

NSW Aboriginal Land Council

Answer to written Question on Notice

The NSW Aboriginal Land Council agrees, in principle, that there is merit in establishing a new Basin-wide body to represent Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people's water interest in Basin Plan decision-making.

NSWALC reiterates that:

- Relevant Local Aboriginal Land Councils and Basin Nations must be consulted on the establishment of any proposed governance structures and must be involved in every stage of decision-making regarding this recommendation – including determining the structure and purpose of the new 'body', the scope and terms of reference, and the selection of representatives from across the Basin.
- Consultation and engagement with Aboriginal peoples must provide adequate notice, incorporate the principles of 'free, prior and informed consent' (FPIC), and actively seek Aboriginal people's views. Initiatives to engage and partner with Aboriginal peoples in the management of land, waters and climate must not be undertaken in isolation or on a 'one off' basis.
- Governments, including the Commonwealth, must also meet their commitments outlined in the National Agreement on Closing the Gap (the National Agreement), the Priority Reforms and socio-economic targets.
- A lack of genuine consultation and disregard for the principles of FPIC continues to perpetuate a history of marginalisation of Aboriginal people regarding water legislation and will result in further mistrust of the government.
- Existing consultations, committees and governance structures in NSW must be taken into account and duplication avoided where possible.
