

To the Senate Committee investigating Nicola Roxon's dangerous new Human Rights and Anti-Discrimination Bill 2012.

Being offended is VERY SUBJECTIVE for starters I am offended at you even considering legislation that as its measuring stick is NOT MEASURED ON OBJECTIVE GUIDELINES, so before it has even become law you have broken the proposed law.

Any legal guidelines must be OBJECTIVE an inch is an inch, it is not a metre a foot or any other measurement. If law is based on SUBJECTIVITY it is BAD LAW.

Good law is based on OBJECTIVITY.

Regards

David Drew