister's involvement in the Ashby affair; and
  - (b) Special Minister of State misleading the Parliament on three separate occasions this week on:
    - (i) Tuesday in Question Time when the Special Minister of State was asked about statements he had made in relation to the Ashby affair, the Minister said "In relation to the 60 Minutes interview, what was put to air was not the full question", but on Channel Nine Television News on Tuesday, in a story by journalist Laurie Oakes, the original version of the 60 Minutes interview was played and makes in clear that there were no words omitted which could in any way be considered part of the question the Minister was asked;
    - (ii) Wednesday, the Special Minister of State made a statement on indulgence in the House in which he claimed during his interview on 60 Minutes, he was answering a different part of the question which prompted his admission when there was clearly only one question asked; and
    - (iii) Wednesday in Question Time when the Special Minister of State was asked the exact same question that he was asked on 60 Minutes, he changed his answer from "Yes, I did" and said "No", this was notwithstanding the subsequent questions in the 60 Minutes interview which clearly affirmed his statement "Yes, I did"; and
- (3) therefore censures the Prime Minister for failing to enforce his own criteria for taking action and sacking the Special Minister of State for repeatedly misleading the Parliament and breaching the Prime Minister's own Statement of Ministerial Standards.

Closure of Member

12 PRIVILEGE—STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The Speaker made the following statement:

On the last day of sittings for 2015, the Manager of Opposition Business raised as a matter of privilege the statements in the House of the Special Minister of State in relation to matters concerning Mr James Ashby and the former Speaker Peter Slipper. He presented to the House various material to which he had referred.

The Manager of Opposition Business asked me to consider giving precedence to a motion to refer to the Committee of Privileges and Members' Interests whether the minister's statements in the House from 23 November to 3 December 2015 have deliberately misled the House such as to constitute an offence of improper interference with the free exercise of the House of its authority or functions.

I have been able to speak to the Manager of Opposition Business about these matters, but I should also report back to the House on them.

Deliberately misleading the House is one of the matters that can be found to be a contempt. While claims that members have deliberately misled the House have been raised as matters of privilege or contempt on a number of occasions, to date no Speaker of the House has found that a prima facie case has been made out. However, the House has agreed to refer to the Committee such a matter in relation to the former Member for Dobell.

I have told the Manager of Opposition Business that on the information available to me, the circumstances of the matters which he has raised would not justify a departure from the position that has been taken by my predecessors.

- (b) the latest legal challenge brought by the Melbourne based Australian Conservation Foundation to the development of the Galilee Basin is another cynical attempt to abuse due process;
- (c) ongoing 'green' lawfare is holding Queensland families to ransom and jeopardising Australia's reputation as a place to do business; and

- (d) that rather than protecting the environment, the replacement of the Galilee Basin's lower emission coal by higher emission coal from other countries could instead cause an increase in global emissions; and
- (2) calls on the Australian Labor Party to support legislative amendments to close legal loopholes being exploited by 'green' groups.

6 WORK VISAS

- (1) notes:
  - (a) the ongoing media reports and Fair Work Ombudsman (FWO) findings into the exploitation of Working Holiday visa (subclass 417) holders, Temporary Work (Skilled) visa (subclass 457) holders and international students;
  - (b) nationwide monitoring by the FWO has uncovered suspected exploitation in 20 per cent of 560 migrant Temporary Work (Skilled) visa (subclass 457) worker cases examined between October 2014 and January 2015;
  - (c) the FWO said 'migrant workers complaints of mistreatment had soared in recent years, and sponsorship breaches were often deliberate acts of exploitation by unscrupulous employers';
  - (d) exploitation by employers has been identified in various industries including but not limited to construction, hospitality, cleaning, food processing, agriculture, the marketing and promotions sector, privately owned childcare centres and kindergartens, shopping trolley collectors and postal service contractors;
  - (e) many of these workers are low paid and low skilled, and are on Temporary Work (Skilled) visas (subclass 457), Working Holiday visas (subclass 417) or student visas; and
  - (f) this unconscionable conduct is widespread and is creating a sub class of workers that does not just hurt the employees; it puts at risk the pay and working conditions of all Australians;
- (2) acknowledges the:
  - (a) recent hard work of the FWO to monitor, investigate, and expose potential breaches of the work visa program and Australian workplace laws; and
  - (b) proactive role the Australian union movement has played to highlight and expose unconscionable conduct by some employers and industries exploiting temporary visa workers;
- (3) condemns the Government's:
  - (a) inaction to immediately address and implement the findings of recent FWO reports in relation to this matter; and
  - (b) recent moves to relax regulations for bringing in temporary visa workers, instead of toughening the rules; and
- (4) calls on the Government to:
  - (a) immediately strengthen the work visa safeguards it has deliberately relaxed to make it easier for companies to hire overseas workers; and
  - (b) ensure that Australia's work visa program has robust safeguards in place to protect all workers and is not being used as a back door avenue to source cheap labour.

Debate ensued.

* Tellers

And so it was resolved in the affirmative.

Mr Fletcher presented reasons, which were circulated, and are as follows:

Reasons of the House of Representatives for disagreeing to the amendment of the Senate

Senate Amendment (1)

The amendment proposes to insert a new section 98AA into the National Broadband Network Companies Act 2011 (NBN Companies Act). The proposed section would require the Board of NBN Co, within 60 days, to prepare, provide to the Minister and publish on its website a report setting out NBN Co's financial and deployment forecasts for the period 1 July 2015 to 30 June 2022. The Minister would be required to table the report in each House of the Parliament within five sitting days of receipt.

The amendment proposed is not related to the matters dealt with by the Communications Legislation Amendment (Deregulation and Other Measures) Bill 2015 (Bill). That Bill as introduced does not seek to amend the NBN Companies Act. The amendment proposed to the Bill is in fact inconsistent with the underlying purpose of the Bill, being to streamline regulatory processes and reduce the compliance burden faced by the broadcasting and telecommunications sectors.

Accordingly, the House of Representatives does not accept this amendment.

On the motion of Mr Fletcher, the reasons were adopted.
