RE: Non-Citizenship

Good morning Chris

I am replying in Ian's absence.

I can confirm that, based on the facts of your birth (in Australia on 17th January 1973 to a UK born mother), you do not have a claim to British citizenship. This is because, prior to 1 January 1983 when the British Nationality Act (BNA) 1981 came into force, British nationality could only be passed down through the male line to children born overseas.

A provision was introduced in 2003, by way of an amendment to the BNA 1981, which allowed for the Registration of persons born to British mothers before 1 January 1983 - however this required a positive action of application - followed by a ceremony at which citizenship is awarded to successful applicants.

I have attached a link to form NQ which, when completed and countersigned by this office, provides confirmation that there is no record of you having registered as a British citizen. If you could complete this form and forward a scanned copy to me by email this will be processed as a priority, a copy scanned to you by email, and the hard copy returned to you by post (International Signed for Delivery). The fee for this service is £234 and a link to a payment mandate is also attached.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards

Caroline
