

I oppose the use of NAPLAN data to create league tables. It could damage the reputation of a school.

The NAPLAN testing and data does nothing to assist a child's learning.

Children are more than the numbers listed on a test.

Most skills that are needed by adults are not found in the NAPLAN.

Teachers are already so busy teaching children that tests have become a cause of great stress.

I always withdrew my children from this type of testing as I thought it was not worthwhile.
