<sup>1</sup> The JobKeeper payment is made to employers by the ATO, not directly to employees. It is not a requirement of the JobKeeper Payment program for employers to report their employee demographics to the ATO prior to their organisation receiving JobKeeper payments. Therefore, the breakdown provided in this question is based on initial analysis that has been undertaken using other ATO data sources.

Age range	15-24	25-34	35-44	45-54	55-64	65-70	71-74	75+
Per cent of cohort	13.0%	22.6%	22.8%	21.2%	15.5%	3.5%	0.9%	0.5%

c. Location

Data analysed for employees and eligible business participants that were nominated by organisations as eligible for JobKeeper claims in the April fortnights 1 and/or 2 as at 18 June 2020, shows the following distribution among the States and Territories.<sup>1 above</sup>

6. Of those earning wages less than JobKeeper beforehand, would those people have been in receipt of or entitled to be in receipt of any other social security payment, and if so, how much?

Some individuals would have been eligible for income support payments depending on their personal circumstances. For example, a single person with no dependent children, not renting and earning less than $1,086.50 a fortnight may be eligible for the JobSeeker Payment. Payment amounts for eligible recipients will vary depending on the type of payment, the individual's income and assets and other personal characteristics, for example if they are a renter or have a partner.
