Select Committee on the Recent Allegations relating to Conditions and Circumstances at the Regional Processing Centre in Nauru

24 August 2015

Dear Committee,

URGENT: Freedom of information – failure of the Department of Immigration and Border Protection to adequately report to Comcare

The Australian Lawyers Alliance is a national association of lawyers, academics and other professionals dedicated to protecting and promoting justice, freedom and the rights of the individual.

We are writing to you to provide additional supplementary submissions of an urgent nature.

We are deeply concerned regarding information revealed to us under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth) and its relationship to this inquiry.

Summary

We have found that a large number of notifiable incidents that have occurred in the Nauru Regional Processing Centre ('Nauru RPC') and have been reported to the Committee by whistleblowers were not reported by the Department of Immigration and Border Protection ('DIBP') to Comcare as the national regulator of work, health and safety in FY13/14 and FY14/15. So too, issues identified by the Moss Review also do not appear to have been reported to Comcare.

Failure to report notifiable incidents to Comcare is an offence under the Work, Health and Safety Act 2011 (Cth) ('WHS Act'). The DIBP has noted that the WHS Act applies in offshore detention centres.

It also appears that systemic issues of risk have not been adequately identified, explored or resolved by the DIBP or by Comcare, particularly in relation to sexual harassment and sexual assault (including of children), physical assaults, mental health and public health (including disease control).

In the strongest possible terms, we believe that this is indicative of breaches of non-delegable duties of care of the Commonwealth that exist at both common law and at statute.<sup>i</sup>

A. Our freedom of information applications

We previously applied under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth) in order to obtain all incidents reported to Comcare by the DIBP in FY13/14 and provided a copy of this information to the Committee.

We subsequently applied for all incidents reported to Comcare by the DIBP in FY14/15. We annex a copy of this information to the Committee.

This information provides the incident date, brief description, suburb, state and assessment description. Further detail of each incident is available in incident reports, some of which we are seeking under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth). Further detail is also available from Comcare regarding any investigations that were undertaken.

In FY2013/2014, DIBP reported 13 incidents to Comcare regarding Nauru (449 incidents were reported in the Department's total activities). 3 of these related to clients, 9 related to workers and 1 was unidentified.

In FY2014/2015, DIBP reported 66 incidents to Comcare regarding Nauru (643 incidents were reported in the Department's total activities). 47 of these related to clients, 17 of these related to workers and 2 were unidentified.

Only 2 investigations were undertaken by Comcare in FY2014/2015: one in relation to a motor vehicle accident that caused a fatality of a member of the public; the other in relation to an incident in which a 'transferee attempted self-harm' (#577) which is ongoing. We are unaware as to how many investigations were undertaken in relation to incidents in FY2013/2014.

The table below summarises findings:

Incident	Worker		Client		Unidentified/member of public
	FY13/14	FY14/15	FY13/14	FY14/15	FY13/14	FY14/15
Dangerous incident (notifiable incident)	4	2	0	0	1	0
Serious injury or illness (notifiable incident)	1	4	0	5	0	1
Fatality	0	0	0	0	0	1
Not notifiable (did not result	3	5	3	31	0	0

Incident	Worker		Client		Unidentified/member of public
	FY13/14	FY14/15	FY13/14	FY14/15	FY13/14	FY14/15
from the conduct of the business or undertaking)
Not notifiable (no serious injury or illness or dangerous incident occurred)	1	6	0	11	0	0
Total incidents reported	9	17	3	47	1	2

Of the 31 incidents affecting asylum seekers reported in FY2014/2015 that were not notifiable and did not result from the conduct of the business or undertaking, 16 were self-harm incidents; 4 potentially constituted assaults; 1 incident involved a person being unconscious due to a panic attack; 1 incident involved a person being unresponsive; and 1 incident involved two clients with anxiety and asthma.

Over-reporting vs under-reporting

Generally, there appears to be over-reporting on the part of DIBP regarding very slight injuries that occur to workers, however serious injuries or incidents that occur around the same date affecting asylum seekers are not reported to Comcare.

For example, the following incidents occurred within two weeks of each other:

Incident reported to Comcare	Incident alleged to have occurred that was not reported to Comcare, reported to Senate inquiry by whistleblowers
13/3/2014 – Contractor walking down hill, slips and collapses – fractured ankle	6/3/2014 - Commonwealth contracted employee struck a 10 year old boy with special needs across the face 27/3/2014 – Commonwealth contracted employee struck a 4 year old girl in the back of the head with such force she was lifted off her feet

4/8/2014 – Sub-contractor injured leg outside of work hours in the community – fractured leg

August 2014 – Asylum seeker woman screaming that she had been sexually assaulted, and then fell face first in the dirt

B. The Work, Health and Safety Act applies

As we noted in our previous submission, the DIBP has acknowledged that the WHS Act applies in offshore detention centres.

In evidence to the Committee, the DIBP acknowledged in evidence that it is a person conducting a business or undertaking (PCBU) under the WHS Act:

(Senator Kim Carr) Q: 'Does the WHS Act apply to the Commonwealth as the 'person conducting a business or undertaking' (PCBU) that: is responsible for the health and safety of workers and other persons at those workplaces (see section 19) and has management and control of those workplaces?

(Immigration and Border Protection Portfolio) A: Yes.<sup>iv</sup>

C. Failure to report by DIBP

Evidence before the inquiry has indicated that the Department has often been aware of incidents within hours of their occurrence.

Similarly, evidence given to the inquiry by representatives of Transfield indicates that incident reports have been provided to the DIBP:

Mr White: 'If an incident was reported to Save the Children and it was reported by one of our employees then an incident would also be raised by us in the reporting procedure and that incident would definitely go to the department.'

Senator Kim Carr: So the Australian government is officially notified?'

Mr White: That is my understanding.'<sup>v</sup>

The DIBP contract with Transfield identifies that the service provider must:

'...comply with, and ensure that its Personnel and subcontractors comply with WHS Law in the provision of the Services....

Immediately notify the Department of any notifiable incident as defined in the WHS law; and

Immediately notify the Department of any notifiable incident as defined in the WHS Law'.<sup>vi</sup>

Therefore, it appears that the DIBP has taken control of any responsibility to notify Comcare from its contractors such as Transfield.

However, many of the serious issues raised by the Moss Review and by the Senate inquiry appear to never have been reported by DIBP to Comcare.

We note that very few of the incidents that have been raised with this Committee have been reported to Comcare by DIBP.

Some of the most significant issues we have identified are that:

- No allegations of sexual assaults of any kind against detainees in Nauru have been reported to Comcare. (For example, specific incidents that have not been reported are the well-publicised November 2013 assault of an adolescent boy by a cleaner, and the May 2015 assault of a young woman, among many others).
- The allegation of a sexual assault of a worker was reported (#242, FY14/15) however was characterised as 'not notifiable – an incident occurred but no serious injury or illness or dangerous incident occurred'.
- No allegations of sexual harassment in Nauru have been reported to Comcare.
- Potentially only three of the incidents noted by Wilson Security in questions on notice to the committee were ever reported to Comcare.
- An investigation alleged to have been undertaken by Wilson Security into marijuana use in December 2014/January 2015 was not reported to Comcare.
- Following the announcement of the DIBP on 25 September 2014 that people on Nauru would not be eligible for temporary visas or resettlement in Australia, significant incidents occurred in the Nauru RPC, as reported to the Senate inquiry. 7 incidents were reported to Comcare over the next 5 days, however all of these were characterised as 'not notifiable' as they 'did not result from the conduct of the business or undertaking'. This was despite the obvious connection with the announcement on 25 September 2014. No investigation was undertaken by Comcare into the spike in incidents.

- While there have been many reports that indicate the appalling psychological health of people detained at Nauru RPC, it appears that no investigation has been undertaken into why there have been so many self-harm incidents. Similarly, many of these incidents have been characterised as not notifiable and characterised as 'not resulting from the conduct of the business or undertaking'.
- It also appears that chronic issues in relation to public health have not been reported to Comcare, for example, tuberculosis, typhoid, impetigo and potentially perhaps dengue and chikungunya disease if affecting asylum seekers.

We have assessed the majority of whistleblower submissions to this inquiry that were publicly available and have isolated in table format a list of specific incidents and allegations that are relevant to consider in terms of the safety and risks within the Nauru RPC, some of which may constitute notifiable incidents which were not reported to Comcare.

As a contrast, DIBP reports injuries that appear very minor when they occur in relation to workers in Nauru: for example, on 15/10/14, a worker on Nauru was carrying out a fitness test course when he felt sharp pain in the Achilles region (see incident no. 272).

Therefore, we believe it is pertinent to question, to what extent is the DIBP cherry-picking in the reporting of incidents occurring within detention centres to Comcare?

D. Wilson Security

Wilson Security reported to the Senate Committee (please note that there is cross-over in the incidents) approximately:

- 38 incidents of child abuse
- 25 incidents of sexual assault
- 11 Wilson Security employees or subcontractors disciplined or terminated.

Potentially only three of these may have been reported to Comcare by DIBP.

We have isolated in table format a list of all of the incidents reported by Wilson Security to the Senate inquiry, and noted which ones appear to have not been reported to Comcare.

E. Failure of Comcare to proactively investigate issues of risk and safety

We note that Comcare appears to have been inadequately notified regarding incidents that have been occurring within the Nauru RPC.

However, we emphasise that, on the information that has been provided to Comcare, Comcare appears to have failed to identify systemic issues of risk and safety within the Nauru RPC. These risks are in relation to both physical and psychological health and safety.

While DIBP has failed to adequately report to Comcare, so too, Comcare has failed in its very limited investigations of the Nauru RPC to identify issues of concern. This is an issue that we believe likely applies across the immigration detention network.

F. Public health concerns

It is clear from evidence to the Senate Committee that there are a number of cases of disease and serious illness that were not reported to Comcare, including impetigo, lice, typhoid, tuberculosis and potentially dengue fever and chikungunya disease. Some of cases involve children. The risk of such illnesses spreading in an environment such as the Nauru RPC is reasonably foreseeable as high.

For example, submission No. 80 to the Senate inquiry noted that an unaccompanied minor was diagnosed with tuberculosis (TB) after months of suffering and misdiagnosis by IHMS; many unaccompanied minors were later diagnosed with TB outside in the Nauru community. Save the Children Australia staff were also diagnosed with the disease after it was found out that the unaccompanied minor had it.<sup>vii</sup> While a worker testing positive to TB bacteria constituted a notifiable incident in West Perth in FY2013-2014,<sup>viii</sup> no other incidents of TB in the immigration detention network appear to have been reported to Comcare by DIBP.

Similarly, a nurse reported that she treated a baby with typhoid, potentially in December 2014.<sup>ix</sup> This was never reported to Comcare by DIBP.

Further, whistleblowers to the inquiry noted that a risk of dengue for families and children was increased via bins of fetid water which were situated for months outside of the baby camp.<sup>x</sup> This may have also increased the risk of chikungunya disease, which was contracted by a worker (#565, FY14/15).

G. Mental health

In FY2014/2015, of the 47 incidents reported by DIBP to Comcare regarding Nauru that related to asylum seekers, 27 of these (57% of incidents affecting asylum seekers) were in relation to self-harm. These is suggestion to the senate inquiry that the real statistics are much higher.

While there have been multiple reports of incidents that could indicate severe mental health deterioration in the Nauru RPC, such as a number of attempted suicides via drinking laundry detergent, these do not appear to have been examined proactively by the regulator.

Instead, many of the incidents that have been reported by DIBP to Comcare have been assessed by Comcare as 'not notifiable' as 'an incident occurred but it did not result from the conduct of the business or undertaking'.

The deleterious impact of arbitrary detention on asylum seekers has been well documented by medical practitioners.

The characterisation by Comcare of mental health issues in the Nauru RPC as 'not resulting from the conduct of the business or undertaking' we suggest are shallow and a failure to investigate systemic issues relevant to psychological health and risk.

H. Link to the actions of the Department in September 2014

Characterisations of incidents 'not resulting from the conduct of the business or undertaking' were made following 'messaging' employed by the DIBP on 25 September 2014, after which there were numerous self-harm incidents.

The Moss Review indicated that on 25 September 2014, asylum seekers at Nauru were advised that the then-Minister announced the re-introduction of temporary protection visas. However, transferees in Nauru would remain subject to regional processing arrangements and would not be eligible for a temporary protection visa and resettlement in Australia.<sup>xi</sup>

Submissions to the Senate inquiry indicated that following the Minister of Immigration's 'messaging' conveyed to detainees at Nauru RPC on 25 September 2014, protests occurred. The full scale of these protests do not appear to have been reported to Comcare. This included plans for mass suicides, and peaceful protests involving up to 300 people.

Some incidents were reported by DIBP to Comcare. (All of these incidents were characterised as 'not notifiable' and 'an incident occurred but it did not result from the conduct of the business or undertaking'.) The reporting did not identify that the actions taken by individuals at the centre was linked to the communication of information by the Department.

Incidents that were reported included:

- #210 - 25/9/2014 – Client ingested laundry powder – medivaced off island. (Submission No. 83 confirms that this was a teenage girl at [185]).
- #216 – 26/9/2014 – Client ingested laundry powder – transported by ambulance to IHMS.

- #217 – 26/9/2014 – Client ingested laundry powder – transported by ambulance to IHMS.
- # 220 – 27/9/2014 – Clients became physically abusive towards staff – no injuries
- #225 – 28/9/2014 – Two clients ingested laundry powder – transported by ambulance to IHMS (Submission No. 83 appears to suggest these may have been women at [187]).
- #231 – 30/9/2014 – Client found with cable ties around neck, spouse reaction was unresponsive
- #232 – 30/9/2014 – Client hit himself in the head with guitar – head injury.

However, this failed to identify the full scale of the issue. Submission No. 83 to the inquiry said that:

- 26/9/2014 – There was a large protest that had occurred until late at night on 25/9/2014, including involving six unaccompanied minors who self harmed together using razors [184].
- 28/9/2014 – 7 males had stitched their lips together, including 3 minors [187].
- 28/9/2014 – Approximately 300 people had attended a protest the night before from 9pm to 11pm [187].
- 28/9/2014 – A man alleged that there are plans for mass suicide [192], this would involve driving star pickets from the fences through their chests.
- 29/9/2014 – Protest again occurred the night before involving approximately 270 people [200].
- 29/9/2014 – Client had beaten his head against the fence until he bled significantly [202].

Similarly, it is questionable as to whether the protest of 19 July 2013 was adequately reported to Comcare by DIBP.

Our summary of the incident (#8, FY13/14) includes ‘workers injured and facilities damages [sic] during protest in Nauru’. However, in answers to questions on notice, DIBP noted that:

‘On 19 July 2013, 162 transferees were taken into custody following the disturbance on Nauru. Court proceedings commenced in April 2014 and were concluded on 30 January 2015.’<sup>xii</sup>

We are unaware as to the contents of the full incident report that was provided to Comcare, and whether this adequately addressed risks and safety.

I. Corroborating evidence to the Senate inquiry

We also note that claims of torture via waterboarding have been raised to the Senate committee as well as assault of asylum seekers.

In Submission No. 95, Jon Nichols said that:

“Zipping” asylum seekers to metal beds – this process occurs by using “cable ties” to secure an asylum seeker to a metal bed with metal bars at the base, the mattress is first removed before securing the asylum seeker, the bed is thrown into the air and injury caused to the asylum seeker as the bed strikes the floor.<sup>xiii</sup>

We note that on 30 September 2014, a client was found with cable ties around neck, spouse reaction was unresponsive. This incident was reported to Comcare.

We believe that the Senate committee should seek immediate access to the incident report from 30 September 2014, as there is the potential that it could further support evidence given by Mr. Jon Nichols.

We submit that all incident reports provided to Comcare by DIBP in relation to Nauru may be of interest to the inquiry.

These incident reports would also directly acknowledge the level of the DIBP’s knowledge in specific instances.

J. Duty of care and evidence to the inquiry

We note that evidence to this inquiry has noted that the DIBP is a PCBU for the purposes of the WHS Act, which means that the DIBP has management and control over the Nauru RPC. The statutory duty of care under the Act is not able to be transferred to another person (s14).

We submit that this evidence that the DIBP is a PCBU for the purposes of the WHS Act is also relevant in the characterising of the duty of care obligations of the Commonwealth at common law.

The fact that a non-transferable duty exists at statute, despite offshore application, characterised by management and control, strengthens the position that a non-delegable duty of care exists at common law (which is characterised by a special element of control and unique vulnerability), despite offshore application.

In our submission to this inquiry, we previously highlighted case law in relation to a non-delegable duty of care, and our opinion that the Commonwealth has a non-delegable duty of care at common law to detainees, despite the fact that they are held in detention centres offshore in Nauru and Manus.

We previously elaborated upon the duty of care obligations we believe the DIBP owes to detainees under its management and control. Further evidence that indicates the level of control that DIBP has over the Nauru RPC:

- Evidence before the inquiry has indicated that DIBP has extensive managerial control over the activities in the Nauru RPC.
- DIBP has taken responsibility for reporting to Comcare but has clearly failed in its statutory obligation to notify.
- DIBP is also reported to within hours of each incident occurring.
- DIBP has control over much of the decision-making of the RPC. Decisions made regarding the removal of detainees and regarding funding of the RPC and future construction works are made by DIBP.
- The Moss Review identified the failure of the DIBP to 'ensure that care is taken', via its recommendations that the DIBP assume a greater role in management of the RPC.

Prison authorities must exercise reasonable care for the safety of prisoners during their detention

- We submit that the level of sexual harassment, assaults, intimidation and lack of accountability within Nauru RPC means that the DIBP cannot ensure that reasonable care is being taken for the safety of prisoners, especially when such threats originate from paid sub-contractors of the DIBP, as alleged to the Senate inquiry.

Duty to provide reasonable medical treatment

- Evidence before the Senate committee also appears to indicate that there have been breaches of the duty of care to provide reasonable medical treatment, for example, alleged delays in the provision of kidney treatment for a man in 2014, and the allegation that a young girl was flown back to Nauru from Australia following surgery against medical advice.
- The level of self-harm and attempted suicides also indicates a potential breach in the duty of care to provide reasonable medical treatment for psychological injury and mental disorders – for example, the allegation of a woman with psychosis in Nauru.

The level of control exercised by the DIBP in relation to the Nauru RPC is such that we believe it is an untenable position for the DIBP to submit that matters raised are a matter for the government of Nauru and the exercise of its sovereignty, and not of Australia.

K. The bigger picture

We believe that the issues that we have raised in relation to Nauru regarding under-reporting of incidents extends also to the RPC at Manus Island.

We also believe that the issues that we have raised could also extend to other detention centres. The information that we sought under freedom of information laws provides indications as to almost every immigration detention centre in Australia.

For example, in FY13/14, only one sexual assault was reported in the entirety of the Australian immigration detention network (#353, 8/5/2014). The brief description provided records that on Christmas Island:

‘Client was taken to hospital and treated as in-patient – UTI or sexual assault – Christmas Island.’

L. The need for a Royal Commission

We believe that the work of the current inquiry has been essential, but that the issue is so large in scope that it may be appropriate for the Committee to consider recommending that a Royal Commission examine in full Australia’s immigration detention network (including Nauru and Manus).

M. The questionable ability to discharge duty of care

On the evidence that we have collated, it appears that the Commonwealth has failed to discharge its statutory duty under the WHS Act to adequately report incidents and issues relating to physical and psychological health and safety of workers and other persons to the national regulator of Commonwealth workplaces.

We submit that it is therefore also highly questionable as to the ability of the Commonwealth to appropriately discharge its duty of care obligations at common law to detainees, including the duty to provide adequate medical care, and to ensure that reasonable care is taken in relation to the safety of detainees.

While the statutory duty is to notify, the common law duty extends beyond notification to adequately provide and ensure that care is taken.

Ongoing failure on the part of the Commonwealth to appropriately discharge its duty of care will undoubtedly lead to litigation for negligence. Such proceedings are already on foot in the Northern Territory Supreme Court regarding the Commonwealth’s treatment of a five year old child in Nauru.

Further correspondence

We are happy to elaborate upon the issues that we have raised. Please direct correspondence in this matter to Emily Mitchell, Legal and Policy Officer, Australian Lawyers Alliance, on _____ or at _____

Yours faithfully,

Greg Phelps

Analysis – Wilson Security Response to Questions on Notice

Comparison with information released to the Australian Lawyers Alliance under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth)

Overview

Wilson Security provided answers to questions taken on notice to the Senate inquiry on 2 June 2015.<sup>i</sup>

Wilson Security provided three tables, providing a summary of all incidents known to Wilson Security:

- an ‘assault on a minor’ or where there has been an allegation of child abuse (38 incidents);
- summary of incidents or allegations of sexual assault known to Wilson Security (25 incidents);
- summary of instances where a Wilson Security employee or subcontractor has been disciplined or terminated for their behaviour or performance at the Nauru RPC (11 incidents).

(Please note that some of these incidents fall into two categories.)

Under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth), the Australian Lawyers Alliance obtained brief descriptions of incidents reported to Comcare by the Department of Immigration and Border Protection (DIBP) over FY2013/2014 and FY2014/2015. The Australian Lawyers Alliance compared these incidents with those provided by Wilson Security in answers to questions taken on notice.

We found that the reporting of these incidents to Comcare was very low. This is concerning given that many of these incidents may have constituted notifiable incidents under the Work, Health and Safety Act 2011 (Cth).

- Of the 38 incidents constituting an ‘assault on a minor’ or allegation of child abuse, potentially only 2 incidents were reported to Comcare (5%).
- Of the 25 incidents or allegations of sexual assault known to Wilson Security, only one was reported, which involved a Wilson Security officer alleging that she had been sexually assaulted by a local officer (4%).
- None of the incidents of disciplining or terminating staff appear to have been reported to Comcare.

Our full findings are below.

Incidents reported to Comcare by the Department of Immigration and Border Protection regarding Nauru: FY2013/2014 and FY2014/2015

Overview

The Australian Lawyers Alliance applied under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth) for the release of all incidents reported to Comcare by the Department of Immigration and Border Protection (DIBP) in FY2013/2014 and FY2014/2015.

In total, we found that 449 incidents were reported in FY2013/2014, and 643 in FY2014/2015: a total of 1,092 incidents over two years.

We have isolated the incidents regarding Nauru below, of which there are 79 in total over two years, 50 of which relate to asylum seekers.

We found that in FY13/14, 13 incidents were reported to Comcare by DIBP, 3 of which related to asylum seekers, 9 related to workers and 1 was unidentified. In FY14/15, this increased to 66 incidents regarding Nauru, 47 of which related to asylum seekers, 17 related to workers and 2 were unidentified.

While only a brief description is provided, incident reports are available for every incident. We applied under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth) for the release of all incident reports over two years in Nauru and Manus. Our request was rejected as a 'practical refusal reason' exists under s24(1) of the Act: the 'work involved in processing the request would substantially and unreasonably divert the resources of Comcare from its other operations as specified in subsection 24AA(1)(a)(i) of the FOI Act. We are therefore seeking a more limited number of these incident reports.

A full listing of the incidents reported to Comcare by DIBP are below.

It is evident that there are large gaps between what has been reported to the Senate committee, and what has been reported to Comcare. It is also clear that there have also been few investigations conducted by Comcare of the Nauru RPC.

Whistleblower allegations, DIBP reporting to Comcare and knowledge of Wilson Security

Overview

In this document, we have listed a number of allegations and issues raised within a number of whistleblower submissions to the Senate committee, some of which are dated and record that incident reports were filed regarding the incidents.

We have compared the summaries of these incidents against the information released to the Australian Lawyers Alliance under the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Cth), and the summaries of incidents provided by Wilson Security to the Senate committee in questions taken on notice.

It is evident that there are real risks of violence, sexual assault, sexual harassment and risks to public health within the centre.

It is also evident that there is gross underreporting of incidents and there is an appalling lack of accountability and transparency in the running of the centre.

There are a large range of issues that relate to risk and safety that do not appear to have been appropriately managed or investigated by DIBP and could constitute offences.

There are a large range of issues that point to a potential breach of duty of care on the part of the Department.

Please note that due to the pressures of time, we have not drawn upon every submission to the inquiry, nor submissions that have been most recently released.

		3		Self-harm was brought on by prolonged trauma experienced in remaining in detention and extreme conditions.
		4	Frequent	Unaccompanied Minors self harmed in the form of slashing of wrists, inflicting cuts and attempted hanging
		4	Frequent	Children were showing trauma related behaviours such as sexualised behaviours, and there were concerns of sexual conduct between children
				Children were attacked by local citizens at an alarming rate. There was no mitigation or community development initiated by DIBP or the GoN
		4		There was a growing resentment in the community of refugees, with threats of violence made via an anonymous letter and verbal threats on various occasions.
		4		Unaccompanied minors (UAMs) were assaulted and went to hospital as a result.
		5 and 16		Inadequate fridges. There was at the start only 3 fridges to 30 men at Fly Camp. As more refugees were released fridges and kitchen space was not increased, and DIBP would often state that there is a fridge shortage on island. However, fridges and freezers were available from the local stores, but DIBP would refuse to purchase them based off price/budget concerns. Men were going without food and using their air conditioning units to cool meat as there was no space in the fridges.
		5		Refugees would complain that the hospital was substandard.

		6		The x-ray machine on island was often under maintenance and out of commission. This was the only form of testing as there were no CT scans or anything else.
		6		The dentist was substandard and refugees and asylum seekers were expected to undergo surgery without anaesthetics and in extremely poor hygiene standards.
		6		Some children were suicidal and parents had no supports in order for them to manage their children's needs. Many of the single adults with children contemplated suicide in order to leave their child unaccompanied so that they gain better supports.
		7		No air conditioning for asylum seeker families
		7		A 9 year old refugee, amongst other refugees, was placed in jail with their parents and other refugees, due to mass 'protests'.
		7		There were other children who attended and were placed in custody. These children were not charged, yet were placed into prison environments.
		8		A UAM was diagnosed with TB after months of suffering and misdiagnosis by IHMS. This UAM was kept in a confined tent with air-conditioning recycling the air in the tent shared with 9 other asylum seekers. Many UAMs were later diagnosed with TB outside in Nauru community due to this UAMs misdiagnosis regardless of SCAs advocacy for the UAM. SCA staff were also diagnosed with	N. TB is a serious illness and may have constituted a notifiable incident under the Act and was not reported to Comcare.

				the disease after it was found out he has it. There were hundreds of students and adult refugees that this young person came into contact with because he was told he only has the common flu, who were not tested after it was known that he has TB.
		8		There was a young person kept in OPC2 with 'Single Adult Males' who was abused in this camp for months, and was later determined to be a UAM and placed in the UAM camp.
		9		UAMs were often bullied at school and on the way to and from school, by both the students and local adults.
		9		Refugee children would often complain of being beaten or abused at school by the local Nauruan teachers.
				Failure to introduce swimming lessons led to a fatality. The OPC2 refugee XXXX who transitioned into the Settlement program at Fly Camp may have survived if he had been educated on the dangers and hazards of beach/open water swimming and taught to swim.
		10		The UAM camp often went without water. When requested, Transfield were very slow with response. Often the showers were not working and children were left without being able to shower for days.
		10		Often UAMs were unable to wear clean clothes as there was no water and they were not able to wash their clothes. This prevented them from going to school or participating in any activities as they stated they felt too ashamed to attend anything smelling like filth.

		11		DIBP workers in the refugee program would often refer to the refugees as ungrateful animals due to their protests. DIBP staff would maintain that they 'do not give in to terrorists', and negate the requests and demands from refugees of better conditions or more of a response.
		11		Water in fly camp was discoloured and refugees were reporting that this water was contaminated and complained of health issues relating to it. When Fly Camp refugees at meetings would pointedly offer for stakeholders to drink the water, no one would drink it. b. DIBP stated that they would test the water. However, they did not communicate the results of the water testing to refugees for months,

		12		Inadequate allowances for refugees
		13		Risk of dengue increased: There were bins in fetid water for months outside of the 'baby camp' (camp site 19) that increased risk of dengue being contracted by families and young children.	Risk, public health. N
		13		The 'baby camp' itself was hazardous to young children between 0 to 6 years, with inappropriate facilities available and hazardous conditions for young children. This was raised and not addressed as it still exists and has inappropriate services.	Risk N

		13		At least one client was known to have attempted suicide within the week of staff being stood down.
		14		While I was in Nauru, DIBP were denying allegations of sexual abuse, but at the same time we were receiving warnings to staff that it was not safe for female staff on the island to walk anywhere alone due to sexual harassment/attempted abductions of staff.	Relevant to consider in terms of the warnings or assistance given to young woman raped in the Nauruan community in May 2015.

				Teacher of 'Charlie' (primary school student, 7.y.o) – notified case worker of possible UTI (confirmed by case worker and IHMS – p8); behaviour deteriorated; never informed of details of assault including potential triggers in after-care. No details or confirmed communications about alleged perpetrator however time revealed that he was being kept &lt;100m from school in R.A.A
		5-9		Behaviour of Charlie post-allegation of sexual assault: emotional, social, intellectual and physical state deteriorated since alleged assault. Defiance towards parents has caused domestic violence, adding another layer of trauma. Cannot identify with positive emotions (shows signs of depression), shows signs of physical neglect (parents not coping with existing situation, underweight = concern prior to alleged assault). Destructive classroom 'episodes' when faced with frustrating tasks for 30-40mins, becomes non-verbal. Reclusive during play time, observed hiding in small places, ability to engage at age appropriate level with peers diminished. Play time held outside RPC1 &lt;100m from R.A.A, where alleged perpetrator held. Although he has since been moved, unsure whether this has been communicated to Charlie. Katherine believed this caused re-traumatisation and noted that most of Charlie's behavioural outbursts and 'episodes' can be traced to either before, during or after play time. Detached sense of justice, decreased ability to remain on task,
