Senator Fifield asked:

What sort of content will be developed for the website? How will the people with disability to edit the website be selected?

Answer:

The website will contain material produced by the ABC, commissioned content, as well as user-generated content. Content will include news, debate, humour, general information, and a place for discussion. People with disability will be encouraged to contribute and participate.

The ABC sought applications for the editor's position on its ABC Careers website.
