

dear sir and madam

with solar and wind energy are now well developed, we do not need to have nuclear power, having one less problem of considering how to dispose the nuclear waste one day.

the government should invest on solar power, since we have vast unused land in the middle of the country, covered with sun, by using solar energy, we might be also able to address our desertification problem as well.

thanks for the consideration.

Miss. Jan Wu

