

I am writing in the hope that the Truth in Labelling Bill will take effect particularly with the production of palm oil which leads to the loss of habitat for the Sumatran Tigers and the orang-utan in particular, which should have the right to exist in a habitat which is not at risk to them for a product that cannot be regarded as an “essential” to our livelihood.

When these beautiful creatures are lost they are gone from this planet and the enjoyment and wonder to see such creatures living in the wild, as they should have every reason to, we human beings are the losers and hopefully if the Government takes this vital step we will all be aware that we can do something valid and stop the production of palm oil.

Yours sincerely,
