

I would like to voice my concern on the removal of excess franking credits that will affect a group of clients unfairly.

It's a very targeted change that doesn't affect everyone evenly.

Self-retirees not relying on any government pensions with $1mill in a SMSF that they retired and prepared for their retirement based on the rules and law at the time, now have their retirement income thrown upside down.

With the recent changes to taxation on balances above $1.6 million in a SMSF makes them much less affected by this new rule.

People with a SMSF balance of $700,000 probably get a small part pension , they are exempt

Industry superfunds aren't effected due to the pooled nature of their super.

This affects a lot of people who aren't wealthy but are self-sustainable in retirement which is what the government want everyone to be, but for this the perfect retiree for a government they are severely affected and targeted.

Very poor policy,

Regards,

Adam

Adam Shanahan | Director
Wealth Advice

The information contained in this email communication may be confidential. If you have received this email in error, please notify the sender by return email, delete this email and destroy any copy.

Unless expressly indicated otherwise, any advice contained in this email may have been prepared without taking into account your objectives, financial situation or needs (circumstances). Before acting on any advice in this email, JBWere Limited ABN 68 137 978 360 AFSL 341162 (JBWere) recommends that you consider whether it is appropriate for your circumstances. If this email contains reference to any financial products, JBWere recommends you consider the relevant Product Disclosure Statement or other disclosure document available from JBWere, before making any decisions regarding any products. This email and attachments may contain a restatement, summary or extract of a report prepared by UBS Securities Australia Limited (UBS) or a related body corporate (UBS Report). It may also contain a restatement, summary or extract of a report prepared by Moelis

Australia Securities Pty Limited (Moelis) or a related body corporate (Moelis Report). Please contact your JBWere adviser if you would like a copy of the UBS Report or Moelis Report.

If you do not wish to receive future communications of this nature, please forward this email to unsubscribe@jbwere.com with the word UNSUBSCRIBE in the subject line. If you require any further information regarding our SPAM policy, please email spam-officer@jbwere.com.