

Hope the new government will relook at the immigration law .We come here to get our masters and higher certificates ,its never a two or more year course .

However,studying the australian standard back in fiji from the University Of the South Pacific with the dream of joining the Australian work force, but its seems Australia does not see the expertises we carry .

I have devoted all my time in improving hospitality and tourism in general and now that Australia is Focusing in its tourism sector why they don't want our expertises to work with them .

I have given my resume to be assessed in the Radisson resort ,and to the surprise they have seen that i have more and much high qualification then the general staffs working there .

With my kind regards to the new prime Minster,Hoping the best of Luck to her and hope she can alter the immigration law so then people like US can enter the Australian work force and work with Australia OUR COUNTRY and give tax to improve more .

have a nice day
