1	Senator KETTER: You said that 'Sky Muster has been used as a "dumping ground" for harder-to-install and more expensive connection areas'. Mrs Sparrow: We stand by that, probably much to some people's horror. We're finding that across Australia. The Adelaide Hills is another example where it was a little bit trickier to install fibre or fixed wireless because of terrain. To get everybody connected by 2020, NBN had no other choice but to push people onto satellite. Senator KETTER: I understand that, in the outskirts of Brisbane, there are satellite areas as well. Mrs Sparrow: We could probably direct you to areas all across Australia that are only 20 kays from a CBD. Senator KETTER: Can you tell me what areas of Brisbane? Mrs Sparrow: I'd have to look. We have quite an extensive database now. I know we've had quite a few people north of Brisbane, not very far out, wondering what's happening with NBN. They are actually mapped for Sky Muster.	71	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Wingara Drive Morayfield (Brett Morris Equine), plus numerous other houses in that street Morayfield is a town and suburb of Moreton Bay Region, Queensland, Australia.
