

To All Involved

The debate on the disposal of radioactive waste needs to be transparent, and the public informed about the pros and cons of burying radioactive waste anywhere, let alone on on remote land owned by First Australians ! Obviously this waste needs to be placed near centres of nuclear expertise and infrastructure.

After open and transparent debate, and when every Australian is well informed a referendum should be held, so that all Australians can be involved in this extremely serious decision. This is not a decision to be made by one minister!

We must consider the safety of all the people of Australia now, and all future generations.

Please consider these requests from the ordinary Australians that you represent. This decision is important to us all!

Thank you
