

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to express my concern about the current laws in Australia that allow the unsustainable farming of palm oil to continue unregulated and unnoticed to the majority.

I would like to support the legalisation of Palm Oil Labelling and support the enormous numbers of species that are losing their homes every minute to make way for an unsustainable process.

I am a proud Australian, I am one who takes pride in our concern for wildlife and our responsibility as a dominant species to protect those we put in danger in the name of progress. I am ashamed that given our educated culture we are allowing this devastation to go ahead in underdeveloped countries while we reap the benefits and turn a blind eye. I do not want to be responsible for the extinction of one of our closest relatives. Our ignorance is driving many amazing organisms to extinction before our very eyes.

Let us make the choice, legalise the labeling of palm oil!

Faithfully
