

To Senate committee

Respected authorities,

I'm in Australia for last three years and always believe that it is the best place for me to live and study further on. I have done my best to be good Australian resident, sacrificed and given up a lot. Its not only me everyone of us have struggled to met the requirements and criteria for permanent residency on different basis. Now suddenly immigration department realise that those criteria's and requirements needed to be reviewed by the visa capping bill because those requirements are not good enough in future migration plan. And they want to suffer us for these recent implementations. We have done our best according to the guidelines and criteria given to us to met the eligibility for our GSM applications.

In brief I want to request you that these implementations and requirements must be for the upcoming applicants not for the previous one are who have applied already. I want to suggest that those all applicants (167,000) are highly skilled and familiar with Australian customs, traditions, regulations to be good residents because they spent time here and they all will be very helpful to serve the country and for the future of the country.

Thank you

Your sincere.
