Division/Agency: DIV - Online Safety Media and Platforms

Topic: Basic Online Safety Expectations (BOSE)

Proof Hansard Page: Written (01 February 2022)

Mr Tim Watts MP asked:

1. The Basic Online Safety Expectations determination came into effect on 23 January 2022 at the same time as the Online Safety Act 2021 (Online Safety Act) commenced.
2. Has a report of the public consultations on the BOSE been provided to the Minister?
  - a. If yes, so this inquiry will not form part of that report?
3. Will a report on these consultations be made public? If not, why?
4. Why didn't the Department delay the commencement of the BOSE to ensure it is informed by the hearings and final report of this inquiry?

Answer:

2. Yes. The Department provided advice to the Minister for Communications, Urban Infrastructure, Cities and the Arts on issues raised in consultation on the on the draft Online Safety (Basic Online Safety Expectations) Determination (BOSE).
- 2a. The House Select Committee's Inquiry on Social Media and Online Safety did not form part of the Department's advice on the BOSE consultation as the Inquiry was not concluded.
3. Briefing to the Minister on consultation outcomes will not be made public. The final BOSE reflects the Government's response to the issues raised through consultation.
4. Timing of the commencement of the Online Safety (Basic Online Safety Expectations) Determination 2022 (BOSE) was a decision of Government made well before the Inquiry was established and was intended to provide industry with greater certainty about the implementation of the Act.

As the BOSE is a legislative instrument, it is at the discretion of the Minister to amend the BOSE. For example, the BOSE could be updated to reflect outcomes of this inquiry.

Topic: Dis/Misinformation

Proof Hansard Page: Written (01 February 2022)

Mr Tim Watts MP asked:

7. Your submission states:

“In June 2021, ACMA provided the Minister for Communications, Urban Infrastructure, Cities and the Arts with a report on the code development process, the adequacy of digital platforms’ measures and the broader impacts of misinformation in Australia. The Minister is considering this report.”

Why has it taken more than six months for the Minister to consider this report? Is misinformation and disinformation not a priority for the Department or the government?

8. Will this report be released before the election?

9. Will the government’s response to this report be implemented before the election?

Answer:

7. Combatting disinformation and misinformation is a priority for the Government. ACMA provided the Minister with a comprehensive report which has required careful consideration and analysis. The report does not just cover the voluntary code development process, but also the adequacy of digital platforms’ measures and the issues of disinformation, misinformation and news quality more generally in Australia. Since June 2021, the Department has sought additional advice and briefing from ACMA to further inform its analysis of the issues canvassed and advice to the Government. The Minister is currently considering the report.

8. The Minister is currently considering the report. A decision on the timing of the report’s release is a matter for the Government.

9. The Minister is currently considering the report. Decisions on further actions in response to the report are a matter for the Government.

Topic: Hate Speech

Proof Hansard Page: Written (01 February 2022)

Mr Tim Watts MP asked:

10. The Committee has heard from a number of witnesses who have been subject to group based abuse. They've described online hate speech or dehumanizing language against people that identify with a particular group – such as race, religion, sexuality – as gaping hole in the online safety framework.

In your submission you state:

“At the G20 Rome Summit in October 2021, leaders agreed to take forward work during Indonesia’s 2022 G20 presidency to improve internet safety and counter online abuse, hate speech, online violence and terrorism, recognising the responsibility of digital service providers.”

Given this, what is the Morrison Government doing to tackle online hate speech?

11. Why wasn't group based abuse covered in the Online Safety Act? Did the Department provide any advice on this?

Answer:

10. The Australian Government believes all people are entitled to respect, dignity and the opportunity to participate in society regardless of their personal attributes, and recognises that to enjoy human rights on an equal basis with others, people need to be able to do so free from discrimination. The Government has no tolerance for racism and there is no place for hate speech, including online.

Australia has a range of civil and criminal provisions in State, Territory and Commonwealth law that seek to prevent and address violence, abuse and discrimination based on race, including online hate speech and cyber-racism.

- The federal Racial Discrimination Act 197 prohibition of racial hatred includes online racial hatred.
- The Commonwealth Criminal Code contains a number of offences which may apply to online hate speech. In particular, Division 474 contains offences for people who use a carriage service to menace, harasses or causes offence, and for international service providers that fail to remove or refer abhorrent violent material. Division 80 of the Commonwealth Criminal Code contains offences for people who intentionally urge another person to use force or violence against another group or member of a group distinguished by race, religion, nationality, national or ethnic origin, or political opinion. Offences at Division 80 are not limited to conduct that occurs online.
- Under the Online Safety Act 2021, in determining whether material is ‘cyber-abuse material targeted at an Australian adult’, the Commissioner may consider the context in which the abuse occurs, for example whether a person has been targeted because of their cultural background, gender, sexual orientation, disability, mental health condition or family or domestic violence situations. The intention is also for the Commissioner to consider the ordinary meaning of ‘menacing’ and ‘harassing’.

These provisions aim to strike a balance between ensuring that Australians are protected from discrimination and vilification and enabling traditional rights and freedoms such as the right to freedom of speech.

11. The Department provided advice to Government about the scope of the Online Safety Act 2021 (the Act) and on feedback received during the consultation period for the exposure draft to the Online Safety Bill. This advice included consideration of whether groups and dehumanisation material would be captured under the Act.

Topic: Online harms coordination mechanisms

Proof Hansard Page: 26 (28 January 2022)

Mr Tim Watts MP asked:

Mr WATTS: This committee's heard extensive complaints during this inquiry about the duplication and lack of coordination of policymaking with respect to online harms under the current government. Your submission highlights the number of coordinating mechanisms across government dealing with online harms, and I'd like to dig into those a little bit more. You cite the Agency Heads Committee on Online Safety, which brings together heads of agencies across the Commonwealth that are involved in or have an interest in online safety. How often has that committee met this year and last year? Who attended those meetings? Were all principals present? Which ministers were briefed about those meetings? I'm happy for you to take that on notice. I appreciate that that's a lot of minute taking. If you could come back to the committee on that I would be appreciative.

Mr Windeyer: Certainly.

Mr WATTS: Could you also do that for the eSafety Advisory Committee?

Mr Windeyer: Yes.

Ms Gannon: We can, Deputy Chair. The eSafety Commissioner and eSafety run that body. I'm sure they won't have any concerns with providing that information to you, but the department itself doesn't have that information.

Mr WATTS: Okay. I'm just asking about the mechanisms that you've highlighted in your submission.

Ms Gannon: Of course.

Mr WATTS: The Cyber Security and Safety Communication Working Group—can I have that one too?

Mr Windeyer: Yes. We can do it for all of them if that would be helpful.

Mr WATTS: Yes. For all the ones listed in your submission that would be great. What I'm trying to get to here is: who is actually in the room for these? Are these meetings informed or are the actual principals sitting around the desk coordinating things here?

Answer:

Details on the meeting dates in 2021 and 2022 and attendees for the online harms coordination mechanisms listed in the Department's submission are at Attachment A.

The Department does not brief the Minister for Communications, Urban Infrastructure, Cities and the Arts as a matter of course on these coordination mechanisms. Whether other Ministers are briefed on these meetings is a matter for those departments.

Topic: Social Media (Anti-Trolling) Bill 2021

Proof Hansard Page: 26 (28 January 2022)

Mr Tim Watts MP asked:

Mr WATTS: That's probably a timely point to ask about the Social Media (Anti-Trolling) Bill 2021. Can you confirm that this is an exposure draft and policy process owned by the Attorney-General's Department?

Mr Windeyer: Yes, that's correct.

Mr WATTS: When did you first become aware the government was considering this legislation?

Mr Windeyer: Late last year. Somewhere in the last quarter of last year.

Mr WATTS: Can you come back to me on notice with a specific time for when you were engaged on that bill.

Mr Windeyer: We can take that on notice, yes.

Answer:

DITRDC staff first time met with officers in the Attorney-General's Department to discuss the proposed defamation reforms on 18 October 2021.
