1	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Nita Green	Dept - Letter from Minister to ABC Chair	Senator GREEN: Minister, why would Minister Fletcher send a letter about the content of a specific program to the ABC chair and not the managing director, given that the managing director is responsible, as editor-in-chief, for editorial decisions at the ABC?	6
2	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - figures around cashflow	Senator PRATT: There's a copy of it here. On page 48, the corporate plan forecast that NBN Co would run a $6.1 billion cash flow loss for the financial year 2020. What cash flow loss did NBN Co run? Mr Atkinson: Isn't that the figure Ms Brown just gave for the cash flow outcome? Senator PRATT: Yes. Ms Brown: What year were you interested in? Senator PRATT: The cash flow loss was 7.4—can you give me the figure again? Ms Brown: The cash flow statement shows net cash used in investing activities, which I don't think is the number you were looking for. Senator PRATT: No. It's a loss figure. The corporate plan of 2020 had a forecast of $6.1 billion. I'm asking what the actual loss was, which is the previous figure I asked for. Page 45 of the 2019 NBN annual report—I have that here as well—says that net cash flows provided by financing activities reflect the drawdown of debt to fund capital expenditure and subscriber costs of approximately $7½ billion, offset by interest payments on borrowings of $352 million and payments for finance leases primarily relating to right of use arrangements over infrastructure provided by Telstra: $385 million. That paragraph indicates that NBN Co ran a $7.5 billion loss in final year 2019. That matches the figures on page 48 of the corporate plan that reports actual for the same period. Am I correct in saying that? Mr Atkinson: Could I clarify? You're talking about a negative cash flow outcome for the year. Senator PRATT: I beg your pardon? Mr Atkinson: You're talking about cash flow, including cash from investing activities that creates assets; is that correct? Senator PRATT: I'm talking about how the figure is derived in NBN Co.'s corporate plan.	11,12

				Mr Atkinson: Yes, but you're talking about cash flow rather than operating. Senator PRATT: Yes, that's right; not the income. Financing activities reflect the drawdown of debt offset by interest on borrowing, finance leases, payments, et cetera. Mr Windeyer : I can see the numbers you're referring to and I wish to double-check. We're happy to come back later in the day and confirm that we're definitely comparing apples with apples in that instance. But, on a quick glance of the various documents, that would be correct.
3	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	Regional broadcasting - consultancies	Senator PRATT: What's the impact on industry of all these consultancies? Here we're looking at a sector that's stressed financially in terms of regional broadcasting. But presumably industry has got to provide that information and the data. Are not these overlapping research projects burdensome? Mr Paterson: I can address the first part of the question in relation to my responsibilities, which is the satellite broadcasting service. We've spoken to the regional broadcasters—all four of the commercial regional broadcasters plus the nationals—and they've actually welcomed this consultancy and have undertaken to cooperate as much as they can. They see it as an opportunity to influence the strategic thinking around the future of the industry and the options for delivery in regional Australia. Senator PRATT: The Boston Consulting Group research, what is its purpose, when will it report to government and will the report be made public? And what will it tell the department that you don't already know from the KordaMentha research? Mr Paterson: It will provide insights into the future of free-to-air TV services in areas where terrestrial transmission is not available. It will look at different technology options. It will look at what consumer preferences are and how they are likely to consume their content. It's due to report by 30 June this year. The KordaMentha work is not run out of my area. Mr Windeyer: I think to your point, these aren't pieces of work that have been commissioned at different points in time—and things are changing quickly in the regional media space—and also they have been looking at slightly different things. So I don't think— Senator PRATT: If you could take on notice what their— Mr Windeyer: there is an overlap piece. But we're happy to take that on notice, yes.	18
4	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	Regional broadcasting - QUT	Senator PRATT: QUT's research, what is the purpose of that and when will that report to government and when will that be made public? Mr Windeyer: The question of when that becomes public will be a matter for government. It has been prepared. Senator PRATT: The government has received it? Mr Windeyer: Certainly that piece of work has been completed and it is being considered by— Senator PRATT: When was it completed and given to government?	19

				Mr Windeyer : I'll take that on notice. We'll be able to get you an answer to that over the course of the day.
5	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	Regional broadcasting - Delivery	Senator PRATT: Thank you. Did that research inform the minister's screen sector reforms? Was the report delivered to government before the announcement of those reforms? Mr Windeyer : Can I take that on notice? We'll just confirm when it was completed and how that fits with the screen sector reforms.	19
6	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	Media Reform Green Paper	Senator PRATT: Mr Atkinson, the green paper—when was the media sector advised that the government intended to release such a paper? Mr Atkinson : I'd have to check the exact date of that.	20
7	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	Australia Post board appointments - Mr Bruce McIver	Senator PRATT: Okay. I had some questions in relation to board appointments for Australia Post. They are technically, I think, corporate questions, so I'll ask them now. Mr Bruce McIver is a former Liberal Party director in Queensland. Did he go through a merit based selection process before being appointed to the board? Was he recommended by the department or appointed by the government? Mr Windeyer: Let me just see if I've got some detail on that here. The general point I guess I would make is that, regarding appointments to boards, the recommendation for where people come from can come from a range of sources— Senator PRATT: Yes, I know that. Did it come from the department in this instance? Mr Windeyer: No, I understand. I'm just going to see whether I've got that for you here or, alternatively, it may be something we can come back to in outcome 5 when I have more officials here. Senator PRATT: Perhaps you can chase it up while Australia Post are giving evidence...	21
8	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	Australia Post board appointments - Mr Tony Nutt	Senator PRATT: ...On Friday 5 March the minister announced the reappointment of Tony Nutt to the board. Can you confirm this appointment was approved by the cabinet on 1 March but announced on the Friday? Mr Windeyer : I'd have to take that on notice. [...] Senator PRATT: Can you give me the date of his reappointment and the date of the approval? Mr Windeyer: We will find out that date— Senator PRATT: Could you take on notice the date of his reappointment and the date of	21

				the expiry of his term please? Mr Windeyer : Yes.
9	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Kimberley Kitching	Australia Post - BCG report - Downgrade of credit rating	Senator KITCHING: The BCG report was in that year, in 2019. In your opening statement you said there was a credit rating downgrade in November 2019. Was the BCG report done partly in response to that? Mr Boys: I will have to ask the Department to the minister to take that question. We have no idea why the commissioned that report. Senator Hume: I can't answer that, Senator Kitching. What I can say is that these sorts of reports are in the normal business of government. Senator KITCHING: I understand that. My question was: was the BCG report done in response to a credit rating downgrade? Senator Hume: I can't answer that. Senator KITCHING: I am happy for you to take it on notice. You'll take it on notice? Senator Hume: I can take that on notice.	33, 34
10	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Kimberley Kitching	Australia Post - BCG report -Public Interest Immunity Claim	Senator KITCHING: Thank you, Chair. Maybe the public interest immunity claim won't extend to the cost of the report, which I understand was $1.3 million; is that correct? Senator Hume: I can't answer that question. I can take it on notice.	34
11	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Kimberley Kitching	Australia Post - BCG report cost	Senator KITCHING: Minister, Australia Post was asked to make a special dividend payment that matches exactly the cost of the BCG report. Is that a coincidence or was that arranged? I am happy for you to take it on notices and ask the shareholding ministers. Senator Hume: I am happy to ask the shareholding ministers, but to imply anything other than coincidence is nothing more than speculation.	35
12	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Nita Green	Legal circumstances around providing the letter from ABC	Senator GREEN: Okay. And how did we go in tabling that letter? Mr Atkinson: My apologies. I need to refer it to the minister to consider a claim for public interest immunity on notice. Senator GREEN: Isn't the letter a letter from the ABC? Have you asked them, because they are downstairs? Mr Atkinson: Yes. Senator GREEN: What did they say? Mr Atkinson: They considered that it is confidential and that it shouldn't be released. Senator KITCHING: Can I ask what the basis for that claim is? Mr Atkinson: The basis would be it would be against the public interest to release it.	42

				Senator PRATT: You have to specify the grounds in which the public interest is offended or compromised and how it is compromised. Mr Atkinson: Yes, and that's a matter for the minister to consider. I'm just asking to refer it on notice to the minister to consider public interest immunity. Senator GREEN: A public interest immunity claim hasn't been made. Mr Atkinson: On the basis of confidentiality. Senator KITCHING: That's not a basis. CHAIR: Secretary, under the standing orders, you need to specify one of the grounds—there are a number of acceptable grounds—and the harm that would be caused in relation to that ground. Mr Atkinson: I just need further advice on the legal circumstances with respect to that letter.
13	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Sarah Hanson-Young	Applications to seek an extension of the RISE Fund	Senator HANSON-YOUNG: Thank you. Have there been any applications from arts organisations to see an extension of the RISE Fund seeing as it seems so oversubscribed? Dr Arnott: I'd have to check whether we've received any actual representations. I hope that in the arts sector more money will be provided.	45
14	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Sarah Hanson-Young	Screen industry - NEDE	Senator HANSON-YOUNG: Perhaps, Minister, you could clarify this: is it the government's intent to have the legislation in place prior to 1 July? Senator Hume: The government anticipates that it will apply from 1 July. Senator HANSON-YOUNG: That's not the question I'm asking. Senator Hume: I can't give you any more clarity than that. Senator HANSON-YOUNG: So you don't know when the parliament will deal with the legislation? Senator Hume: I imagine it will do it in the normal course of business, but it would apply from 1 July. Senator HANSON-YOUNG: What about the changes to the subscription television quotas? Dr Arnott: That is a matter for outcome 5. Mr Atkinson: That's the outcome—I'd just have to check.	46
15	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Kimberley Kitching	Remuneration	Senator KITCHING: My question on notice 2422, was asked of the minister representing the Minister for Communications, Urban Infrastructure, Cities and the Arts on 10 December. I understand that departments change, but it was this: In relation to bonuses, short-term incentives, rewards or gifts - monetary or otherwise - awarded to any executive, employee, officer, contractor or any other person, can the quantum of expenditure be provided for each of the following periods for the portfolio (all departments, agencies, government appointed boards, boards and structures) :	47-48

			1 July 2019 to 30 June 2020; and 1 July 2020 to 10 December 2020. The response was: 'With one department, 28 entities, 115 government appointed boards and 95 other boards and structures in the Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development, and Communications Portfolio, the research required to provide a response to these questions would be an unreasonable diversion of resources.' Really? So now do you know what I've done? I've gone to all of your one department, 28 entities, 115 government appointed boards and 95 other boards and structures, and asked each of them individually. It might have been better for you to answer just one question on notice. Do you have a reason why you couldn't answer it? Ms Spence: Senator, it is as per the response that was provided. Senator KITCHING: Really? Ms Spence: That's an extraordinary amount of information that's being sought in that question. Senator KITCHING: So when I compile this, when I do get this from all of your boards and entities, what are you going to do? That's what I wanted. from this question on notice and now all of your different ones are going to have to do it individually, because I presume the department isn't going to tell the minister that it's an unreasonable diversion of resources for each one. Is that what you're going to do? You may as well tell me now, because I will break it down further. I would really like you to answer these questions on notice rather than just give me the run around, which is what this department has been doing. Ms Spence: Sorry, Senator, we weren't trying to give you the run around. The quantum of the information that's being sought in that question is significant. Senator KITCHING: Other departments do it. I have asked every other department and they managed to do it, but not this one. Ms Spence: Sorry, Senator, but we do have a large number of portfolio agencies associated with this department, far more than any others. Senator PRATT: That's a more reasonable answer. CHAIR: Order! Senator Pratt, let the witness answer the question. Mr Atkinson: The challenge we have is with the number of agencies—with 28 agencies—is that each of them has its own accountable authority or is accountable to the parliament directly. They're not accountable to us for that, so we don't hold on hand the information that you're asking for there. We would be representing third hand what they would be representing to us. And it's quite a broad task: we had over 700 questions on notice from the last estimates on its own, which we do a huge amount of work to answer to give as much transparency as we can. Senator KITCHING: So that was a higher priority than this question on notice, was it?

				Mr Atkinson: No, I wasn't saying that, I was just putting it in context. Senator KITCHING: Really? Because, that's a pretty bad answer. Mr Atkinson: I'm just adding to Ms Spence's answer. Senator KITCHING: That wasn't a good answer either. Mr Atkinson: The unsustainable diversion of resources for that is a very big task— Senator KITCHING: So you couldn't even respond about your department—I asked about your department—and you couldn't even respond to that? One department, 28 entities— Mr Atkinson: We can certainly respond to ours. Senator KITCHING: No, this was your response, 'With one department, 28 entities, 115 government appointed boards and 95 other boards and structures in the department, the research required to provide a response to these questions would be an unreasonable diversion of resources.' You couldn't even respond about your department. Mr Atkinson: Senator, we can respond about our department. Senator KITCHING: Oh good, thank you. This is from 10 December, and you could respond—you could take it on notice perhaps; that might get me a faster response. Maybe you could prioritise it? I would like a response to the question regarding bonuses, short-term incentives et cetera. I would like you to respond to the departmental question, because now I have put them individually to every one of these entities. I would expect the department—the people sitting at this table and, obviously, the minister representing—not to actually dillydally with the responses to those. I don't want any interference coming from the other government appointed boards et cetera in your department. Mr Atkinson: There certainly won't be any of that. CHAIR: Order! Senator Kitching! Senator KITCHING: I would expect those to come from each entity, to come into the department and go to the minister as quickly as you possibly can do it.
16	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Nita Green	RISE fund - embargo	Senator GREEN: How many arts organisations were advised under embargo? These organisations are desperate for funding, and knowing in November 2020 whether or not you are going to get funding was the difference between keeping people employed and not keeping people employed. I want to know how many weeks it took to make these announcements to let people know that they were successful. If they were waiting for the minister to fly in and do an announcement, I want to know that, because that is despicable. ... Dr Arnott : I can assure senators that applicants to the RISE Fund were advised in time to ensure their projects could proceed. Every one of those 115 projects is proceeding. People were advised and provided with funding in time to ensure that projects could go ahead. Senator GREEN: That's different to what I'm asking. That's a different answer to what I'm asking. You're saying, 'It was fine that they had to wait because eventually they found out,	50

				and they were able to have their projects.' But what I want to know is how many people found out about their projects. Even if it was embargoed, it would be good to understand that. You're saying you don't know right now? Ms Spence : I think we've taken it on notice—that we'll get back to you about how applicants are advised, under embargo, between decisions taken and announcements made.
17	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Eric Abetz	SBS - Shanghainese commentator	Senator ABETZ: Is it true that the former president of the Australian Shanghainese Association and a member of the UNITED FRONT Shanghai Overseas Friendship Association has been a regular commentator on SBS Mandarin? Mr Taylor: I'm very happy to take that on notice.	76
18	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Eric Abetz	SBS - Global Chinese-Language Media Forum	Senator ABETZ: Thank you. Did the former head of group for SBS Mandarin and a former casual SBS producer attend the GCLMF multiple times? The GCLMF is the Global Chinese Language Media Forum. Mr Taylor: Again, Senator, I'm really happy to take that on notice and get back to you. Senator ABETZ: That is basically the propaganda arm for the CCP. I'm just wondering if you can let us know whether any person from SBS attended at taxpayers' expense. What on earth were we thinking to fund people to go those sort of conferences?	76
19	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Rex Patrick	SBS - advertising revenue	Senator PATRICK: Not much more. I am trying to reconcile this. I might go to the minister. You've heard the conversation. Does the government take a particular view on this? We know the harm that is done through gambling. You might target gambling ads at a particular time, but almost always they fall within the viewing scope of people who are addicted to gambling. We can go to Health and find out the costs. We can go to Social Security and find out the costs. Here we have a public broadcaster contributing to the problem. Do you have a view on that? Is that appropriate? Senator Hume: I have a personal view, but I will find a view from the minister for you. I will take that on notice.	78
20	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	Dept - anti-siphoning	Senator PRATT: I want to ask some questions about the anti-siphoning list, which was due to sunset on 1 April. What consultation has been undertaken to inform that decision? Ms O'Loughlin: That would be a matter for the department. [... p.93] Senator PRATT: Was ACMA consulted on the decision to continue the current anti-siphoning list until April 2023? Ms O'Loughlin: No. Senator PRATT: Is there a risk that waiting another two years to modernise that anti-siphoning list will undermine rather than support broadcasters and the content available	87, 93, 94

			to all Australians? Ms O'Loughlin: That is a matter of government policy. Senator PRATT: However, based on the existing reporting of services, is it not the case that over-the-top services not subject to the anti-siphoning list are increasingly obtaining rights to sports on the anti-siphoning list? Ms O'Loughlin: Again, I think those questions might be best directed to our colleagues in the department. Senator PRATT: Senator Hume, in the context of your representative role, the government has made a play about saying, 'We're going to look at the anti-siphoning list so that people can still get access to free-to-air sports.' However, the fact is that it's going to take another two years. How can the government maintain an argument that it will support the availability of Australian content to Australians and not undermine it given the time of going out to 2023 is going to mean that those trends will continue? Senator Hume: I'm sure there has been consideration given to that issue. Senator PRATT: You can assure us that there has been consideration, or you assume there has been consideration? I just worry that the consideration has been the opposite—that the Australian government doesn't have the interests of those would want to watch free sports content at heart and that it is rather more interested in the revenue or the access of their corporate friends to this content. Senator Hume: No. I think that is impugning character and I think it is pure speculation. Senator PRATT: Okay. So what assurances can you give me that over-the-top services not subject to the anti-siphoning list are not increasingly obtaining the rights to sports on the anti-siphoning list? Senator Hume: I will come back to you with an explanation. Senator PRATT: In the context of the siphoning list, it means that, for the next two years, free-to-air networks will continue to have the first opportunity to purchase rights to culturally significant events and other major sporting events. However, there are a range of things not on the list that free-to-air networks don't have access to. We're not going to get to reconsider that now until 2023. I don't understand how you can sustain the argument. Senator Hume: The broader issue of the operation of the scheme, on my understanding, can be looked at separately in the context of the green paper. Senator PRATT: The issue is that if the current anti-siphoning list continues until 2023, those not on the list will go to over-the-top services rather than free-to-air services. Senator Hume: These questions are probably better directed to the department. The extension of the list ensures that a list remains in place. The alternative would be that you let it lapse. Senator PRATT: Why can't you review the list as well as putting new sports on it and other
--	--	--	---	--

				services? Senator Hume: I think that is a question best directed to the department. Senator PRATT: Can't you review at the same time as adding new— Senator Hume: I think that is a question better directed to the department.
21	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - peak funding	Senator PRATT: But it's the political figure that the government used when it tried to defend it didn't have a cost blow-out, so I want to know if there was a cost blow-out in the estimated $51 billion. If you reckon there were additional parameters, tell me what they were and tell me, if you were to bring forward the equivalent of the peak funding in that $51 billion, what it would have been. Mr Windeyer: I'd need to take on notice that last question to work out what that might be. I can tell you—and I think the company itself will be able to give you more detail on this—that there were a number of factors that occurred that may well have meant that there was a difference between what actually happened and the forecast. [... p97] Senator PRATT: Okay. So if the parameters haven't changed in terms of the announcements made by the government to backflip on their policy, what would the peak funding have been? Would it have been $51 billion as previously reported? Mr Windeyer: I completely understand that question and that was the one that I said I'm happy to take on notice to see if we can give you an answer to that. That is addressing—comparing what the $51 billion related to, what it— Senator PRATT: If you don't want to compare, you know— Mr Windeyer: Yes. We're happy to take that on notice. ... Senator PRATT: In terms of references to changes in capital requirements due to upgrade announcements and references to cost increases being investments and, therefore, somehow not counting, I find the argument misleading and unrelated to the counting of cost increases for the purposes of what we are discussing if you look at what the principles of peak funding are supposed to pertain to. There were no upgrade or backflip announcements from the government in the 2020 financial year. Those announcements were made on 22 September 2020 after 1 July. So for the purposes of financial year 2020, the larger than expected cash flow loss pertaining to that year is tied to the initial rollout—correct? Mr Windeyer: Senator, I think I follow what you're saying. That is correct, I think, in terms of the timing. What I can't give you but I'm happy to take on notice—or, I suspect, the company will be able to give you a clear explanation—going to the point you talked about this morning and have talked about again this evening, is the explanation of the difference between a forecast and what was reported in the annual report. That— Senator PRATT: Or a failure to make a forecast in the new plan at all.	96, 97, 98

				[... p98] Senator PRATT: Can I just clarify. Why have we just had a big debate about peak funding relating to new parameters and that not being reported, when it is these figures that were not reported in the corporate plan? It was not new parameters and new investments. It was these figures in the $1.3 billion cost increase that weren't reported. Is that not correct? Mr Windeyer: That's why I've undertaken and am happy to try to ascertain the equivalent peak funding number that is, in a sense, the equivalent to the number we have been talking about and to understand, to the best we can, what drives the difference between the numbers you are drawing our attention to in the annual report and the numbers that are in the forecast in the corporate plan. We can't go through all of the lines here, but I think there will be a number of things that drive the difference. To take but one example, you need to perhaps look at what moves across that whole table on page 48 of the corporate plan, which forecasts revenue in 2020 of $3.7billion, and I note the revenue number in the annual report, which we are then comparing it to, ended up being $3.8 billion. So numbers have moved around between what is actually reported and what was forecast.
22	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	Previous QoN (NBN Co) - costings methods	Senator PRATT: I have some questions relating to the last budget estimates, in October. There is question on notice No. 73. The question sources the two claims made by Mr Fletcher through his Twitter account on 12 August, and those claims, as referenced in the question on notice, were that, had the Liberals not abandoned Labor's fibre NBN, the rollout would have taken six to eight years longer and around 4.5 million premises in the fixed line footprint would be unable to connect to the NBN. The government responded to that question and said: The Department provides information and fact checking in support of many of the Communications Minister's speeches. The Department does not directly provide input to tweets by the Communications Minister. There are two primary sources used by the Minister for statements regarding the time and cost to deploy high speed broadband via fibre to the premises vs a multi-technology mix approach, which are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - ... 2016 Corporate Plan, p. 39, published in 2015; and - Strategic Review, Final Report ... Dec 2013 Minister Hume, how is it that the corporate plan is listed as a primary source for the six to eight years claim when Mr Windeyer has previously told the committee—and I can take you back through the Hansard if I need to—that the document did not contain a costing of a Labor policy or plan. Senator Hume: I don't know. I can take that on notice. Senator PRATT: Senator Urquhart asked Mr Windeyer:	100-102

			Can I go back to you, Mr Windeyer. The 2016 corporate plan is not the original Labor policy? And, Mr Windeyer, you said: That is what I said a second ago. No, it is a costing of reversion to a fibre to the premises. The point I was trying to make was solely that we are not sure what the source of those numbers are ... And the statement goes on. We had a debate about the counterfactual evidence, about what would happen if you happened to be illogical enough to deploy a multitechnology mix, absorb massive cost blowouts, and then decide to go back and overbuild that network with fibre. Does that not sound remarkably similar to the point in time that we have arrived at now? Senator Hume: Is that question directed to me or is that directed to— Senator PRATT: Yes. Thank you. Senator Hume: Senator Pratt, I know that you say this with feeling and conviction, but I'm not entirely sure what you are talking about. I'm going to unpack the question and take it on notice and I'll come back to you. Senator PRATT: What we are talking about is the fact that Minister Fletcher has previously falsely ascribed costs to Labor's plan when they didn't cost the Labor policy. In fact, the scenario the minister referenced is, frankly, more closely aligned with the current backflip being formed by the Morrison government. Senator Hume: Once again, there is an awful lot in that statement. I'm quite happy to take the question on notice and unpack what it is that you have asserted there. ... Senator PRATT: But, the question on notice answer says: there are two primary sources used by the Minister for statements regarding the time and cost to deploy high speed broadband and they are the corporate plan of 2016 and the strategic review of 2013. So they're the main sources used, but there is no source that backs up the claim in relation to premises that would not be able to connect to the NBN. Can you point me to any other source? Mr Windeyer: We'd have to take on notice the possibility of other sources. We can take that on notice and see if we can find anything. Senator GREEN: It's a question on notice, and then you gave us an answer. Is the answer wrong? Senator PRATT: It's not relevant? Mr Windeyer: I'm not saying the answer is wrong. We've pointed you to two sources of information, and we have said, 'but we cannot tell you what the actual source used by the minister for the minister's tweets were'. We did not provide any advice on that. We can't answer that question.
--	--	--	---	--

				Senator GREEN: Is he just making it up? [... p102] Senator PRATT: On 23 February in the House of Reps the minister made the following claim, 'If we'd stuck with Labor's plan, then we would in 2020 have had five million fewer Australian premises able to connect.' What is the source of this statement? Mr Windeyer: I would have to take that on notice. Senator PRATT: Has he misled the parliament? Mr Windeyer: I don't know the answer to the question as to the source, so I'd need to take that on notice. Senator PRATT: Okay, but we've just had a very long debate about peak funding, parameters et cetera, and you've gone out of your way to make sure that I understand what's in and what's out in that regard so that those predictions about cost blowouts and debt and what is delivered in those parameters are accurate. Where is the evidence that 4½ million to five million premises would have been unable to connect?
23	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Nita Green	NBN Co - Corporate bonuses	Senator GREEN: I might have to come back to that. I have some questions about some information that we got through a chamber question on notice, question on notice 2386. The answer to that question was overdue by about 50 days, I might add. It revealed that NBN Co had paid out $78 million in corporate bonuses between July 2020 and December 2020. Why isn't this information published in the NBN annual report? Ms Brown: Remuneration paid to employees is not required to be reported. It's remuneration information on senior executives or, in the parlance of corporate law, key management personnel that's reported on in a more granular way. Senator GREEN: But does that matter? It's $78 million of bonuses. It's not necessarily whether you're required to report it. Shouldn't it be reported? The ABC, Australia Post and other organisations report their bonuses. Why is this different? Mr Windeyer: Those organisations—certainly Australia Post—publish the remuneration arrangements for their key management personnel, as does NBN. NBN is publishing its annual report consistent with the requirements and expectations of it. I would have to double-check to confirm whether what it reports is substantially different to the nature of the reporting of those other organisations. Senator GREEN: Well, $78 million in corporate bonuses during the peak of an economic recession and in the middle of $1.3 million of cost blowouts—is that appropriate? Are those types of bonuses appropriate? Mr Windeyer: I don't think I can offer an opinion on that. Obviously matters of remuneration for the senior executives and staff and employees of the NBN are matters for— Senator PRATT: Why is it relevant for Australia Post but not NBN? Mr Windeyer: NBN board and management. Sorry, Senator?	102, 103

				Senator PRATT: Why was it relevant for the government to intervene in the case of Australia Post but not NBN Co? Mr Windeyer: I'm sorry—I'm not sure I understand to what you're referring. Senator GREEN: When did the department become aware that NBN Co was paying out that amount of bonuses? Were you made aware before the Senate question on notice was lodged, or was it a process of: when the question on notice was lodged, you had to go through the process of finding that out, and that's when you became aware?
24	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Samantha McMahon	ABC fact checking	CHAIR: Yes. Noting the ABC, their fact-checking unit earlier today did a fact check on Mr Fletcher's comments around the salaries. They noted that he was correct, that it was a fair call that he made. Are you aware of the analysis? Do you support the fact checking of the ABC? Senator PRATT: The fact check was on NBN Co's ability to make them; it was not on whether they were justified or not. NBN Co said— CHAIR: Senator Pratt, I'm asking the question of the department, on behalf of Senator McMahon	105
25	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Samantha McMahon	NBN - legacy networks	CHAIR: Thank you. The second question, on behalf of Senator McMahon, is: would scenario 1—which I think was the latest plan—have been rolled out in time for COVID-19, and how many Australians would have been stuck on a legacy network when COVID-19 hit? Mr Windeyer: I think the number I gave, based on scenario 1 in the strategic review, was 2026, from memory. Sorry, I'll find the table. Senator GREEN: What year is that strategic review you're reading from? Mr Windeyer: This is the 2013 strategic review. The question related to scenario 1, as described in this strategic review, which indicated a completion date, sorry, in 2024. I'm not sure I can tell you—I can't, from this table, work out how many premises would have been completed by this point in time.	105
26	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Nita Green	RISE fund	Mr Atkinson: Earlier in the day there was a question about when the successful applicants for RISE were notified. They were notified, under embargo, on the day of the announcement, Friday 20 November. Senator GREEN: What were the restrictions on the embargo? Do you know? Were they able to tell their employees? Mr Atkinson : I'd have to take that on notice. I did notice that Dr Arnott was out there before. Can I take that on notice for you? Senator GREEN: Yes. Can you get us the wording of the embargo? Mr Atkinson : I'm sure I can. Senator GREEN: Please table that or take that on notice so we can understand what the restrictions on that were. Mr Atkinson : Certainly.	106

27	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Perin Davey	RISE grants - funding to MPA	Senator DAVEY: And I am absolutely a fan of the RISE grants, because I have spoken to recipients, and they are getting out there and making a difference. Are the RISE grants still open to the major performing arts organisations? I note that they, unlike other applicants, have a guaranteed level of funding which enables them to have a guaranteed level of resourcing, which enables them to potentially prepare, because they can afford fulltime admin staff. I talk to organisations that have a 1.2 FTE staffing equivalent, based on the sniff of an oily rag, and they're competing for the same bucket of money. Is that true for the RISE grants? If so, how do we address that in the future? Mr Collette: I'm going to ask Dr Arnott to respond to that. Dr Arnott: Yes, the major companies are eligible for RISE, but it would only be for projects that were above and beyond what they're funded to do, so they would have to be special projects, if you like. I can't tell you off the top of my head whether more than one or two were funded through the first batch of RISE, but it would be very few. By far the majority went to small to medium organisations. I'm pleased to say that 21 per cent of the first batch of RISE funding went to organisations based in regional and remote Australia. Senator DAVEY: Could you provide on notice how much went to MPA? I will hand back to the chair. Thank you.	115
28	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Nita Green	eSafety Commissioner - Classification Board reviews - overdue	Senator GREEN: Sorry, before you go to the next question, Minister, you said the Classification Board can overrule the decision of the commissioner? Senator Hume: That's right. Senator GREEN: How does that take place? Is that initiated by the Classification Board itself? Can someone go to the Classification Board and ask them to overrule? Senator Hume: I'll take the process on notice. It's important to recognise that the Classification Board and the eSafety Commissioner run on very different time frames. The eSafety Commissioner has to classify online material and that very much needs to be fast moving. So they work on different time horizons, but they do work with regard to each other.	120
29	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	eSafety Commissioner - AAT Review	Senator PRATT: That was a very good direction to go in. The bill before the Senate, including government amendments, would give the commissioner substantial powers to request removal of content, particularly with respect to content deemed offensive under the new Adult Cyber Abuse Scheme. It's likely that the scheme and use of the commissioner's discretionary powers may cause requests for reviews of decisions through the Administrative Appeals Tribunal. Is the department satisfied—and I'll ask you also, Minister—that the AAT is appropriately resourced financially and in terms of the skill set required to discharge these review functions? And I note that sometimes those review decisions on content removal may need to be taken with a great deal of urgency. Senator Hume: Did you want to direct that to me? Senator PRATT: Yes.	120

				Senator Hume: I can take the details of that on notice, but I doubt that the role would be given to the AAT unless it was felt that the appropriate skill set and resources were unavailable.
30	Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications	Louise Pratt	eSafety Commissioner - AAT Review	Senator PRATT: What did you discuss in the context of the skills required within the AAT and their capacity to hear things with urgency, which I understand they already have to do if a decision has to be made urgently. It's harder to make urgent decisions if it's a new skill set for a decision-maker. Indeed, if there aren't adequate resources, can it be done in a timely way without displacing other cases in other fields? Ms Gannon: I was present in those discussions with the Attorney-General's Department. I don't recall the discussions about the AAT going to that level of detail. I would be happy to take that on notice if you would like me to follow up and confirm that. Senator PRATT: I would be grateful if you could take those on notice.	121

94	Australia Council for the Arts	Nita Green	Australia Council - Resilience fund	Senator GREEN: Finally, I think we usually put some questions to you about the breakdown of your grants and the amount of money and the number of grants going to regional areas. Would you mind providing that information for the $5 million Resilience Fund on notice, if you aren't ready? One of the things coming through now, particularly with stage productions in regional areas, is they are struggling to work with touring	113

				companies to get out to regional areas. I'm just wondering if there are particular grants or a particular program that you're focusing on to get touring companies back out into the regions, get the theatres built up, get the live music venues filled up? I know the people in Melbourne will say they've got issues too around live music, but I am talking about getting people back into regional Queensland to put shows on and to get people back into live venues. Mr Collette : The specific question about the Resilience Fund I think we will have to take on notice.
95	Australia Council for the Arts	Perin Davey	RISE fund - allocation	Senator DAVEY: And I am absolutely a fan of the RISE grants, because I have spoken to recipients, and they are getting out there and making a difference. Are the RISE grants still open to the major performing arts organisations? I note that they, unlike other applicants, have a guaranteed level of funding which enables them to have a guaranteed level of resourcing, which enables them to potentially prepare, because they can afford full-time admin staff. I talk to organisations that have a 1.2 FTE staffing equivalent, based on the sniff of an oily rag, and they're competing for the same bucket of money. Is that true for the RISE grants? If so, how do we address that in the future? Mr Collette : I'm going to ask Dr Arnott to respond to that. Dr Arnott : Yes, the major companies are eligible for RISE, but it would only be for projects that were above and beyond what they're funded to do, so they would have to be special projects, if you like. I can't tell you off the top of my head whether more than one or two were funded through the first batch of RISE, but it would be very few. By far the majority went to small to medium organisations. I'm pleased to say that 21 per cent of the first batch of RISE funding went to organisations based in regional and remote Australia. Senator DAVEY: Could you provide on notice how much went to MPA? I will hand back to the chair. Thank you.	115

98	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Andrew Bragg	ABC - Julia Zemiro	Mr Anderson: That is correct. We instituted the code of conduct late last year. It does include the use of personal social media. Senator BRAGG: I want to ask you about a few cases. There is a case with Ms Julia Zemiro, who said on Twitter on 16 March: Peter Dutton you continue to disgrace. Does that mix the professional and the personal? Mr Anderson: Julia Zemiro works for us periodically. She comes on a contract for, say, a show like Julia Zemiro's Home Delivery. She's not an ongoing member of staff for the ABC. Senator BRAGG: So it doesn't apply to contractors? Mr Anderson: Well, it would apply to contractors while they are in the employ of the ABC. So when they are outside of the employ of the ABC, it would be hard to hold Julia Zemiro to account. Senator BRAGG: Of course. Mr Anderson: But it's certainly something- Senator BRAGG: Is she currently an employee or a contractor? Mr Anderson: I would have to get back to you on where we are up to. I shouldn't say whether or not we're doing another series with Julia Zemiro. I'll take that on notice and get back to you.	54
99	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Andrew Bragg	ABC - Four Corners - legal clearance	Senator BRAGG: Why don't we try. Did a barrister review the November Four Corners program and advise that the rape allegations should not be broadcast? Mr Anderson: What I would say is that certainly with any Four Corners program there is a process that includes prepublication, which is part of ABC Legal. Again, I can't answer specifically to that. Senator BRAGG: Okay. So was advice sought for the 26 February article? Mr Anderson: Again, if there is a requirement for any publication on our platforms particularly, there is a process that includes ABC legal and prepublication. So specifically I can't answer that particular question. Senator BRAGG: Okay. But we have to assume from your evidence today that ABC Legal gave clearance in February but wouldn't give it in November. Mr Anderson: Senator, it will invariably depend what was put to the legal department. I will correct what was said earlier. The chair did not approve that program going to air. That sits with me. That responsibility is certainly mine for publishing. It would never go to the chair because it is not part of the chair's responsibilities, as set out by the act. When it comes to whether or not or what was put to the legal team, I'm afraid I can't answer that here today, but I can take it on notice.	55
100	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Andrew Bragg	ABC - Four Corners - ABC Legal	Senator BRAGG: Thank you. One of the key questions here is: where is the line between what the ABC and ABC Legal will stand behind in terms of a program and then a journalist's social media profile? In the case of Four Corners, you've got a program approved apparently by ABC Legal. Then you've got a journalist tweeting about that	55, 56

				material as an ABC personality. Where is the line? What do you approve? Do you approve their tweets? Mr Anderson: No. It is what the code of conduct is very much trying to deal with. We have a social media policy that deals with what is published on our official ABC social media accounts, much like you would put to your digital surround and what you put to air on broadcast, as you would on your own platforms. So the difference being— Senator BRAGG: So if— Mr Anderson: That journalist's use of their personal social media is not an official publication. That is why we have the code of conduct in place. Senator BRAGG: But in this case, where you have Ms Louise Milligan tweeting about this particular Four Corners publication, is she tweeting on behalf of the ABC as an ABC personality, or is she tweeting in a personal capacity? Mr Anderson: Again, that specific question relating to Louise Milligan and her tweets is at the heart of the statement of claim, so I can't respond to that. Senator BRAGG: You can't respond to that? Mr Anderson: Not now. Not the way you've put it to me. On notice I can give you a response, but it won't be a response specific to Louise. Here is the tricky thing. As part of the journalist's job, people will contact them over social media. People will get in touch with them in that way.
101	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Sarah Hanson-Young	ABC - Four Corners - AFP	Senator HANSON-YOUNG: In relation to the Four Corners episode that aired last night in relation to Britney Higgins, has anyone from the government or the AFP sought any information from the ABC in relation to the incident as reported? Mr Anderson: I'm not aware of that. I can take that on notice for you. I'm not aware of that, no. I know that we sought either response or interviews from many people. I know one of them was the AFP. I know that we've been in touch with the AFP with regard to the Britney Higgins story that aired last night, but I don't know what has ensued outside that.	57
102	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Nita Green	ABC - Four Corners	Senator GREEN: I have a follow-on question. Mr Anderson, with the reporting last night, there was a female security guard at the centre of the program. She says that no-one spoke to her for two years even though she was the security guard that found Ms Higgins. Ms Higgins went public with her allegations five weeks ago. Within five weeks, the ABC has managed to find her and speak to her. Did she come forward? Did she seek out your journalists, or were you able to find her? Were your journalists able to find her? Mr Anderson: I'm afraid I don't know. I can answer that for you on notice. I don't know if we found her or whether she found us. I don't know.	58
103	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Eric Abetz	ABC - John Sullivan - charges and checks	Senator ABETZ: Was the ABC aware that Sullivan already faced riot and criminal mischief charges for his participation in a Black Lives Matter protest the June before? Mr Anderson : I'll have to get back to you on notice, Senator, as to whether or not we knew.	60, 61

				Senator ABETZ: All right. What checks did the ABC make of Sullivan's background before engaging him? Mr Anderson : I'll take that on notice.
104	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Eric Abetz	ABC - Four Corners - capitol riots	Senator ABETZ: Thank you. In the Four Corners report on 1 February on the riot at the Capitol, the reporter repeatedly blames the far right. Fine, but why did she not acknowledge that the rioters also included activists of the left, specifically John Sullivan, and that he had egged on the crowd? For example, he was recorded in his own video saying, 'Burn this s-h-i-t.' Why wasn't that part of the reporting by the ABC to provide some balance to the horrendous activities that occurred in the Capitol of the US on that occasion? Mr Anderson: While I will provide you a more comprehensive answer on notice, my first response would be that we did not use Mr Sullivan as talent in the program. He was not interviewed for the program. Senator ABETZ: But we paid him for the footage—$US2½ thousand of taxpayers' money for somebody who has antecedents that I hope no public funds would have been expended upon. Mr Anderson: It is not uncommon for us to pay people for footage where they own the copyright for it for use in our programs. Senator ABETZ: But somebody who is charged with criminal mischief charges and goes running around saying 'Burn this s-h-i-t' down?' We don't have any concern about this at all? Mr Anderson : I will give you a full response on notice about— Senator ABETZ: Thank you. CHAIR: Senator Abetz, please let Mr Anderson finish his answer. Senator ABETZ: Sorry. I'm just conscious of time. Mr Anderson : what decision we made and why. Senator ABETZ: If you can let us know who authorised the payment and who made the approach to Mr Sullivan and how all that was organised in some considerable decision, I would be much obliged.	61
105	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Eric Abetz	ABC - Bonuses	Senator ABETZ: There are certain things in your annual report which tells us about the average bonus. As we know, an average is an average. So I'm interested in what was the highest bonus. I might even translate that into Cartier watches for you afterwards. But tell us what the highest bonus is. Mr Anderson: I will give you the highest on notice, but I will de-identify the person, of course. Senator ABETZ: I'm not asking for the person, just the amount. You don't know? Mr Anderson: I will give you the context. There are people that are covered under our employment agreement that we would suggest are red book, where there are obligations	61

				in the employment agreement with regard to that, and then individual ones. Then we have executives—
106	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Eric Abetz	ABC - WeChat	Senator ABETZ: Look, fine. You can provide all that on notice given that you're unable to provide the actual figure to us. So we'll move on, if I may. Does the ABC manage a WeChat account, ABC Australia, which is registered to a China based company—I hope I pronounce this correctly—Shanghai Ao Pa Si Cultural Development Company Ltd? Mr Anderson: I do think that we—whether we manage it—have a WeChat account, yes. Senator ABETZ: Who operates that account? Mr Anderson: I'll get back to you on notice. There are two areas. We have our Asia-Pacific newsroom, which is based in Melbourne. We also have what is the international services, which look after— Senator ABETZ: I understand all that. I'm sorry to interrupt, but I've only asked about the WeChat and who operates it. You've taken that on notice. Mr Anderson: It will be in one of those two places. I will give an answer on notice.	61
107	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Eric Abetz	ABC - Global Chinese Language Media	Senator ABETZ: Can you confirm that the ABC's Chinese programs executive producer attended the Global Chinese Language Media Forum repeatedly—at least in 2011, 2013 and 2015? Did he do so at taxpayers' expense? Mr Anderson: I'll have to get back to you, Senator.	61
108	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Eric Abetz	ABC - reporting of Armenian genocide	Senator ABETZ: Take that on notice. On Friday, 18 December 2020, the ABC published an article discussing the importance of the recognition of the republic of Artsakh to prevent a second Armenian genocide. Only a few days later, that article was taken down, which led to a public outcry as to why the article had been removed, and a new version reappeared. In 2018, Mr Sullivan told us that, 'As a general rule, we certainly don't, in relation to the Armenian genocide, provide prescriptive advice to our teams on how they must refer to it.' So what influence caused the reference to the historical fact, I would assert, of the Armenian genocide to be sanitised to conflict? Who complained? Why was 'genocide' changed to 'conflict'?	62
109	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Eric Abetz	ABC - Four Corners - budget allocation	Senator ABETZ: On notice, if you don't have all the information there. Does Four Corners have a separate annual internal budget allocation? If so, how much is it? Mr Anderson: I will provide that on notice to you as well. It does change from year to year depending on their activities. Senator ABETZ: This year, what is its budget? Basically, I want to know whether there is a global budget for it from which they can't get more money. Mr Anderson: There is. Senator ABETZ: Who decides how much is spent on each segment and program and allocating the funding—for example, spending $2½ thousand of it for somebody like a Mr Sullivan? Mr Anderson: We'll get you the number. The head of investigations is John Lyons. He will	62 have program budgets for Four Corners, 7.30 and Q+A. And we manage— Senator ABETZ: If you give us the one for Four Corners for this period of 12 months, that would be most helpful.

110	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Sarah Hanson-Young	ABC - Facebook	Senator HANSON-YOUNG: How much of the ABC's content is shared on Facebook generally? How much traffic do you get through Facebook? Can you judge that specifically? Do you know how to measure that? Mr Anderson: I have a figure in my head that is around 20 per cent, but I will confirm to you on notice. But it is certainly not as high as Google.	63
111	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Alexander Antic	ABC websites - ABC Everyday	Senator ANTIC: So what ratings apply to it? There are clicks, I suppose. How do they compare with the market equivalents, I suppose? Mr Anderson: I will give you the audience figures that we have with regard to audience and audience increase since we did the rebrand from ABC Life and whatever other relevant information we have, such as engagement.	67
112	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Alexander Antic	ABC websites	Mr Anderson: We have a structured platform brand. So we've got ABC TV, ABC TV Plus, which is our secondary channel, which was a rebrand that happened at the beginning of this year. We believe the value that provides to the Australian taxpayer is that there's a range of genres that otherwise are not seen in prime time on the main channel. There are things like arts. So we'll have arts three nights a week. We'll have other factual documentaries. We'll have programs that otherwise are on the main channel that can be repeated there as well. That is ABC TV Plus. You mentioned ABC Pride. ABC Pride is a staff-led group representing our LGBTQI+ staff members that is self-organised as a group. We also have ABC Belong, which represents our CALD staff. We have the Bonner committee, which represents Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander staff, and we have ABC Inclusion, which represents staff living with a disability. They are all staff-led groups. They are not brand propositions. Senator ANTIC: I will ask you to take the questions about the costs to the taxpayer of each of those and the ratings, where that's applicable, on notice, perhaps. It does appear from the outside that the ABC picks and chooses a bit when it comes to these programs and the programming. I'm interested why that is. We now know, for example, that 51 per cent of Australians identify, as at the last census, as Christians and yet there isn't an ABC Faith or an ABC Religion. What is the rationale for that? They are people we want to cater to as well, I would have thought. Mr Anderson: Certainly. The names I mentioned earlier are staff-led groups. They are not brands for content that is otherwise reaching the Australian people. When it comes to people who are Christians and having content that appeals to them, we do have Compass. We're the only organisation, I would say, that has a religion and ethics department that spans TV, radio and online. Compass is a program that will often explore Christian faith. If	67

				we ever move Songs of Praise on a Sunday, that is otherwise at 11.30 am, I hear from people about that. We do have it represented in our other content.
113	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Gerard Rennick	ABC article - Groom Preselection	Senator RENNICK: My next question concerns an article that was reported by a Toowoomba correspondent last year about the Groom preselection. It basically implied that the Groom FDC had a woman problem because a woman wasn't selected for the position of the LNP candidate. The two women that were named as frontrunners weren't members of the LNP prior to the preselection. This wasn't reported. Section 8 of your legislation says you have to be accurate. I think that was an extremely misleading article, implying that members of Groom had a woman problem because they didn't pick a woman over the eventual winner, Garth Hamilton. This was a week before the general election. I would argue that it was tainted as well because it was trying to influence an outcome. Why wasn't more accurate reporting done on this article? Why is the ABC obsessed with trying to make out that the LNP has a woman problem? Mr Anderson: I'm not aware of the article. I will take a look at it and provide you a response on notice.	69, 70
114	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Gerard Rennick	ABC - reporting on assault allegations	Senator RENNICK: Thank you. I have one more question. I know there is a conversation between Patricia Karvelas and Fran Kelly about the time there were rape allegations made against former opposition leader Bill Shorten. There was no discussion about it at that time by the ABC, which I think was the right thing to do. They were saying that had that come up now, there would have been discussion. I find it interesting, given that Bill Shorten is still a member of the parliament, that there was never any discussion about that, yet you were more than happy to run news stories about Christian Porter. Don't you think there is a bit of imbalance between the reporting on one allegation versus another allegation? Mr Anderson: I would have to look into that. I haven't heard that conversation between Fran and Patricia. I did not know at the time the investigation happened into Bill Shorten about the decisions around it or what we knew at the time. I will give you a response on notice.	70
115	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Alexander Antic	ABC - Abortion Action Coalition rally	Senator ANTIC: Mr Anderson, on 6 February this year, there was a pro-life rally in Adelaide called Walk for Life, which was a protest rally against the late term abortion bill coming up before state parliament. It was reported on ABC News that night that hundreds of people turned up to the event when, in fact, something in the order of 5,000 people turned up. In that same broadcast, the interviewer interviewed two people opposed to the position of the protestors. Only a week later, the ABC reported on the Abortion Action Coalition rally, which was about the flipside of the coin—those who were supportive of the legislation. It correctly reported the numbers in those cases. Once again, it put forward people in its vox pop who were supportive of the position, which was that the legislation should pass. I think we're all probably used to the editorialising.	70

				That sort of goes with the flow. I think there was later a correction about the numbers. Is that a deliberate editorial position? It seems to me that every time there is an error in this regard, it always falls to the left-wing side of the coin. It seems to be almost always on one side of the coin. How does that continue to happen when the reporting is so unbalanced? Mr Anderson: No. There is no intention here. We are required to be impartial and accurate at all times. It sounds like there was a complaint or somehow we've updated whatever we did. I don't believe there is systemic bias in the way that we approach this. We can look at that on notice and get back to you as to what happened during that. I can also give you some statistics about upheld complaints that might change your view on whether it is—
116	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Alexander Antic	ABC - foreign influence	Senator ANTIC: I have one last question. There are a number of instances, I understand, in which this applies. The ABC regularly invites people such as Geoff Raby to be interviewed on TV. On regular occasions, it is my understanding, it has failed to mention that this person and others have signed and are subject to the provisions of the FIT Scheme, the Foreign Influence Transparency Scheme. In this instance, this person was recorded on that scheme as a Chinese agent of influence or a person of foreign influence. Are the ABC's processes in terms of declaring those interests or those nominations on the registry form stringent enough if those matters are not being disclosed to the viewing audience? Mr Anderson: We have people on lists, if you like, who are people that we will go to if we have them on a panel, such as The Drum or Q+A. It is a specific issue that might relate to an individual. That is how they will be selected to be interviewed. I think the disclosure of affiliations is possibly relevant to the story itself. Senator ANTIC: But is it not always relevant that somebody is subject to the whims of that scheme? That's what it's for. That person is being put forward as an expert. It would be material, I would have thought, to know that they are recorded in this manner. Mr Anderson: I would need to see the circumstances by which the person is being interviewed and whether or not that would be relevant. I will provide you a response on notice.	71
117	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Samantha McMahon	ABC - Kristy O'Brien - Campaigning	Senator McMAHON: I would like to jump momentarily to the role of ABC reporter Kristy O'Brien in the NT election campaign. You will probably know I asked questions late last year. You stated in response to my questions on notice: Ms O'Brien was on maternity leave from the ABC prior to and during the election campaign. Ms O'Brien has assured her managers and the ABC that she did not campaign for Mr Gunner or the ALP at any stage during the campaign. However, recent media reports based on FOI have revealed that taxpayer funded campaign trips show that Ms O'Brien was on campaign in the lead-up to the NT election with her husband at taxpayer expense. Did she disclose these trips to the ABC?	72

				Mr Anderson: Senator, we're going to have to take that on notice, I'm afraid. Senator McMAHON: So you're not aware of whether she disclosed her trips during campaigning, even though you stated that she did not? Mr Anderson: Well, we've provided the answer on notice. If there are subsequent reports, we will have a look at them and come back to you on notice.
118	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Samantha McMahon	ABC - Kristy O'Brien - Hospitality	Senator McMAHON: Did she disclose to the ABC that she benefited from hospitality claims at NT taxpayer expense during these trips? Mr Anderson: Again, Senator, if we haven't provided that to you on notice before, I don't know. We will come back to you on notice.	72
119	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Benjamin Small	ABC - letter from Minister to ABC Chair - consultation	Senator SMALL : Thanks for that. I will go back to the letter from the chair to the minister that was reviewed by the management team but not you. Would you be able to provide— Mr Anderson : It was not reviewed. The final letter was not reviewed by the management team. There was input that was provided by me and the management team. None of us saw the final letter as it was sent to the minister. Senator SMALL : What other roles aside from the managing director's role were consulted? Mr Anderson : Look, I will have to get back to you on notice.	74

127	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Andrew Bragg	ABC - Australia/Israel and Jewish Affairs Council and allegations of political interference in the ABC	1. Previous ABC managing directors and editorial directors have given evidence at Estimates that the ABC editorial complaints procedure is "independent" because investigations are conducted by ABC staff who are not working on the particular program facing complaints. Do you agree with your predecessors that the ABC has an "independent" complaints procedure? 2. Regardless of how this complaints process works in practice, there is a public perception that the public broadcaster has an editorial policy that is not independently enforced. Does this public perception concern you? What can be done to provide confidence to ABC viewers/listeners that complaints are adequately considered? 3. The current complaints procedure has been in place for a decade now, the percentage of complaints upheld is extremely low and referrals to ACMA even lower. Are there any plans to undertake a review to assess the efficacy of the current complaints?	Written
128	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Andrew Bragg	ABC - Recognition at the ABC of the Armenian Genocide and possible editorial interference	On Friday 18th December 2020, the Australian Broadcasting Corporation (ABC) published an article summarising an interview with Serj Tankian, frontman of Grammy Award-winning System Of A Down on the national broadcaster's Triple J Radio Station. Tankian had been quoted discussing the importance of the recognition of the Republic of Artsakh to prevent a second Armenian Genocide, explaining this as the motivation for the band getting back together to produce their new songs "Protect the Land" and "Genocidal Humanoidz", after a 15-year recording hiatus. However, only a few days later, this article was taken down by the ABC. Then, several days later after a public outcry as to why the article had been removed, a new version of the article – which was heavily edited to appease Azerbaijani and Turkish complaints – reappeared. 1. Why was this article originally removed? The original article that was removed from ABC's website was titled: "Inside System Of A Down's Reunion and the Armenian Genocide That Spurred It", and the sanitised version after Tankian and many Australians took to social media to correct the apparent censorship is titled: "Inside System Of A Down's reunion and the conflict that spurred it" – the replacing of "Armenian Genocide" with "conflict" is typical of the kind of changes that were made to the body of the article. The republished version contains an Editor's Note, which reads: "EDITOR'S NOTE, January 14 2021: This story has been amended to include more context on the conflict in Artsakh / Nagorno-Karabakh. The headline has been changed	Written

				accordingly. This article has also been amended to remove some contested claims." 2. Does the ABC allow complaints from foreign nations or their representatives to influence their editorial policy? In 2018, Mr. Sunderland representing the ABC told these hearings that the ABC doesn't, "as a general rule, and we certainly don't in relation to the Armenian genocide, provide prescriptive advice to our teams on how they must refer to it. Whether we're talking about the Armenian genocide or any other issue, we simply ask people to be accurate and to reflect the facts of the matter in the way they describe these events." 3. Has this policy of allowing editorial integrity changed at the ABC regarding the Armenian Genocide? 4. What influence caused the reference to the historical fact of the Armenian Genocide (unequivocally recognised by the International Association of Genocide Scholars and one of the seminal events which inspired the international lawyer and author of the UN Genocide Convention to coin the term "genocide") to be sanitised to "conflict"? 5. If no, then why, after requests for clarification and correction, on the 9th February 2021, Triple J Audience responded to queries from the Armenian-Australian community, citing that they: "temporarily unpublished the article for further editing as required by the ABC's Editorial policies"? 6. If yes, what has caused this change in editorial policy? 7. Once again, does the ABC allow complaints from foreign nations or their representatives to influence their editorial policy? 8. Has the ABC received any representation from foreign nations or their representatives regarding the Armenian Genocide or Nagorno Karabakh articles in question?

131	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Benjamin Small	ABC - Blackburn Report	1. In 2019, the ABC conducted a review of the impartiality of its election coverage by Kerry Blackburn. That review made some significant negative findings in relation to The Drum and Insiders. In fact, that review found that: In 3 of 5 editions of The Drum there was a predominance of views which favoured Labour and/or the idea or policies most often associated with the Left of politics (p8) Similarly in relation to Insiders – there was a substantial shortfall in positive reflection of the Coalition’s prospects, policies or performance compared to Labor (p8); In fact in one case, the episode of The Drum on 6 May – the reviewer found the nature of the disparity was so great that it was “not just a positive impression for policies identified with Labour’s platform but also at times a marked enthusiasm for a Labor victory” (p30); Two presenters slipped and referred to Bill Shorten as the Prime Minister, and this was only corrected on one occasion. (p31) a. Do you think this kind of bias is acceptable and in accordance with the obligations in the ABC’s Charter? b. 135	Australian Broadcasting Corporation	Alexander Antic	ABC - Failure to broadcast speech of Nicolle Flint MP	On 24 March 2021 Nicolle Flint MP gave an adjournment speech to Parliament at approximately 7.55pm concerning ABC's failure to report on the reality of physical and sexual abuse in remote communities and went on to quote Cheron Long whose cousin Layla Leering, was one of three teenage girls whose alleged suicide deaths were examined in an inquest last year. The ABC's national radio broadcast of the proceedings of Parliament on 24 March 2021 cut away from Ms Flint's speech as she began to quote Ms Long, and instead broadcast approximately twenty seconds of silence, omitting from the radio broadcast of Parliament the very topic and substance which Ms Flint had only moments earlier criticised the ABC for not reporting on. 15. Why did ABC not broadcast in full Ms Flint's speech given to Parliament on 24 March 2021 at approximately 7.55pm and instead broadcast approximately twenty seconds of silence ("the Failure to Broadcast")? 16. Was the Failure to Broadcast intentional? 17. What steps has the ABC taken to investigate the Failure to Broadcast? 18. What steps has the ABC taken to ensure that similar events do not occur in the future? 19. Has the ABC re-broadcasted or taken steps to re-broadcast Ms Flint's speech in full, in order to properly broadcast the goings on of Parliament, but more so to ensure that the words and story of Ms Cheron Long are properly reported on? 20. Why does the ABC consistently fail to report on the reality of physical and sexual abuse in remote communities? The Parliamentary Broadcasting Act 1946 (Cth) established the Joint Committee on the Broadcasting of Parliamentary Proceedings, which controls the broadcasting of parliamentary proceedings. Part 4 Section (1) of that Act it provides that: "The Australian Broadcasting Corporation shall broadcast the proceedings of the Senate, the House of Representatives... upon such days and during such periods as the Committee determines." 21. 138	Australian Communications and Media Authority	Rachel Siewert	Breaches Interactive Gambling Act	Ms Rainsford: Thank you for the question. I think at last estimates I shared that we had identified 20 affiliates that were of interest. Since the last hearings, we've expanded that to now 21. We have now concluded seven investigations of affiliates. In each case, we have found that those providers did breach various provisions of the Interactive Gambling Act. Senator SIEWERT: Did you say 'did'? Ms Rainsford: Yes. Each of those breached it. Three of them have since withdrawn from the Australian market. In the remainder, we are contemplating what sort of enforcement action we may be able to take to disrupt those services, including the possibility of website blocking. We have 14 investigations open at the moment. So that's the balance of the 21 identified. Senator SIEWERT: I want to come back to the blocking issue in a minute. Ms Rainsford: Of course. Senator SIEWERT: Seven investigated at the moment and three have withdrawn? Ms Rainsford: Of the seven that we finalised, three of them have withdrawn from the Australian market. Senator SIEWERT: Who are they? Ms Rainsford: I don't have those names with me. Ms O'Loughlin: There may be somebody in the room who can pass that information on. Senator SIEWERT: While you're looking, I'll continue asking questions, if that's okay. Ms Rainsford: I'm sorry, I think we'll have to take that question on notice. ... Senator SIEWERT: Are you able to expand a bit—or maybe you need to take it on notice—the nature of the rules that were broken, the illegal act, in terms of these affiliates? Ms O'Loughlin: We might need to take that on notice. We can also give you a bit further explanation about the breaches we found and how we are approaching it. ... Senator SIEWERT: So how many of the 238 would have been mirrored if it is 60 per cent? Ms O'Loughlin: I don't think we've got that data in front of us. We would be happy to provide that on notice to you. Ms Chapman: I've got 206 up until the end of last year. Fifty-six of them were original and	83, 84

139	Australian Communications and Media Authority	Gerard Rennick	ACMA - Broadcasting codes	Senator RENNICK: Are there journalistic standards in the media that ensure that once something becomes a criminal allegation, the journalists don't report on it until it is reported to the police? ... Ms O'Loughlin: It may be dealt with in the editorial policies of the broadcasters. It's not necessarily covered by the codes of practice for which we have responsibility. I would like to see that on notice for you and carefully think about it and come back to you. Senator RENNICK: Sure. Do you think there is a need for the journalism industry to have a code of conduct around criminal allegations so that a fair and balanced trial isn't breached? Ms O'Loughlin: The broadcasting industry codes are— Senator PRATT: Only for the undercover Russian government. CHAIR: Senator Pratt, you don't have the call. Ms O'Loughlin: The broadcasting industry codes are only part of the puzzle. Of course, there are journalistic standards set by the Australian Press Council. There are also, as Creina indicated, journalistic standards set by the media and entertainment alliance. Then there will be editorial policies of individual broadcasters or publishers. So it is a bit of a matrix, but I'm happy to take that offline and provide— Ms Chapman: And there would also be rules of the courts. In some cases, they will be abiding by whatever the court has dictated. Ms O'Loughlin: We will provide some further advice on that for you.	84, 85
140	Australian Communications and Media Authority	Louise Pratt	ACMA - Spectrum	Senator PRATT: You are saying that that will be a decision around the efficient use of spectrum, not the return to the bottom line of the budget. Could you take on notice, please, what you mean by efficiency? Ms O'Loughlin: Certainly. There are various things set out in the Radiocommunications Act about what we need to take into account in our spectrum management process. Obviously, the decision to move to that new type of arrangement would be a matter for government. Our role would be around when we were auctioning off the spectrum.	87
141	Australian Communications and Media Authority	Rex Patrick	ACMA - Regional and Small Publishers Innovation Fund	Senator PATRICK: I will go back a step with the history of this. This is one of the programs negotiated by Senator Xenophon in relation to some of the media reforms. I wonder if you have done any analysis as to the benefits that have been associated with the spend of that money and whether or not that would be available for the committee to look at? You spent X amount of money. This is the value you think you got from that money. Have you done any analysis on that? Ms O'Loughlin: I think we could certainly take that on notice. I think we have done certainly some internal analysis. We found that there have been quite significant benefits	88

				through each of the rounds in terms of the sustainability of many of those publishers; their ability to move some of their services into an online space rather than containing it only to their traditional print publication; and the ability to introduce new systems and processes which would have taken them much more time if they had waited to do their own investment. So I think we can tease that out. I think my colleague next to me will have some further advice for you. Ms Rainsford: I could run through a list of, I guess, at a high level, what we consider some of the benefits have been from the 36 grants that were completed by the end of the year. I'm happy to take that on notice if— Senator PATRICK: Yes. Could you do that by way of some sort of short report card on the program that spells out how many jobs you think it saved and what the type of cost to the program was? Ms Rainsford : I'm happy to take that on notice for you.
142	Australian Communications and Media Authority	Louise Pratt	ACMA - Australian content	Ms Rainsford : Yes. The triennial for children's completed at the end of last year. We would expect the reporting against that to come through. I don't know the exact dates of that. But the drama triennium was partway through when the arrangements changed with the new content standard at 1 January. Senator PRATT: In that context, are you able to advise whether the triennial content obligations were met? Ms O'Loughlin : We will separate out the children's and the drama. In terms of the children's triennium, which went to 2020, we did indicate that we would not take enforcement actions for non-compliance with that triennium obligation as long as licensees broadcast at least 64 hours of first release Australian children's drama during that time. So there was a decision there. That would be part of the data that is before us at the moment. Senator PRATT: I want to know what those impacts are. Does ACMA consider that, with the impact of the content quota suspension and the minister's decision to relax the quotas, there will be a reduction in Australian content overall? Ms O'Loughlin: You are asking me for an opinion. Senator PRATT: So you will be able to give us an answer to that substantively once you've assessed the data? Ms O'Loughlin: We will be able to give you the data on the 2020 year and ACMA's decision to forbear in that year and whether or not we need to forbear on any non-compliance for 2020.	90

156	Australian Postal Corporation	Kimberley Kitching	Australia Post - Ms Holgate departure	Senator KITCHING: Could I ask some follow-up questions to Senator McKenzie's. I want to clarify some things. Did Ms Holgate receive severance pay? Mr Di Bartolomeo: No. Senator KITCHING: Not even of entitlements? Senator McKENZIE: Not even a going-away watch? Mr Di Bartolomeo: She received her due annual leave entitlements, yes, and nothing else. Senator KITCHING: So she doesn't have an email account anymore? Mr Di Bartolomeo: I do not believe she has. Senator KITCHING: And she's not on the books in any way? Mr Di Bartolomeo: Not in any way. Senator KITCHING: What was the date on which Ms Holgate signed documents for Australia Post? Mr Di Bartolomeo: I will take that on notice.	28
157	Australian Postal Corporation	Kimberley Kitching	Australia Post - Internal Review	Senator KITCHING: Thank you. In response to Senator McKenzie you said you found 32 opportunities to enhance processes; what did you call the document? Mr Boys: It was just an internal review that we undertook. Senator McKENZIE: An investigation into the proper use—	28

				Mr Boys: It was a review. Senator KITCHING: Are you able to table that document? I would like it to include the 32 opportunities for enhancement. Mr Di Bartolomeo: We'll take that on notice.
158	Australian Postal Corporation	Bridget McKenzie	Australia Post - BCG Review	Senator McKENZIE: Have you read the final report of the review? Mr Di Bartolomeo: No, I haven't read the final report of the review. Senator McKENZIE: Have you read the draft of the final report? Mr Di Bartolomeo: We've read a draft; we've been shown a draft that was shared with us. Whether that was the final draft, whether there were changes made, I don't know because we haven't seen the final review. Senator McKENZIE: Right. When did you get a copy of the final draft? Mr Di Bartolomeo: Again, I'll take that on notice. It would have been early February or late February, about that period.	31
159	Australian Postal Corporation	Bridget McKenzie	Australia Post - BCG review - Draft report	Senator McKENZIE: Mr Boys, have you read a final final draft or the final report? Mr Boys: I'm not sure what version of the report it is that I have read, but I have read one that's labelled 'Draft' around a similar time. Senator McKENZIE: Was that after February? Mr Boys: No. Senator McKENZIE: There's nothing later than February? Mr Boys: Not that I'm aware of. Senator McKENZIE: To your knowledge, has anyone in your organisation read a draft report of the review of a later iteration? Mr Boys: I'd have to take that on notice, but not that I'm aware of. We received a report that we understand was in the later stages of completion by BCG, and that's all we know.	32
160	Australian Postal Corporation	Bridget McKenzie	Australia Post - McKinsey Engagement	Senator McKENZIE: And your McKinsey work is based on that reading of that report? Mr Boys: No. McKinsey didn't see the BCG report. Senator McKENZIE: No, I know McKinsey didn't; you did. And then you commissioned McKinsey. When was McKinsey commissioned to do its piece of work? Mr Boys: I'll have to take that question on notice.	32
161	Australian Postal Corporation	Kimberley Kitching	Australia Post - Board	Senator KITCHING: Can I ask you to table the skills matrix of the board. Sometimes when people are doing board selections they are following categories of someone who knows something about one thing. You might have an accountant, a lawyer-that sort of thing. Do you have such a matrix-for the board, I'm talking about now? Mr Di Bartolomeo: For the board, not the CEO search? Senator KITCHING: I'm interested in that too. But for the board, I would be interested in, because for the members on the CEO search committee obviously you would want people who can- Mr Di Bartolomeo: The board has just concluded an independent review of board	37

				performance, as we do. We haven't finalised it. There's a report going back to the shareholders but one of the things it identifies is the skill mix that the Australia Post board we believe needs. Senator KITCHING: When you say 'shareholders', that's the two ministers? Mr Di Bartolomeo: Yes. Senator KITCHING: Even though obviously it's- Mr Di Bartolomeo: Acting on behalf of all shareholders, yes; the two shareholder ministers, yes. Senator KITCHING: That doesn't mean we necessarily see it. So what I'm really asking you is: in that review by the board-
162	Australian Postal Corporation	Bridget McKenzie	Australia Post - CEO	1. Mr. Di Bartolomeo, I wrote to you on 21 January this year to ensure that the successful candidate for the Chief Executive Officer position at Australia Post will continue to improve the profitability and viability of the 2,520 Australia Post retail outlets located in regional, rural and remote Australia. I am yet to receive a response. Can you provide an update on how the recruitment process is progressing? a. Can you outline the current strategies that Australia Post has in place to support the profitability and viability of post outlets in regional, rural and remote Australia? b. What strategies are in place to maintain accessible, reliable and affordable postal services in regional, rural and remote Australia? c. My letter highlighted the innovative approaches implemented by Ms. Holgate to increase the profitability and sustainability of postal services and retail outlets particularly in rural and regional Australia, including Bank@Post, investment to manage growth in parcel volumes, increased safety-net minimum payment for Community Post Office partners in regional areas, and expansion of retail offerings. How will Australia Post implement key performance indicators for the new Chief Executive Officer to continue to improve the profitability and viability of retail outlets in rural Australia as outlined in my letter? i. Can you confirm these key performance indicators will be developed? d. I also wrote in my letter that a parallel objective for the incoming CEO should be to increase services delivered by Australia Post in the regions while (at a minimum) maintaining the number of retail outlets, service standards and quality of delivery in line with Australia Post's Community Service Obligations. What key performance indicators has Australia Post implemented to monitor and achieve this outcome? i. Can you confirm that these key performance indicators will be developed? 2. The Australian Government supported recommendation 3 of the Senate Environment and Communications Legislation Committee report The Future of Australia Post's Service Delivery, that should the Australian government choose to implement future strategic changes to the postal service, the consultation process should consider proposals for	Written

163	Australian Postal Corporation	Malcolm Roberts	Australia Post - Bank@Post contracts	Have the Bank@Post contracts been renewed with the banks that originally signed for the 3-year terms? If not, will they be renewed and when? Community access to banking is now even more vital than prior to 2018. 182	NBN Co Limited	Anne Urquhart	NBN Co - Retail Prices	Senator URQUHART: If retail providers were to increase prices on the 50-megabit-per-second bundle, how many households could that impact? Would it be around up to 4.3 million? Mr Whitcomb: If you're asking how many retail customers are on the 50, we could provide you with that specific, but, again, we're talking about 65 retailers. As far as I know, they all operate independently. Senator URQUHART: No. I'm asking: if retail providers were to increase prices on the 50-megabit-per-second bundle, how many households could that impact? How many are on there now? Mr Whitcomb: Let me get that number for you.	10
183	NBN Co Limited	Anne Urquhart	NBN Co - Take-up Rate	Senator URQUHART: According to the ACCC's market indicators report, NBN Co has a take-up rate of 72 per cent in the fibre-to-the-node footprint-I note that this is FTTN only. The fibre-to-the-premises take-up rate appears to be between 78 and 81 per cent in the brownfield footprint. Are these figures consistent with your understanding? Mr Whitcomb: I would have to check specifically, but they don't sound far off.	11
184	NBN Co Limited	Nita Green	NBN Co - Executive Bonuses	Senator GREEN: Per person-wow. And then there are about 200 executives in NBN who have salaries over $300,000. They're sort of the next tier of executive. Do you know how much of the $78 million of bonuses they received? Dr Switkowski: The number is available, but I do not know that. I'll take that on notice. Senator GREEN: We'll seek a breakdown of the rest of the bonuses on notice, as well. We'll send that through, just so we can move through these quickly.	13
185	NBN Co Limited	Nita Green	NBN Co - Communication between Minister and NBN	Senator GREEN: I have one last question. There were some media reports. It wasn't leaked information; the minister went out and told the media that his office communicated with NBN after the $78 million number was released, suggesting that he wanted to see constraints on salary increases and bonuses and that executives had been asked to inform the government of their plans for bonuses and other at-risk remuneration of employees. How did that conversation take place between either the office or the minister himself? Who did that conversation take place with? Why, if the government had said to you that they needed to know when bonuses were being paid, didn't you tell them? ...	15

				Senator GREEN: The first part of my question was: my office has communicated with NBN this morning, just to remind them of that. What was that? Was that an email, a letter, a conversation? How did you receive that reminder? Dr Switkowski: I think that would have been perhaps a call, perhaps an email. Senator GREEN: Please don't speculate, sir. We really need to know. Dr Switkowski: Truthfully, my interest is in managing the process. I tend not to keep track of every conversation that I might be having around NBN with various important stakeholders. Senator Hume: Perhaps I can take that one on notice. Senator GREEN: Yes, I think we did put it to the department previously. I think you may need to take that on notice to get back to the committee, because I've put the question to you. I want to know if it was a letter, an email or a phone call and who made the contact. Dr Switkowski: We will take it on notice.
186	NBN Co Limited	Anne Urquhart	NBN Co - Mapping Data	Senator URQUHART: Why is there such a significant gap in the household take-up rates between fibre and copper? Mr Rue : I can answer that. There are a couple of things. The take-up rate depends upon when a particular area was built. A lot of the fibre-to-the-premises part of the network was constructed many years ago, so it was past the 18-month disconnection date. That's only a small part. There are three cohorts of the community which have a lower take-up rate: the people from lower socioeconomic groups, renters and older Australians. Some of that is part of our consultation paper with the retailers that you were talking about earlier. Senator URQUHART: So the gap is basically around those— Mr Rue : A lot of it is around— Senator URQUHART: Can I just go back? Renters, older Australians and low socioeconomic groups are the three cohorts? Mr Rue : Correct. Basically there is a higher preponderance of that cohort of the community in the fibre-to-the-node areas. A large part of that is part of the basement part of the fibre-to-the node footprint. There tends to be more of that cohort in units. And renters— ... Senator URQUHART: Mr Rue, do you have mapping data on that from researchers' tests? Mr Rue: I believe we do. Senator URQUHART: Are you able to provide that to us? Mr Rue: We can see what we have. Senator URQUHART: So you do have it?	17

				Mr Rue: I'd have to check exactly what we have, but, once I've done that, I can see what can be provided to the committee, certainly.
187	NBN Co Limited	Anne Urquhart	NBN Co - Incremental Revenue Assumption	Senator URQUHART: Mr Knox, can you tell me what the incremental revenue assumption for each fibre user is? Give me a ballpark figure. Mr Knox: I'd have to come back to you on that one. Senator URQUHART: No idea? Mr Knox: I don't have that detail with me at the moment. Senator URQUHART: Is there anyone out there in listening land who can provide that? Mr Knox: We'll try, and see if we can get you an answer.	19
188	NBN Co Limited	Anne Urquhart	NBN Co - Speed-tier mix	Senator URQUHART: Okay. Mr Rue, would NBN Co be willing to table its assumptions about how the speed-tier mix is expected to evolve over the next four years? Mr Rue: Let me take that on notice, Senator.	19
189	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Allegations of breaches of contract	Senator PRATT:...Are you aware of the news around telco contractor BSA being accused of sham contracting? Have you signed an agreement with BSA? Ms Dyer : Yes, BSA have been for some time one of our delivery partners at various stages of the NBN, and I'm unaware of that. Senator PRATT: They're one of your contractors, but you are unaware that they have been accused of sham contracting. Surely, if you are the ones that have contracted them then you need to be able to hold your contractors to account for these practices and, yet, despite the fact that this has been in the news, you don't know about it. Are you not being straight or do you not care about issues of sham contracting within your workforce? Ms Dyer: Our contract governance model is very strict in terms of the way we engage with our delivery partners. There are certain provisions in our contracts— Senator PRATT: How can you say you're being strict when you've just said you don't know about the involvement of this company in a class action, that they are subject to a class action? ... Mr Rue: I can't, and nor can Kathrine, comment on them because BSA is a listed company. I don't think you're asking us to comment on BSA itself. What we do have are very clear contractual terms around the obligations of our contractors. Senator PRATT: Are BSA in breach of their contract terms? Mr Rue: The various delivery partners have very clear obligations to us in terms of how they manage their individual contractors. I don't know if you want to talk to it, Kathrine? Senator PRATT: Are they in breach of their contract terms? Have you looked? Ms Dyer: In terms of the contract that we have with BSA, it relates to timely payments to their workforce, to their contractors. We also have modern slavery provisions in there, so we have very well defined and clear parameters in the way that we engage with BSA, in our expectation of those for all sorts of things including, obviously, very strict health and	21

				safety protocols. We have a good governance model in place. Senator PRATT: Okay, so you have a good governance model. Mr Rue, how have you applied that good governance model to BSA, noting that they've had this allegation made against them? Mr Rue: Again, given that BSA is a listed company, I think we have to be careful how much we go into this. There are allegations made against BSA. We clearly will ensure that contractual arrangements between ourselves and any of our, in this case, delivery partners, are met. When Kathrine talks about 'governance', there are very clear meetings at all levels between ourselves and, in this case, delivery partners, to ensure multiple things are done, from health and safety reporting through to for them to pay their contractors on time et cetera. We manage that at a governance level. I'm not aware of any breach of contract. Senator PRATT: You're not aware of any breach of contract? So you're not aware of an existence of sham contracting in this case? Mr Rue: I'm aware of allegations. Senator PRATT: Have you looked, because of those allegations, specifically at these contracts? You've just said you've got robust due diligence. I would think, on the basis of an allegation like this, you would at least have a look. Mr Rue: Let us take on notice exactly what we've done, just so that we don't mislead the Senate. Let us take that on notice or maybe somebody on the team can actually reply.
190	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Contractors	Mr Rue : We can direct the contractor to provide us with a statutory declaration that all subcontracts have been paid. Senator PRATT: Which of your contractors have you asked for that information from in a stat dec form? Mr Rue: We are not aware of any breach to trigger that. Senator PRATT: When have you ever asked any of your contractors to provide a stat dec to that effect? Mr Rue: I don't know. Do you know? Ms Dyer: I would have to take that on notice. Mr Rue: We can take that on notice.	22
191	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Contract management	Senator PRATT: What did you do in response to the allegations in the media in making inquiries to BSA about their obligations under your own contracts? Ms Dyer : We have strict contract management procedure through our procurement team and through our industry engagement team. I would need to check with them— Senator PRATT: Specifically, once you became aware of these allegations in the media, did you take any extra action? Did you trigger anything that was outside your overall oversight, which is business as usual?	23

				Ms Dyer: I would need to check that and come back to you. Senator PRATT: I would be grateful if you're able to do that this morning.
192	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Contractor Firms	Senator PRATT: Can you please take on notice-or if you've got any information now on-the number of 'Pty Ltd' contractor firms engaged at present, as at 30 June in each of the preceding years and over the life of the NBN build? Mr Rue: Sorry, I didn't understand the question. Senator PRATT: You can take it on notice. We're looking for the number of contractors that you've had engaged. Mr Rue: That we directly engage with? Senator PRATT: Yes, that's right. Mr Rue: We can do that. Senator PRATT: I could put the wording on notice, if you like. Mr Rue: Certainly.	26
193	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Number of Redundancies	Senator PRATT: We'll see, I guess. Shine Lawyers are recruiting participants for a class action, so we'll see if the experience of workers employed by BSA matches up with your purported confidence in them. I want to ask about redundancies within the field workforce engaged directly or indirectly by NBN. There seems to be quite a substantial number. Ms Dyer: With the completion of the initial build, this was very well-known in relation to-we had a very large project and we were at scale for a very long time. Again, that is something we were very transparent about at 30 June last year-that our construction volumes would drop off quite rapidly. In relation to your specific question about field staff, I would say that, by and large, the majority of field staff have transferred into operations. Some of those staff didn't have all of the skill sets required to go from a construction type activity to an operations activity. We had very open and transparent conversations with our staff in relation to that. And some people had joined for a project; they joined to construct the NBN, and they wanted to move on. Senator PRATT: What is the number of redundancies and how do you report them? You can take that on notice if you need to. I'm interested in your data around redundancies- Mr Rue: In the field force? Senator PRATT: Yes, in the field workforce engaged directly or indirectly by NBN.	27
194	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Audit Procedures	Senator PRATT: Can I ask for copies of your audit procedures-specifically, any processes you've got in writing that deal with alleged underpayments. Could you please take on notice whether you can provide any correspondence, file notes and communications with the company, and file notes and correspondence in relation to that. Mr Rue: We'll take that on notice.	27
195	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Skilled migration	Senator PRATT: Are you aware of the number of skilled migration visa holders engaged directly or indirectly by NBN or its field workforce?	28

				Mr Rue: Across the whole company or, again, in the field force? Senator PRATT: Both-well, across the field force. Mr Rue: Skilled migration across the field force-we'll have to take that on notice. It wouldn't be large-if at all.
196	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Contractors' terms of employment	Senator PRATT: It's my understanding that prime contracts stipulate that a worker can't switch to another prime. It seems like you'd be stuck between a rock and a hard place when it comes to this work-is that the case? Ms Dyer: No. I see quite commonly that subcontractors work for multiple prime contractors, so I don't see evidence of that occurring. Senator PRATT: What about an individual worker? Ms Dyer: Again, on individual circumstances, I couldn't comment, but- Senator PRATT: If you can take on notice that you'll have a look at your prime contracts and down that train to make sure that that's the case- Ms Dyer: We can certainly ask the question. ... Senator PRATT: Have you audited any recent contracts and found any issues in this regard? Ms Dyer: In relation to- Senator PRATT: Workers not being able to switch to another company. Ms Dyer: Again, our audit compliance framework is ongoing. But, in relation to that issue, we would look at the broader obligation, which is that they are complying with employment law and law. Senator PRATT: If a worker is restricted from moving to another company then there's no competitive labour there; labour has no bargaining power, because, once they're signed up with one, they can't take their labour somewhere else. So, in the context of primes, can you take on notice, please, whether there is anything in workers' contracts or within their subcontracts that prevents them from moving companies? In addition, seeing as you have taken on notice to look at the issue of unpaid work taking place, I would be grateful if you could give us a formal answer to that question on notice. In turn I will try and get you as much information as I can about that allegation. To close on this matter, have you audited any recent contracts in relation to primes and found any of these issues inside their contracts? Ms Dyer: The audits that we conduct with our contractors focus on many different things. They focus on the compliance of our delivery partner to the obligations to NBN- Senator PRATT: So a contract that means someone can't switch from one prime to another wouldn't be in your contracts with that prime? Ms Dyer: No, it wouldn't. Senator PRATT: Are you able to look at their other contracts? Would it concern you if that	30, 31

				kind of behaviour was going on between primes so that it helps them to collude to fix prices and drive down their costs if they can control their own workers and prevent them from working from one company or another? Ms Dyer: What I see is, in fact, the opposite of that. It's just the way the contracting world works that subcontractors will work for two or three prime contractors. They often will work outside the industry as well. So it won't just- Senator PRATT: I understand that. We're talking about individual workers and those contracts as well. You can't switch as a worker from one contractor to another. Have a look at those issues, and I'll try and get some detail on that.
197	NBN Co Limited	Kimberley Kitching	NBN Co - Number of individual residential connections to the NBN in Victoria	Senator KITCHING: Thank you. Can I go to your question on notice 2766. This is despite the other problems we've had with questions on notice. I asked you how many individual residential connections there are to the NBN in Victoria? I know you might think your questions are better than my questions, but you responded to your own question, and your answer was, 'For the period financial year 2020-21 to date at 25 January 2021. I would like to know the full number of individual residential connections to the NBN in Victoria. I did not mention financial the year 2020-21. I don't know where that came from. Could you please take it on notice and respond to 2766 correctly. Mr Rue: I'm trying to follow- Senator KITCHING: As at 25 January 2021, how many individual residential connections are there to the NBN in Victoria? You responded, 'For the period financial year 2020-21 to date (25 January 2021) NBN Co Limited connected 4,126 million premises to the network.' I didn't ask you about the financial year. I asked you for the full number. Mr Rue: I think that is the full number. Let us take that on notice and see. If we didn't respond in the way you asked, I apologise. I think we tried to. Senator VAN: Senator Kitching, are you asking for over the period of history, rather than connecting in that financial year- Senator KITCHING: Senator Van, you don't need to help. I asked you for the full number. Mr Rue: So what you're asking is, as at 25 January 2021, how many premises in Victoria are connected to the NBN. Is that right? Senator KITCHING: Yes, as it states in the question. Mr Rue: Okay. Let us check if we've answered that properly or not. Senator KITCHING: Well, you haven't. You've given me 2020-21 financial year to date 25 January, because I put this in in January, and now we're at the end of March, but I'm happy to accept until 25 January as I don't want to complicate this anymore- Mr Rue: I think it's probably our language. I wish we had connected 1.4 million premises in seven months- Senator KITCHING: If you can confirm for me that the 1.14 million premises is the full number of residential connections in Victoria-	31-32

				Mr Rue: I would have thought it was, but we'll double check that now. We'll hopefully get back to you by quarter past 12.
198	NBN Co Limited	Kimberley Kitching	NBN Co - Number of technician attendances	Senator KITCHING: You've said, in response to question on notice 2766, that some people are receiving 10 attendances. I'm going to read you a bit from a very well-known broadcaster. I won't mention that person's name. The media organisation and him were both getting two connections in and it took 16 visits. Even if I split that, because there was one from the media organisation and one from the individual, I get eight. Do you really think that's adequate? Ms Dyer: Absolutely not. Senator KITCHING: It was extremely frustrating, not only for them but for their neighbours, because you also interfered with the copper in the whole street. Ms Dyer: That, absolutely, is extremely unusual. I would be more than happy to look into that example that you've given. Where we do find a customer requiring more than one appointment, what typically happens is the technician who visits to do the connection finds something unusual. Those unusual things can range from a broken lead-in to asbestos in the home et cetera. Senator KITCHING: I don't think there is any asbestos in the- Ms Dyer: But I agree with you that 16 is a lot. Senator KITCHING: They also found that down the street the copper had broken and someone had, helpfully, used sticky tape to put it back together. You can imagine the connectivity in the entire street was appalling. Ms Dyer: Absolutely.	32
199	NBN Co Limited	Kimberley Kitching	NBN Co - Multiple attendances	Senator KITCHING: I've got your response to question 2766. You've still got people getting 10 attendances to get a connection at a residential premise. I don't think that's- Ms Dyer: I don't have the response in front of me right here- Senator KITCHING: That's why you need Mr Singh here. Ms Dyer: Yes. They are absolutely in the minority but, regardless, they shouldn't happen. Again, if I conduct post-incident reviews on unusual things in operations, our truck roll program is one of the areas that I focus on, because that's obviously an area of improvement, particularly for our customers and how we can do things better. Again, it's very unusual for multiple trucks to be required to activate a customer. Mr Rue: Is this where you're referring to the two instances out of the 1.4 million? Senator KITCHING: The ten, but- Mr Rue: It's two out of 1.4 million, but it's two too many. Senator KITCHING: Ms Dyer has also said that most of your customers expect one visit. Even if I go to four attendances, you've got 1,585 people who required four attendances. Mr Rue: Yes. Senator KITCHING: Then you've got 7,616 residential premises that required three	32-33

				attendances. At two attendances, double the number Ms Dyer has given us, you've got 49,831 Australian families hoping for a residential connection and having to be home. It's disruptive. You've said that your expectation is one visit, but, from this chart, that's obviously not correct. In May budget estimates, maybe you could give me more data on whether that has improved. I think this is, year to date, to 25 January, so, by the time we get to May estimates, you'll have another couple of months. I would like you to take this on notice to see if this has improved. Ms Dyer: Sure. Could I add a couple of things to this. CHAIR: Please be very quick, Ms Dyer. We have 11 minutes remaining and two more questioners to go. Senator KITCHING: And I've got one more question. I want to cover off on some staff events which cost a lot of money. CHAIR: Very quickly. Ms Dyer: What I was quickly going to say that, whilst you may think it is a simple visit to go and activate a customer, there are many things that could be required in some very complex installations. There could be additional network shortfalls or no pit and pipes et cetera. I do agree with that. The second part of what I was going to say is in relation to the evolution of moving into an operational world. We have implemented a program internally that is absolutely looking at what we call truck roll efficiency and how we navigate and make sure that we've got the right skilled workforce in the right place to be able to perform the job. So it is doing prescoping of some of the work. It is making sure the right tech turns up and it's making sure we can complete the work on the day. But, by and large, the majority of our customers are having a good activation and assurance experience. But, again, I would be happy to come back and present on those numbers.
200	NBN Co Limited	Kimberley Kitching	NBN Co - All Staff Events in QoN 2386	Senator KITCHING: I'm looking at question on notice 2386 in relation to all staff events. The cost of the audiovisual equipment that was hired was $100,242. Mr Rue: I'm sorry, Senator, can you tell me- Senator KITCHING: It is question on notice 2386, in response, paragraph 12. You hired some audiovisual equipment for just over $100,000. That was in June 2019. In June 2020 you hired audiovisual equipment for $69,000. But I want the entire cost. You've given me the venue hire, which was half a million dollars. What I want to know is all of the costs. So, for 30 June 2019 to 30 June 2020, I want to know the entire, full cost of those events. You've given me bits and pieces, which isn't really what I asked for, again. If you could respond to that properly, that would be helpful. I'll pass to the chair. Mr Rue: We will do our best. Senator KITCHING: No, not 'do your best', Mr Rue. I'd like you to answer it. You must have the detail.	33

201	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Relief Measures for Residential Financial Hardship	Senator PRATT: Yes, thank you. How many household premises were assisted under the relief measures for residential financial hardship? Mr Rue: Again, we'll take that on notice. Senator PRATT: You don't have a general awareness of it now? It would seem like, if it were a good story, you'd want to tell it now. Mr Rue: I think it's fair to say that we had expected more businesses looking for relief and certainly more households. I think that's probably attributable to the various arrangements that were put in place to support people through the COVID period. What I would say though is that I would have wanted to have seen more education packages sold, and it's certainly something that Brad and I have talked about at length-how does NBN and the retail industry work together around a low-income package but also around supporting families who need to educate children? Senator PRATT: Okay. Mr Rue: This is important-it's important for me, anyway, Senator, so if you don't mind. It goes to more than the NBN broadband experience; it also goes to the particular equipment that people may have in homes, and also skill sets. And I do think it's something the industry needs to keep working on. Senator PRATT: Do you have an officer here who has the answers to the questions I have asked? Mr Rue: They're so detailed we'll have to take them on notice. Senator PRATT: I'm surprised at that. I would have thought you'd have had a story to tell in relation to that. In question on notice 330, NBN didn't answer the question about how many low-income families were connected under those measures. If I can ask you to revisit that. Mr Rue: Yes, sure. Senator PRATT: It does seem like you have an officer here who might have some data. Mr Rue: No, he's looking at the question on notice for me; that's all. What we said was as at 23 November. I think you're looking for an update-is that what you're saying? Senator PRATT: You have the answer to the question. We weren't happy with the answer; we didn't believe it adequately responded to our question. Can you tell us why you're right and we're not, if you think you've adequately answered it? Mr Rue: I think what we were asking is-we were waiting for the retailers to come back with all their claims, which we said we expected to be at the end of the program. So we clearly went to the end of the program in answering the question, and we answered as of 23 November- Senator PRATT: The program has now ended, so do you have that data now? Mr Rue: I would have thought we would, so let me take that on notice and we'll come back to you with the answer.	34

				Senator PRATT: Do you have the data with you now? Mr Rue: No. That's what you asked me earlier-it's detailed; we'll have to get back to you. Senator PRATT: It's not because you don't want to release the figure? Mr Rue: Not at all. We don't have it with us.
202	NBN Co Limited	Louise Pratt	NBN Co - Hardship Offer	Senator PRATT: Thank you; I'll be very swift. The $50 million in relief measures—COVID relief for residential financial hardship: has that expired or is it still running? Mr Rue : That has expired. Senator PRATT: The $50 million in support for small business to stay connected: has that wrapped up? Mr Rue : Yes, it has. Senator PRATT: The $50 million for low-income families? Mr Rue : Yes, it has, although we are consulting with the industry regarding one of the pricing consultations around our low-income product. Senator PRATT: To access those relief offers, RSPs were required to provide data to NBN about the number of end users accessing the assistance packages; that's right, isn't it? Mr Rue: Yes, I believe it is. Senator PRATT: How many businesses were assisted under the hardship offer? Mr Rue: We'll have to come back to you with the exact number. Senator PRATT: How many telehealth services were upgraded under their offer? Mr Rue: Again, can we take that on notice and respond to you.	34

224	NBN Co Limited	Anne Urquhart	NBN Co - Non response to QON: Revenue trajectory 2021 Corporate Plan	Regarding the non-response below [go to database QoN to see image] 1. NBNCo have not answered the question that was asked. Please answer the question. Also note the question is referring to assumptions about long-term ARPU growth, assumed within the 2021 Corporate Plan, beyond 2024. 2. NBNCo have previously given evidence to the Senate that the Corporate Plan assumes ARPU grows at 2.5 per cent beyond the Corporate Plan period. Does that remain the case in the 2021 Corporate Plan? I think what we're trying to get at is that there seems to be a disconnect with the two decision-making processes. Maybe if there were an interim process from the eSafety Commissioner that would then allow the Classification Board to make their decision? The way you're describing it—and it's fine if you need to take this on notice—is that once a decision is made by the eSafety Commissioner, something has to happen for that decision to be overruled. Could we find out how that works in practice, whether it is self-initiated by the material producer or if the Classification Board is going through all your decisions and considering which ones they want to review? Ms Inman Grant: Would it be helpful if Toby ran through a couple of salient cases? Mr Taylor : I'll have to take that on notice.	75
257	Special Broadcasting Service Corporation	Eric Abetz	SBS Mandarin radio	Senator ABETZ: If you could, together with an explanation as to why such a newsworthy matter would not be deemed appropriate to broadcast or communicate on that platform. Is it true that the SBS Mandarin executive producer's spouse was an unpaid cultural commentator on SBS Mandarin radio while being head of the Chinese government backed Confucius Institute in the New South Wales Department of Education? ... Senator ABETZ: Can you please provide us with the full details of how this conflict was managed? Mr Taylor: I'm very happy to do so.	75, 76
258	Special Broadcasting Service Corporation	Eric Abetz	Attendance at the Global Chinese Language Media Forum	Senator ABETZ: Thank you. Did the former head of group for SBS Mandarin and a former casual SBS producer attend the GCLMF multiple times? The GCLMF is the Global Chinese Language Media Forum. Mr Taylor : Again, Senator, I'm really happy to take that on notice and get back to you.	76

I would have thought it was of interest to you and a matter of extreme concern. Mr Taylor : I am very happy to take it on notice. If you wouldn't mind, I will provide a slightly broader answer. We take our editorial obligations very seriously. We have a series of protocols internally to manage the output of that editorial content, to declare conflicts where they exist and to ensure that all of our services in language, including English, irrespective of the community group, assiduously comply with our editorial policy. So I'm very happy to take these specific questions on notice. I want you to know that we treat these issues very seriously. Senator ABETZ: With respect, your last answer or second last answer did not indicate that. We do have a problem in Australia with foreign interference, especially from one particular player. I'm just wondering how seriously the SBS actually takes this matter given the cases I've raised. I look forward to the answers being provided on notice. Thank you, Chair.	76
