High-level summary of (hopefully bipartisan) government expectations regarding elements in the NBN 10-Year Development Plan

Processes of Development and Review of Development Plan and Statement of Expectations

In this concept, the two are closely linked through the high-level summary of Expectations and the more detailed Development Plan.

In the first instance an iterative process could be adopted of an initial guiding Statement of Expectations, a responding NBN 10-Year Development Plan, and a concluding agreement on both documents.

In practice NBN Co would still produce a three-year Corporate or Operational Plan – and through that process propose any suggested adjustments to the NBN 10-Year Development Plan and consequently the Statement of Expectations.

The Department of Communications is seen to be the appropriate agency to engage with NBN Co in the development and agreement of the NBN 10-Year Development Plan and its review over time. It may need to establish a higher profile and increased capacity for this task.
