

My submission regarding the 2025 Federal Election is brief.

I voted on the day before polling ended.

I had to wait in line for around 10 – 15 minutes which was acceptable.

I had no issue with the process of voting.

I found the whole process straight forward.

I have heard of a shortage of ballot papers which is unacceptable.

I believe that this was due to the company contracted to organise the voting.

If this was yet another cost cutting exercise then, that is worrying, as everything these days is about “the bottom line.”

Surely we should have those responsible make better decisions as this did not reflect well on the Government. However in my area there was no such issue.
