Registered Training Operators ceasing operation

Question

How many RTOs have ceased operation in 2020 to date? How many students were affected? How many of the closures can be attributed to Covid19?

Answer

As at 9 August 2020, the Australian Skills Quality Authority (ASQA) advise that:

- A total of 94 registered training organisations (RTOs) have closed during 2020, affecting an estimated 4421 students
 - Seven have self-identified as being attributed to COVID-19, affecting an estimated 2266 students
- Causes for RTO closure may be related to regulatory decisions, expiry, voluntary administration, liquidation, or other factors. Data regarding closures attributable to COVID-19, beyond self-identification, is not available.

Before an application for withdrawal of registration is approved by ASQA, the provider must advise that satisfactory arrangements are in place for students to complete the course, transfer to another provider or be refunded pre-paid fee amounts.
