Outcome: National Disability Insurance Agency

Question No: NDIA SQ17-000025

Topic: Young People in Aged Care

Hansard Page: Written

Senator Reynolds asked:

How is the NDIA actively monitoring the number of young people who go into aged care in NDIS sites?

Answer:

The National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA) receives regular data snapshots from the Department of Health on all people aged less than 65 years in residential aged care. This is the NDIA's source of information on participants and potential participants who are in aged care.
