

To Whom It May Concern

I think it is very important to place palm oil labelling on all food and other things that have it in it. The general public have a right to know this and be able to make choices about what they are purchasing and contributing too.

I do not want to use products that have palm oil in it and are contributing to the end of the orang-utans and tigers in Indonesia. We must find a better way!

We deserve to know what we are purchasing.

cheers
