

To whom may it concern,

I'm 28 years old and live here for 5 years and graduated pre-press which was included SOL list before. But the government change the law afterword my subject is excepted from the new list. During that time I've spent more than $150.000 for study and living in australia also my wife spent almost same as me but the goverment change their mind without think about ours/students situration. In my opinion the government sould not ignore the overseas whom contribute the time and money to develop the country. Goverment must change the law to suitable for someone who spend time and money for their live in Australia. Before goverment rejected visa who applied 1997 like this happen goverment have to compensate much money to them not just sorry because they help australian people eg. pay tax, work for people they want to live here so work here and pay tax, super or something for Australian. The people who choose this country afford higer school fees than local students and working hard for the contry not deserve just sorry and reject. They have they own dream in here and dedicate their time to develop this land should be threat fairly.

Regards.
