

for so long we have carried the torched past that for many the word past does not exist and so many are living it today as it was so long ago. Our own country disserted us and for the ones that come to our shores to join with us ,and turned a blind eye to the evilness that fell apoun so many thousands it is and should be justice for one ,one and all There is so many things that could be done to help up the ones that time has forgotten and not to put them in the to hard basket and let us not forget the solders that fought for this country and never returned there children ended in a hell with all of us shame
