

The Chairman,
Senate Enquiry into the Water Act, 2007
Parliament House,
Canberra, ACT

Dear Sir,

In my opinion, the Water Act, 2007, is not in need of amendment. It is most important that the requirements of the rivers for sufficient flows to ensure healthy rivers be met. Overallocation of water for other purposes should be eliminated. If necessary, communities along the rivers should be helped to adjust to changed circumstances.

Yours faithfully,

(John S. Dentley)

C. C. Rob Oakeshott, M.P.