Dear Secretary,

I am a suffering patient of fourteen years after having transvaginal mesh implants. The Surgeon also used the mesh to repair a tear in the wall of the vagina.

I received no information of the mesh or of the side effects prior to my operation.

The result being I've never recovered. Pain is with you all the time, I have infections & discharge and I've had four erosions which put me in hospital. The Surgeon removed pieces of the mesh each time.

This mesh stopped me from enjoying life. You cannot have a relationship. I had to stop my activities and social life. This, has left me suffering with depression also.

It has effected my Daughters life also, apart from worrying about me, she does everything for me, like taking me to Doctor's, caring for me after each hospital stay and also my shopping and house work and I have Meals on Wheels delivered.

The infections are often I even know when I'll have it, I can feel the mesh when it moves it feels like a razor blade inside you.

And all I have wish that the doctor said if I start haemorrhaging to go straight to hospital.

I hope I get rid of this mesh one day
I'd be a very happy healthy 72 year old and have a normal life whats left of it for me.

I do hope this mesh has stopped been used, its torture,

transvaginal mesh implants should be banned.
