

RE Inquiry into the Energy Efficient Homes Package

My name is Eric Davidson and I live at [REDACTED].
I had the ceiling insulation installed in my home. The installer was [REDACTED].

The installer cracked three of my plaster ceilings while doing the job. I then refused to sign the work order form.

The owner came and threatened me with legal action and tried to bully me into signing the form.

I again refused and he left after threatening to take out a Caveat on my property. This he did but after a month it was rejected due to his faulty lodgement.

I never received a quote or an account and I have never signed a work order form. If the government has received a form with my signature on it the signature is a forgery. I am left with three cracked ceilings and no one to offer any help. I am a 71 yr old pensioner and do not look forward to the job of repair and paint.

I have previously complained to; Bundaberg News Mail; Old Office of Fair Trading; The office of Paul Neville the Member for Hinkler; The office of The Hon Peter Garrett Minister for the Environment; and the BSA.

When I complained to Energy Efficiency Household [eehousehold@environment.gov.au] I was given the Reference number [REDACTED].

I hope this helps with your inquiry and may help do some good.

Further to my email of Tuesday 17th November 2009 @8.59 pm.

I now have a legal bill for $275, to be paid for legal advice and a letter to be sent to [REDACTED] concerning the caveat taken on my property when I refused to sign the work order form for the installation of ceiling insulation, due to damage done to my ceilings.
