- (a) the average length of time between registering a claim and payout
- (b) the most common length of time between registering a claim and payout; and
- (c) the average percentage, across these bushfire claim pay outs, of the value of these bushfire related pay outs as a percentage of the insured value of the policy.

Answer: QBE Insurance Australia Limited (QBE) is a provider of residential home and contents policies. The following responses relate to claims arising from the 2019-20 bushfires only.

- a) Property claims may involve more than one payment being made to an individual customer, including emergency payments made immediately following a natural disaster. For the purpose of responding to QBE03QW a), we have provided an average of all payments made to a customer.
 - The average length of time between the registration of a customer's claim, and the average of all payments made to the customer, is 38 days.
- b) For the purpose of responding to QBE03QW b), we understand 'most common length of time' to be a reference to the 'mode', or the value that appears most often.
 - The most common length of time between the registration of a customer's claim, and any payment to the customer, is 1 day.
- c) This information is not held by our systems in a manner that can be readily extracted. As such, we have been unable to provide a response to this question.
