Seminar Program 2015

> About Parliament
> The Senate at work
> Delegated legislation and the Senate
> Getting bills through the Senate
> Senate committees and the estimates process
> Engaging with the Senate – Senior Executive Service training
Two introductory seminars, About Parliament and The Senate at work, provide a general overview of the Australian parliamentary system of government. Developed with graduates and new public servants in mind, they provide a valuable overview of the work of the Parliament and lay the groundwork for other seminars in the series which examine in detail the Senate’s legislative work, the Senate committee system and the estimates process.

It is recommended that officers new to the Public Service enrol in these introductory seminars before other seminars in the series.
9.30am–12.30pm
This seminar provides an introduction to Australia’s parliamentary system of government and what the Parliament does. It offers a solid understanding of the parliamentary system, including the constitutional provisions for the federal system of government and the functions of the Parliament. This seminar includes a tour of the House of Representatives and the Senate chambers.

Dates: 8 April and 5 August
Cost: $350 per person*
Target audience: APS Graduates and those new to the public service

9.30am–12.30pm
This seminar provides an introduction to the work of the Senate, featuring the legislative process and the Senate committee system. It shows how to keep track of Senate business and how to access key chamber documents online.

Dates: 5 May, 29 July and 4 November
Cost: $250 per person*
Target audience: APS Graduates and those new to the public service

Delegated legislation and the Senate
9.30am–11.30am
This seminar covers the tabling, consideration and disallowance of delegated legislation in the Senate, including the work of the Senate Regulations and Ordinances Committee. It is aimed at those involved in preparing delegated legislation and explanatory statements. Topics include requirements for making and tabling delegated legislation, the work of the Regulations and Ordinances Committee, the disallowance timetable and consequences of disallowance.

Dates: 29 April and 2 September
Cost: $160 per person*
Target audience: APS officers engaged in preparing delegated legislation or those who may perform this role in the future
Getting bills through the Senate
9.30am–12.30pm
This seminar is designed to give participants a detailed understanding of the legislative process and the skills needed to monitor and facilitate the progress of bills through the Parliament. It provides an overview of the legislative process including the passage of bills through Parliament, the amendment of bills, the role of Senate committees, disagreements between the two houses, and royal assent and commencement.

Dates: 10 June and 28 October
Cost: $250 per person*
Target audience: APS officers involved in advising ministers or their officers in the Senate chamber on the passage of bills or those who may perform this role in the future

Senate committees and the estimates process
9.30am–12.30pm
This seminar provides a detailed examination of the powers and operation of Senate committees and the estimates process. It is designed for public servants who prepare submissions for Senate committees or who attend Senate estimates hearings, monitor the estimates process or provide information to Senate committees considering the estimates of expenditure contained in the Budget.

Dates: 17 February, 6 May and 23 September
Cost: $250 per person*
Target audience: APS officers involved in preparing submissions for Senate committees or who monitor or attend Senate estimates

Engaging with the Senate – Senior Executive Service training
9.30am–12.30pm
This seminar for SES officers focuses on the accountability of public servants to Parliament. Topics covered include the relationship between the public service, ministers and the Parliament; the role of the Senate in the accountability process; the law and practice of parliamentary privilege, particularly as it relates to the operation of Senate committees; and the rights and obligations of public servants who appear before them as witnesses.

Dates: 1 April and 26 August
Cost: $250 per person*
Target audience: Senior Executive Service officers
FURTHER INFORMATION

Getting the most out of your seminar

From our experience, the most effective seminars are those with the most interaction among participants. And naturally, interaction is easiest among groups of people who know each other. So while we are very happy to have individual participants, we encourage organisations to send groups of participants where possible.

Customised courses

We can arrange courses to meet your specified needs. Customised courses can be held at Parliament House or at your office. We can also schedule additional seminars on demand. For further information on customised courses, contact the Seminar Co-ordinator on 6277 3072.

Parking

Parking is available in the public underground car park located at the front of Parliament House (time limits apply).

Cancellation policy

The seminar fee will be waived only if a cancellation is notified in writing (or by email) five or more working days prior to the seminar. If a participant is unable to attend, a substitute from the same organisation may attend.

Seminar cancellation

Due to unforeseen circumstances a seminar may need to be cancelled. In this event, participants will be advised of this cancellation and no fee will be charged.
