About the office

The Parliamentary Budget Office (PBO) supports the Parliament by providing independent, authoritative and non-partisan analysis of budgetary issues and the fiscal cost of policy proposals.

The PBO's role comprises three main elements, which are to:

- enable fiscal impacts to be considered during policy development by providing policy costing and budget analysis services to all parliamentarians

- improve public understanding of budget and fiscal policy issues by conducting and publishing research in these areas
- enhance transparency around election commitments by preparing a post-election report on the budget impacts of the election commitments of parliamentary parties.

The PBO values the diverse range of skills and experience of our staff. We seek passionate staff who demonstrate initiative, work with the utmost discretion and confidentiality, and work collaboratively to deliver services to support the Parliament.

The PBO has a flexible working environment. Internal and external opportunities for learning and development are promoted, including access to studies assistance to undertake training which directly relates to the PBO's functions and helps staff reach their career development goals.

The PBO offers attractive salaries and employer superannuation as well as a range of other benefits, including salary packaging.

We are located within the Australian Parliament House. Staff have access to a wide variety of amenities including cafes, on-site childcare, recreational and gym facilities, a post office and bank, and free parking.

About the branches

The PBO has three operational areas:

- The Revenue Analysis Branch is responsible for preparing costings and budget analysis for parliamentarians on matters related to revenue proposals.
- The Program Analysis Branch is responsible for preparing costings and budget analysis for parliamentarians on matters related to expenditure proposals.
- The Fiscal Policy Analysis Division is responsible for leading the PBO's research program on fiscal and budget policy issues, conducting analysis for parliamentarians on whole-of-budget issues and delivering the post-election report of election commitments.

While successful applicants will be offered roles in a particular area, the PBO supports mobility within the organisation as part of career development. There are annual opportunities for rotations and opportunities to be seconded across areas for particular projects.

About the roles

The PBO is seeking senior analysts with an aptitude for policy analysis to work in various branches of the PBO. As a Senior Analyst, you will use your skills and experience in economic, financial, budget or statistical analysis to (depending on the branch you are allocated to) undertake costings of revenue and expenditure proposals; undertake research into, and prepare analyses of, the budget and fiscal policy settings; and contribute to the PBO's program of research.

The primary focus of Revenue Analysis Branch and Program Analysis Branch is preparing estimates of the costs of policy proposals for parliamentarians; the primary focus of Fiscal Policy Analysis Division is conducting quantitative analysis and publishing research papers on budget and fiscal policy matters.

Duties

The duties of the position vary across the operational areas. Duties in all operational areas involve quantitative analysis of the budget.

The main duties in Revenue Analysis Branch and Program Analysis Branch include:

- undertaking costings of revenue and expenditure proposals and drafting related explanatory material
- analysing large datasets utilising tools such as Excel or other statistical or programming packages
- building and/or adapting models and frameworks to analyse the budget
- contributing to the preparation of PBO reports, including analysing budget and economic data to provide insights into budget and fiscal policy settings
- providing technical expertise and assisting in implementing the PBO's annual work plan

The main duties in Fiscal Policy Analysis Division include:

- being an analyst in a small team to prepare several PBO research reports each year, including running, updating and contributing to the development of models and frameworks to analyse the budget
- applying strong written communication skills to the drafting of published reports that are accessible to a wide audience
- analysing large datasets utilising tools such as Excel or other statistical or programming packages
- working across the PBO and with other organisations to obtain data, test the findings of our research and enhance our understanding of the budget
- providing technical expertise and assisting in implementing the PBO's annual work plan.

Application process

The PBO uses a range of assessment options and processes to assist in selecting suitably qualified and experienced applicants, to select the right people for our roles.

What are the steps?

1	Apply	Complete and submit your 'two page pitch' – see below (maximum of 1,200 words) and a resume of no more than three pages.
2	Shortlist	Applicants will be assessed on their written application using the selection criteria in the Australian Public Service Commission's (APSC) Integrated Leadership System (ILS) .
3	Interview	Shortlisted applicants will be invited to attend an interview. This may also include skills testing.
4	Referees	Referees may be contacted for further assessment of suitability.
5	Process complete	After the delegate has approved the process, a merit pool may be established. All applicants will be notified of the outcome of the process.

- your resume (maximum of three pages)
- your 'two page pitch' of no more than 1,200 words, referencing the APSC's ILS, and describing how your skills and experience would contribute to the position within the PBO.

Selection criteria

Applicants will be assessed against the following criteria:

- 1 supports strategic direction
- 2 achieves results
- 3 supports productive working relationships
- 4 displays personal drive and integrity
- 5 communicates with influence.

How to write your 'two page pitch'

Your pitch is your opportunity to tell us why you are the right fit for this position.

Tell us why you want to work for us, and why you are interested in the advertised role. We want to know how your skills and experience would contribute to the role and the work of the PBO. Make sure to highlight relevant examples and accomplishments that demonstrate your ability to perform the role.

Your pitch should be written in an easy to read font and follow a simple, consistent format. Subheadings are acceptable should you wish to use them. Please consider the position requirements and the relevant profile in the ILS when framing your pitch and avoid duplicating information that can be found in your resume.

Our employment framework

Employees in all parliamentary departments are employed under the Parliamentary Service Act 1999. All PBO non-SES employees are engaged under common law agreements.

If you have accepted a redundancy benefit within the previous 36 weeks from a Commonwealth employer (including the Parliamentary Service and the Australian Public Service (APS)), you cannot be employed by the PBO until your exclusion period (the number of weeks for which you received a redundancy benefit) has expired. If you would like to discuss your eligibility, please contact us.

Section 26 of the Parliamentary Service Act 1999 provides for mobility between the Parliamentary Service and the APS. In particular, this ensures full transferability of leave balances and superannuation arrangements. Further information on movement between the Parliamentary

Service and the APS can be found on the APSC's website at <https://www.apsc.gov.au/movement-between-parliamentary-service-and-aps>.
