

Hi sir

Thanks for giving opportunity to express our feelings and to share our story of struggle in last few years.

I started my masters about four years ago and i completed successfully with paying AUD 26000.

In my last year of masters I get required IELTS score 6 bands in each module. I was feeling secure and I was eagerly waiting for completing my study. Before I complete my masters the state sponsorship closed for regional areas like PERTH. So I applied for TR and meanwhile my sister in law got PR. So I applied for PR on family sponsored visa about 1 year and 4 months ago. I am still waiting for decision of my application. I recently joined one company which is related to pharmaceutical research as I am Pharmacy qualified for which I am very happy. I feel proud for not working in very good company but also feel proud that I am indirectly helping Australian community by participating in new research and developments of medicines. To achieve all these not only I but my wife and my parents struggled a lot to help me for fees and related expenses.

But seeing these frequent changes in new capping system and things, I get afraid and can't concentrate on my work as well. I have very humble request to consider all factors before making some decisions (like capping of visa applications which already been made) which can destroys thousands of young people's dreams and almost ruin their career.

Thanks again to provide opportunity to express my feelings

Kind regards
