

To Whom it May Concern

At this point I'm 100% convinced as a citizen that you will not read this, nor care for the objects that anyone in the information technology community has to raise.

To put it directly - these bills are dangerous and represent a direct slide into authoritarian reigme practices in this country.

You are playing with fire, that not only are you woefully under informed to make decisions about, but you are actively rejecting all and any informed expert opinion. Nothing I say will convince you of this, so what is the point in giving you technical arguments at this point?

Previous submissions have shown huge public opposition to these bills, and yet you proceed with them anyway. The greatest technical minds of this country are pleading, begging you to just do anything and listen, and yet you persist with ignoring us and driving us into a path of control and subjugation.

You are petty humans, driven by fear, with no moral compass and no ethical spine.

This bill, in all forms must be repealed and rejected.

You make me ashamed to be Australian.

Sincerely,
